—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

BASEBALL observed that President Hoover was "wild in his pitch," throwing the ball that started Washington's baseball season.

Technicians said that throwing the medicine ball had "made the President a little strong on the wing." "Wing" is baseball language for "arm."

Intelligent baseball men will say to President Hoover, as the artist of old said to the ruler, annoyed at being excelled by him, "God forbid that you should know as much about this as I know." There is such a thing as knowing too much about baseball.

HENRY DE LA ESPRIELLA, now headed for the electric chair, admits killing his mother, but says, "I cannot remember killing my sister. I was too drunk."

IT WOULD be worse than useless to ask: "What was done about the individual that sold the whisky that caused the killing of two women?"

SENATOR McNARY has invented, for farm relief, one feature that will interest Europe's producers and capitalists in the United States.

He would give farmers exporting products a bounty amounting to half of the tariff charged on such products entering the United States.

ORGANIZED capital will supply money to pay that bounty, since it has most of the money and pays the greater part of the income taxes. Capital is accustomed to a profit from farmers. Handing them a bounty would seem strange.

PRIME MINISTER BALDWIN, worried about the next election, announces a "maternity benefit" and will pay a bonus to the mother each time a baby is born.

Thus the Tories become more radical than the Labor party. A bonus for babies, and a bounty for farmers. That seems to be taking agriculture and maternity too seriously.

JAPAN continues industriously rounding up the new crop of Asiatic "reds." Local newspapers are forbidden to print the fact that 300 students were locked up in recent raids.

JAPAN has worries more serious than any "red" problem, more serious even than earthquakes. Most important is the low price of silk. Silk worms cannot compete with machines that transform wood pulp into imitation silk. Working girls in Germany wear silk dresses costing less than $3.

FLORIDA state troops are ordered to fight the fruit fly, landed here from West Africa, nobody knows how. The fly has spread over only 72 square miles and in that area fruit will be destroyed with quicklime, trees sprayed to kill flies before they lay their eggs.

Florida sets a good example! When men use armies to fight against nature, instead of killing each other, civilization will begin.

NEW YORK CITY wants water from the Delaware River. New Jersey says, "We do not want that river depleted," and brings suit in the Supreme Court.

New York should take water from Lake Erie, which is 500 feet above Manhattan Island. That water could take care of cities along the aqueduct and supply power, as well as water, for New York.

But Canada would say, "You mustn't take water from Lake Erie." And big power gentlemen would say, "New York mustn't create its own power supply. That's our job."

THOUSANDS paid to see the opening game between the Yankees and the Red Sox. Fifty million Americans that know who the Yankees and the Red Sox are haven't the faintest idea who Pythagoras and Thales were.

They are just as happy, and Thales and Pythagoras don't care.

THE "derby sweep" is closed for this year. London's stock exchange sold 1,000,000 tickets at $5 each.

Somebody will win a first prize of $625,000, with $300,000, $150,000 and $100,000 prizes for others.

THAT is small gambling compared with Wall Street, a daily lottery of a hundred millions.

Unfortunately it costs more than $5 to go in. And thousands lose every dollar they have.

MANHATTAN ISLAND, heart of New York, has 1,820 grocery stores, 1,775 cigar stores. The cigar stores do well, the grocery stores not so well—except chain stores.

The Y. W. C. A. will find a moral in that.

MANSFIELD POLICE BILL SIGNED, GOVERNOR'S ACTION DENOUNCED

WEST END DEALER SLAIN

John L. Schmitt, 61, president of the Pittsburgh Lumber and Builders' Supply Company, sits today silent and morose in a cell in the West End Police Station.

Nelson E. Bell, 48, of Oakmont, secretary and treasurer of the company, died in the South Side Hospital as the result of a beating which crushed his skull.

The little office of the company at 3209 West Carson street, with a bloody stair banister spindle protruding, half burnt, from the stove, is locked up with the police on guard.

Held on the technical charge of killing his business associate, Schmitt has come to a tragic turning point in life which, police said, has suddenly become clouded with insanity.

ALONE IN OFFICE

Schmitt has lived in the West End for 52 years, a member of a highly respected family. He is unmarried and lived with his sister, Mary Schmitt, at 3101 West Carson street.

Schmitt and Bell were alone in the office this morning, police said.

Bell, who was admitted to the partnership in September, 1928, was engaged in tabulating accounts.

Walter Lyons, a Negro, found Bell lying on the floor unconscious. Beside the prostrate man, Lyons said, stood Schmitt silently contemplating the helpless figure.

Lyons called the police and when Motorcycle Patrolmen John A. Neary, Jr., and W. R. Sullivan responded they found Schmitt still gazing at his dying partner, they reported.

TELL OF MONEY ARGUMENT

"What's the trouble here?" demanded the police.

Schmitt shrugged his shoulders.

"We had difficulty about financial matters," he answered, the patrolmen reported.

A search of the premises revealed a blood-stained shovel. From charred embers of the office stove the detectives dragged a half-burnt spindle of a stair bannister. On the unburnt portion were imprints of blood.

Police said Schmitt's demeanor in his cell was that of a demented man. His sister told them her brother had been in ill health for more than a year and she feared that his mind had suddenly become unbalanced.

Congressmen Learn What Arise Means

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(AP.)—The word "arise" does not always mean "to get up on one's feet."

Two newly-elected representatives have learned as much in the House.

They were seated when the motion was put that "the committee do now arise."

It was adopted, and the pair arose.

They stood for a moment and then sat down with reddening faces as they saw that the motion was only part of the formula by which the House moves to the adjournment stage.

She's Ex-Champ Now by Ukase Of Husband

CHICAGO, April 19.—(AP.)—The boss of Beach Van Husen Warren's household is Beach Van Husen Warren.

He is the newly acquired husband of Helen Filkey, former American women's track champion and world's record holder in the hurdles.

One word from Mr. Warren and Mrs. Warren announced her retirement from athletics.

"It is his wish that I do not compete again," Helen smilingly explained, "so I'm quitting for good."

DOAK OPPOSES REDS

REDLAND FIELD, Cincinnati, April 19.—Bill Doak, former Pittsburgher, opposed Ray Kolp on the mound as the St. Louis Cardinals and Cincinnati Reds clashed in the final battle of their series here this afternoon.

The Cardinals scored two runs in the first, while the Reds came through with a run in the second.

The game in detail:

FIRST INNING

ST. LOUIS—Douthit singled past third. Haney forced Douthit, Kelly to Ford. Frisch doubled to left, Haney scoring. Bottomley singled to center, Frisch scoring. Hafey flied to Purdy. Holm flied to Purdy. Two runs, three hits.

SECOND INNING

ST. LOUIS—Ford's wild throw saved Gelbert. Wilson flied to Walker. Doak sacrificed, Kelly unassisted. Kolp tossed out Douthit. One error.

CINCINNATI—Walker walked. Allen forced Walker, Gelbert to Frisch. Pittenger singled over third. Ford forced Pittenger, Gelbert to Frisch, who then threw low to first, trying to complete a double play, Allen scoring and Ford stopping at first. Sukeforth forced Ford, Haney to Frisch. One run, one hit, one error.

THIRD INNING

ST. LOUIS—Haney lined to Purdy. Frisch singled to right. Bottomley hit into a double play, Kolp to Ford to Kelly. One hit.

FUND IS FOUND SHORT, CLERK OUSTED BY CITY

Facing a shortage, it is alleged, estimated at $9,000, Charles Scharf, 1012 Mirror street, bond clerk in the city treasurer's office, was suspended today, according to announcement by Treasurer Wallace Borland.

Borland in a letter to Scharf, confined in St. Francis Hospital with a leg injury, charges him with misappropriation of funds and being absent without leave.

Scharf handled receipts from assessments for street and sewer improvements. An investigation of his accounts was begun a week ago while he was off duty, Borland said. A taxpayer who went to the treasurer's office to protest because he had failed to receive a receipt after paying his assessment started the probe.

Confronted by Borland Monday, Scharf is alleged to have admitted a $900 shortage but said he would cover it. Auditors of the treasurer's office thus far have uncovered a shortage of $7,300, Borland said. City Controller H. O. Evans said his investigation indicated the shortage would reach $9,000. Scharf is bonded for $5,000.

Scharf has been employed in the treasurer's office for five years.

QUIZ WON'T SUMMON MELLON

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(AP.)—The Senate Judiciary Committee decided today not to call Secretary Mellon in connection with its inquiry into his right to hold office after it had received a statement from him that he had resigned all active connections before entering the Cabinet and that his only business interests today were those of a stockholder.

The committee adjourned, however, without taking final action on the resolution of Senator McKellar (Dem.), Tennessee, which questioned the right of Mr. Mellon to hold office because of an old statute forbidding the Secretary of the Treasury to be interested in trade or commerce.

Secretary Mellon volunteered his statement on the extent of his business interests in a letter to Senator Reed (Rep.), of Pennsylvania. Senator Reed laid it before the committee.

As a result Chairman Norris said the inquiry had narrowed down to whether a stockholder constituted an interested party in trade or commerce within the extent of the statute under consideration.

Adjournment was taken after a two-hour discussion to permit members to study the law on this point. Another meeting will be held next week.

Chairman Norris said the committee accepted the letter of Secretary Mellon to Senator Reed on his financial affairs as final.

OPINION FAVORS MELLON

An opinion by Attorney General Mitchell to President Hoover ruling that there is no question of the right of Secretary Mellon to continue in office was placed before the Senate Judiciary Committee today by Senator Reed.

How Mansfield's Bill And Musmanno's Differ

MUSMANNO	MANSFIELD
1—Coal and iron police are restricted to company property except in the performance of their duty in the guarding of payrolls in transit or transmission lines of any electric power company.	1—Policemen not restricted to confines of property, but are given the powers and prerogatives conferred upon police of first class cities and upon constables of the commonwealth.
2—Appointees must be citizens of the United States.	2—No provision is made as to citizenship other than applicant must be resident of state at least one year.
3—Persons arrested by coal and iron police must be taken before magistrates for commitment and keepers of jails must receive prisoners.	3—No provision is made for taking prisoners before magistrates for commitment.
4—Three persons must sign the application for coal and iron police appointment, but no more than one signer is permitted to be in the employ of the company.	4—Three persons must sign the application, but no provision is made as to their association with company or corporation seeking the appointment.
5—Applicants for police jobs not permitted to be employed in any public position under state, federal government or municipal government.	5—No provision made as to applicant holding public job. Under this bill applicant may be police officer in employ of commonwealth or municipality.

MUSMANNO MEASURE DEAD, INDIGNATION MEETING CALLED

Gov. John S. Fisher today signed the Mansfield bill, admitted "weak sister" of the coal and iron police regulation measures.

His action kills the Musmanno bill, championed by church, labor and civic leaders as the only remedy for outrages committed by privately paid and privately controlled police.

Within an hour after word had been received here of the governor's action, incensed leaders in the drive for effective coal and iron police legisaltion had planned to hold an indignation meeting late today. Other meetings will follow.

DODGE QUESTIONERS

The signing of the Metropolitan Plan charter and the vote machine bills by the governor excited no comment here, so high was the pitch of indignation at what is termed failure of the police reform program.

Almost before the ink was dry on his signature to the three bills Governor Fisher was reported en route to a Chesapeake Bay club,. His sudden departure forstalled efforts to obtain an explanation of his action.

Representative M. A. Musmanno, author of the bill bearing his name, was dumfounded when he learned in his office that his measure had been killed. He challenged the honesty of the governor who he said had given him to believe that the measure would not be signed until Saturday.

Fisher's Choice Of Coal Police Bill Is Scored

A wave of indignation swept Pittsburgh when word was received that Gov. Fisher had rejected the Musmanno bill for the regulation of coal and iron police and had signed the comparatively worthless Mansfield bill instead.

The Governor's good faith was openly called into question.

Unwilling to believe that Fisher had, as they put it, thus stultified himself, leaders in the fight for the Musmanno measure, on being convinced that the Governor had discarded it, fiercely challenged the honesty of his conduct.

MUSMANNO STUNNED

Musmanno was stunned by the news, for the Governor, he said, had asked for a brief on the bill only yesterday and given every reason to suppose that he would not act until it was forthcoming on Saturday.

Dean Percy G. Kammerer, of Trinity Cathedral, declared the Governor had chosen to perpetuate the very evil he had publicly condemned.

REPRESENTATIVE M. A. MUSMANNO—"I am considerably surprised to hear that the Governor has signed the Mansfield bill. When I called at the Governor's office to speak to him about the respective merits of the two measures before him I was

SCHOOL AFIRE, PUPILS SAFE

Led by nuns, 125 children of Holy Trinity Catholic Church School, Center avenue and Fullerton street, marched to safety through smoke-filled halls today when flames swept two basement rooms.

Directed by Sister Basilia, principal; Sister Cecelia and two other nuns, the children marched in fire drill formation from the school rooms on the second floor down the stairs to the front yard, then to another part of the building.

Firemen responding to an alarm sounded by Mrs. Mamie Hall, 1500 Center avenue, tore steel gratings from window fronts to get hose into the basement.

The fire originated in storage rooms which contained, among other things, 15 cases of candles. Assistant Fire Chief Frank Harris estimated the damage at $700.

Episcopal Bishop Refuses Pay Raise

BOSTON, April 19.—The Right Rev. Charles L. Slattery, Episcopal bishop of Massachusetts, has all the salary he wishes or needs. That is his reason for refusing a $2,000 increase.

Citizens Roused To Protest Mine Police Action

Every leader in the movement to curb alleged illegal practices by coal and iron police, who could be reached in a hurried telephone canvass, was summoned to a meeting late this afternoon in the cafeteria of the Downtown Y. M. C. A.

Direct and unqualified condemnation of Gov. Fisher for the killing of the Musmanno bill was predicted by C. E. Warne, member of the executive committee of the American Civil Liberties Union, who made hurried arrangements for the meeting.

The Musmanno bill had the support of Pittsburgh ministers, the Pittsburgh branch of the American Civil Liberties Union and numerous other interests.

The coal companies were generally regarded as favoring the weaker Mansfield measure, which failed to restrict the coal and iron police to property owned by the companies that employed them, a feature which was incorporated in the Musmanno bill.

The Musmanno bill was regarded as a cure for such tragedies as the killing of Miner John Barkoski, whose death has brought the indictment of three police of the Pittsburgh Coal Company on murder charges.

The Musmanno bill had passed the Senate without a dissenting vote.

The Mansfield bill had been voted on in the House with 148 for and 20 against.

Desperate efforts were made by the coal operators of Western Pennsylvania to pickle both bills in committee. Failing at this, they concentrated on persuading the Governor to sign the Mansfield bill.

BELLEVUE BACKS EARNED INCOME TAX CUT DRIVE

LEWIS' NEW JOB STIRS POLITICS

HARRISBURG, April 19.—(AP.)—The political situation in Pennsylvania yesterday became more complicated with confirmation of reports that Samuel S. Lewis, state treasurer, would become a special deputy auditor general after expiration of his term as treasurer, next May 7.

Thus Lewis, who was a thorn in the side of the administration through his opposition to increasing the gasoline tax, will have a key position in the reorganization of the state government under the new administrative and fiscal codes.

PROMINENT POSITION

Under the reorganization of the auditor general's department it will be charged with close supervision of the finances of all branches of the state's governmental administration.

The appointment is expected to be made soon after Charles A. Waters takes office as auditor general, to which office he was elected last November. Edward Martin, present auditor general, becomes state treasurer at that time.

Lewis, a former auditor general, is expected to have an important part in the reorganization of the auditor general's department and, according to political observers, will be in a position to keep himself before the public as a candidate for governor.

TOPIC FOR LEGISLATURE

The position is said to be much more to Lewis' liking than the secretaryship of the Revenue Department, in connection with which his name has frequently been mentioned.

As secretary of revenue Lewis would have been responsible to Gov. Fisher, but in this position he will be responsible only to Waters, a close friend and political associate. Both men are close politically to Joseph R. Grundy, whose connection with the anticipated appointment was a subject of much discussion among the legislators as they prepared to return to their homes.

SEIZED LIQUOR CAR RETURNED

A jug of moonshine in an automobile is not proof positive the liquor laws are being violated, Judge F. P. Schoonmaker ruled in Federal Court today in ordering a confiscated automobile returned to its owner, John Krizmanich, of 2900 Smallman street.

Prohibition agents seized the automobile in the Penn avenue district April 8 and reported finding a five-gallon can of whisky. Krizmanich, they told the court, was standing in front of a speakeasy at the time.

The court ruled the agents should have had a search warrant or more conclusive evidence of a probable law violation, and that they exceeded their authority in confiscating the car. The liquor, also confiscated, was ordered not used as evidence.

Saltzman Confirmed For Radio Board Post

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(AP.)—The Senate Interstate Commerce Committee ordered favorable reports today on the nominations of Maj. Gen. Charles McK. Saltzman, retired, to be a member of the Radio Commission for the fourth zone, and Oscar B. Colquitt, former governor of Texas, to be a member of the Railway Board of Mediation.

PITTSBURGHERS SCORE FISHER ON POLICE BILL

told by his secretary, Mr. Gorman, to prepare a brief. Yesterday, before leaving Harrisburg, I notified Mr. Gorman that the brief would be in the Governor's hands by Saturday, and naturally assumed that final action on either bill would be withheld until that time.

"I regret tremendously that all our efforts and labors should have ended in the executive approval of a bill that the sponsor himself declared did not meet the exigencies of the situation."

PERPETUATES EVIL

THE REV. DR. PERCY G. KAMMERER, Dean of Trinity Protestant Episcopal Cathedral—"I share the profound disappointment of all citizens who had placed their confidence in Gov. Fisher that he would sign the Musmanno bill. He has chosen to perpetuate the very evils of the coal and iron police that he himself publicly condemned."

WILLIAM L. NUNN, instructor in economics in the University of Pittsburgh and member of the executive committee of the Pittsburgh branch of the American Civil Liberties Union—"Gov. Fisher's action in rejecting the Musmanno bill and accepting the Mansfield bill is an insult to the people of the state and is a repudiation of democracy. The signing of the Mansfield bill is, of course, in line with the desire of coal operators, and hence shows again the Mellon-Grundy dominance of state politics. The leaders in the state, by flouting outraged public opinion, have clearly shown that the only answer is an independent political party by which this alliance of big business and politics may be broken up."

SEES NON-UNION MOVE

P. T. FAGAN, president of District No. 5, the United Mine Workers—"The Governor then has conformed with the wishes of the non-union interests of the different coal and steel companies in Pennsylvania, and the enemies of law and order. The Governor knows well that 90 per cent of the people of Pennsylvania are opposed to the coal and iron police and have voiced their sentiments that coal and iron police acts should be repealed."

"The mine workers and all fair minded citizens of Pennsylvania feel deeply disappointed and feel that they have been betrayed by Gov. Fisher. It has legalized the power of the coal and iron police more than they ever before enjoyed.

"On the other hand we are not surprised at the Governor's action because he is connected with non-union coal companies of Pennsylvania and has secured their mines in Indiana County the most drastic injunction that has ever been introduced in Pennsylvania or any other state in the Union." (Here Mr. Fagan referred to the Rossiter injunction.)

W. E. CHALMERS, executive member of the American Civil Liberties Union—"Gov. Fisher's action indicates that the news dispatches and editorials have been incorrect. The past Legislature was not dominated by the Governor, rather it appears that both the executive and legislative branches of the government are dominated by entrenched interests."

C. E. WARNE, executive committee, American Civil Liberties Union—"Gov. Fisher's action is almost unbelievable. While publicly urging the restriction of coal and iron police authority, his action in signing the Mansfield bill positively extends their jurisdiction. We may anticipate only a continuance of past outrages."

NOTIFY UNION HEAD

"Gov. Fisher, of Pennsylvania, has today signed the Mansfield bill, which gives coal and iron police greater power than ever known before. Bill gives private company-employed army right to patrol public highways. This is despite the public and newspaper agitation for curtailment of power of these police."

Guarding Germany, Says Dr. Schacht

NEW YORK, April 19.—(AP.)—Harris, Forbes & Co., New York investment bankers, announced that they have received a cable today from Dr. Kjalmar Schacht, chief German delegate at the reparations conference, explaining that his object has been to protect German credit. He is quoted as stating that as a business man he believes this could not be done were Germany to accept an annuity above 1,650,000,000 marks $396,000,000), as he believes this is the maximum amount Germany can pay as a political debt and still continue to fulfill commercial obligations.

Dynamite Blast Of 212,000 Lbs. Sets Record

NEGAUNEE, Mich., April 19.—(AP.)—The largest single ore-breaking dynamite blast ever exploded in the Lake Superior ore region was exploded in the Volunteer open pit near Palmer yesterday afternoon. It was estimated more than 600,000 tone of ore were broken by the charge, which weighed 212,000 pounds, or 106 tons. It was roughly estimated that the total cost of the blast was $110,000, which included powder and drilling.

BATTLE FACES METRO PLAN

The Metropolitan Plan still has formidable difficulties to overcome before it can become effective. All of Allegheny County will not be included in the city of Pittsburgh in next year's census, as the Metropolitan Plan contemplates, unless an imposing majority of the citizens of the county approve.

The next step is a special election to be held on June 25. The constitutional amendment adopted by the voters of Pennsylvania last November, under authority of which the charter came before the Legislature, provides as follows:

"If the majority of the electors voting thereon, in the county as a whole, and at least two-thirds of all the electors voting thereon in each of a majority of the cities, boroughs and townships thereof, vote in the affirmative, the act shall take effect for the whole county. If rejected, the said charter may be resubmitted to the electors in original, new or modified form, at any subsequent election until adopted."

GOOD BILL, SAYS MANSFIELD

Senator W. D. Mansfield, author of the coal and iron police bill signed today by Gov. Fisher, when told of the Governor's action, expressed surprise that the Musmanno bill had been passed by, but maintained there was merit in the Mansfield bill.

"I think my bill is a great improvement over the present law," said Senator Mansfield. 'I favored the Musmanno bill because it went further than my bill. Nevertheless my bill goes much further than the present law. It really is a step in the right direction."

Senator Mansfield said a member of the attorney general's office held the opinion that a constitutional question might be involved if a "dead line" for police were established as proposed, beyond the corporation's property.

Opera Star Declines Kansas Farm Offer

PARSONS, Kan., April 19.—(AP.)—Marion Talley has declined with thanks the offer from Harry A. Bryant, Parsons banker, of a 160-acre farm to which she might retire from the Metropolitan Opera stage. The offer was made on condition that Miss Talley live on the farm.

VOTE MACHINE BILL HARRIS TRIUMPH

HARRISBURG, April 19.—Gov. Fisher today attached his signature to the voting machine bill with a gold pen presented for the occasion by Senator Frank J. Harris, of Allegheny, who was in the Governor's office when the bill was signed. Senator Harris had sponsored the vote machine bill.

The new voting machine law was the only major election reform measure adopted by the Legislature, which adjourned yesterday. It was put in as an administration measure after some changes had been made in the draft to meet Gov. Fisher's recommendations. The Pennsylvania Elections Association indorsed the bill.

UP TO ELECTORS

Approval of the bill provides the enabling legislation to carry into effect the mandate of the electorate expressed last fall when a constitutional amendment to permit the use of voting machines in Pennsylvania was adopted at the polls. The actual installation of the machines now rests with the localities. The county will install the machines after a district votes favorably on the question.

Under the provisions of the bill any county, city, borough or township in the state can hold a referendum on the subject of installing voting machines this coming November. In the event the suggestion is rejected the subject can be voted on at any subsequent November election. The question comes on the ballot by petition of one per cent of the voters in any of the districts eligible to pass on the question.

USED AT ALL ELECTIONS

The machine is to be used at all elections once installed, the bill provides. Local authorities are given the option of providing a second machine for any district where the registered vote is between 600 and 800, but when the enrollment reaches the second figure another machine is mandatory.

Upon the insistance of Gov. Fisher the new act contains a strong assistance clause. The curtain of the machine is to remain open while the voter is receiving instruction in the use of the apparatus. The voter is given the option of selecting the person whom he desires to instruct him in the use of the machine.

14 Killed, 20 Injured In Chile Train Wreck

SANTIAGO, Chile, April 19.—(AP.)—Fourteen persons were killed and 20 injured in a railroad wreck between Iquique and Antofagasta late last night. The locomotive lost its wheels in some unexplained way and the cars piled into it and overturned. A relief train carrying physicians and Red Cross equipment was dispatched to aid the injured.

Northcliffe Brother Dies in London Home

LONDON, April 19.—(INS.)—Sir Hildebrand Aubrey Harmsworth, brother of the late Lord Northcliffe, died at his home today. He was the fifth son of the late Alfred Harmsworth and received his title in 1922. Like his famous brother, Lord Northcliffe, he was a newspaper publisher.

FAILURE OF WAR DEBT PARLEY KILLS EXPERT

PARIS, April 19.—(AP.)—The death of Lord Revelstoke, one of the most sincere workers of them all, cast an additional shadow of gloom over the experts' committee on reparations as it met today to report failure of its negotiations and the session was immediately adjourned until Monday as a mark of respect to him. Lord Revelstoke died at 7:30 a. m.

The experts felt the heated play of international passions in yesterday's session of Lord Revelstoke's sub-committee had been too much for him, and he had broken under the strain.

BREAKUP INEVITABLE

It was at this meeting the uncompromising attitude of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, German spokesman, set at naught the work of the conference and made its breakup inevitable.

Allied opinion had been embittered by the abrupt German action yesterday ending in complete breakdown of negotiations for settlement of Europe's colossal post-war debt problem. No course other than reversion to the Dawes plan, with subsequent toppling of budding peace structures and straining of every tie maintaining the European status quo, seemed possible.

Raymond Poincare, French premier, against whose heavy hand in the Ruhr Germans have repeatedly complained, is expected in a speech Monday before the general council of the Department of the Meuse to make plain France's attitude toward political problems raised by the Germans.

FRENCH PRESSURE SEEN

Several possible courses appeared for the future, with only one of them offering an alternative to continuation of the Dawes plan. This was that certain placatory elements in the German government would, recognizing the consequences to Germany of the breakdown, manage to obtain withdrawal of Dr. Schacht and his conferees and send another subcommittee to Paris to see what it could do. It was a dim prospect.

Escaped Monkey Makes Whoopee On Fast Train

RENO, Nev., April 19.—(AP.)—A monkey that escaped from a cage of 14 in a baggage car of fast mail train No. 9 of the Southern Pacific played tag with the crewmen and made "whoopee" at the rate of 60 miles an hour as the train sped through Eastern Nevada yesterday.

For 200 miles the monkey scampered over and under cars, screeching and making grimaces at the crewmen who chased it.

HELEN MORGAN QUITS 'RACKET'

NEW YORK, April 19.—Helen Morgan, actress and entertainer, acquitted by a federal jury of maintaining a common nuisance by the sale of liquor in a night club, is through with night clubs forever.

After hearing the verdict which ended her trial last night, she said:

"I don't want ever to think of it again. I have been through such a terrible day that I want to forget all about it. I am through with night clubs forever."

NEAR COLLAPSE AT VERDICT

She was pale and trembling when the jury came in at 9:30 after having been out four hours and 55 minutes. When she heard the verdict she seemed about to faint. She partly regained her composure, but began to weep softly and finally broke down and cried without restraint.

"They can't change their minds, can they?" she cried.

On receiving a reassuring answer, Helen wiped her eyes and recovered her composure. Then, impetuously, she thanked the jurors and as if that were not enough, kissed them one by one.

And today 12 good men and true, erstwhile jurors all, smiled reminiscently as they patted 12 left cheeks which, for a fleeting minute, were graciously and gratefully kissed by the starry-eyed Helen.

SECOND DEFEAT FOR U. S.

Her acquittal was the second defeat suffered by the government in two weeks in cases against Broadway night club hostesses. Last week Texas Guinan was found not guilty of maintaining a nuisance at the Salon Royale. In each case a special prosecutor came from Washington.

Miss Morgan did not testify. The only defense witness was her manager, Myron S. Neutham, who said she was only an employe of the club known as Helen Morgan's Summer Home and had a contract calling for a salary of $1,250 a week.

J. Arthur Adler, defense attorney, in arguing to the jury, assailed the large sums spent by prohibition agents at the club and asserted they had been out to get some one of prominence "whose name would appear on the front page."

Two of the three days of the trial were consumed by the testimony of two agents, who testified they had made seven visits to the club, during which they had purchased liquor.

They said, on one occasion, Miss Morgan had become intoxicated and gone to another night club with them, where she sat on the bar and tossed dollar bills to the entertainers. These, it was explained, later were turned back to the management.

MOVE WINS CITIZENS' SUPPORT

Citizens of Bellevue give almost unanimous indorsement to the movement launched by the Sun-Telegraph and other Hearst newspapers to reduce the tax on earned incomes.

Of Bellevue's 10,000 population, it is declared that more than 95 per cent of the heads of families are salaried persons or are dependent on professional fees or other earned income. In this situation, the people say, the Federal income tax affects a large proportion of the citizens.

BURGESS GIVES O. K.

"A direct tax should provide immediate improvement in our manner of living, increase our community facilities and improve our property," said W. J. Longmore, burgess of Bellevue. "The present manner of assessing the Federal income tax results in a heavy burden on all those dependent on earned incomes. With a lower tax they would be encouraged in thrift and would accumulate property which would be eligible to taxation in a manner that would not be a hardship because money paid for taxes would work out in such manner as to increase the value of the principal. The Sun-Telegraph movement has my cordial indorsement."

"The campaign to lighten the tax burdens on professional men, salaried people and wage earners has made a great number of friends for the Sun-Telegraph," said John W. Vickerman, publisher, president of the Bellevue Board of Trade and former representative in the Pennsylvania Legislature.

J. W. Vickerman.

"The people who work for a living have paid taxes on their incomes without a murmur because they regarded it as a patriotic duty."

He continued:

"Possibly they thought that they should be allowed to charge off bills as a result of sickness or accident or for other extraordinary causes, but they have paid loyally and without raising a voice against the objectionable features of the tax.

NO EMERGENCY

"The war is over and there is no longer any emergency necessitating burdensome taxation. The Hoover administration stands for economy and lower taxes. It is time to begin by lightening the burden of the wage earner."

Bellevue citizens are backing up their support of the lower income tax movement by signing petitions to be forwarded to Congress. The store of Louis Knell & Son, 511 Lincoln avenue, is headquarters for petition signing and these have been forwarded to the Sun-Telegraph regularly and sent on to Washington.

Professional baseball players are also in hearty accord with the Sun-Telegraph movement for the revision downward of the tax on earned incomes. The Sun-Telegraph staff writer, wiring from Chicago, states that first-string players, subs on the bench, the trainer and club physician—all in the Pirate squad—would welcome a reduction of income tax, since many of them feel it a hardship to pay the annual levy on their earnings.

Burleigh Grimes.

Paul Waner, star hitter of the club, made this observation:

"I feel that every baseball player has good use for all the money he can earn in this pastime. There are many boys with very moderate salaries who can ill afford to give as much as they now pay on their earned incomes."

"The Sun-Telegraph movement tax reduction on earned incomes will make a hit with every wage earner and salaried man," said Pitcher Burleigh Grimes.

Four Escape Fire In Rooming House

BROWNSVILLE, April 19.—Four persons were forced to flee yesterday, when fire, believed to be of incendiary origin, swept a large rooming house in West Brownsville, causing $2,500 damage. Martin Domansky and family escaped through a window. Two other families, those of Charles Hanna and Mike Dobney, were visiting with friends when the fire broke out.

WOOD-COAL SUBSTITUTE FOR GAS USED IN FRANCE

"The day is rapidly approaching when gasoline will be substituted by wood-coal as motor fuel in France," declared M. Charles Ziegler, president of the Physical Industrial Society of France, who arrived in Pittsburgh today with a party of more than 50 French industrial engineers for a tour of local industrial plants.

Dr. Ziegler disclosed that wood-coal already is being used extensively for motor fuel in France.

"Thousands of trucks are now using this cheap fuel instead of gasoline and exhaustive experiments are being made today with a view of adopting this type of motor propulsion for passenger automobiles," he explained.

He paid high tribute to Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of Carnegie Institute of Technology, for his efforts in encouraging international coal research through the past international conference on bituminous coal in Pittsburgh.

Several members of the party spoke with feeling of the recent death in Paris of Ambassador Myron T. Herrick.

"No foreign diplomat was ever loved as much by the French people as Mr. Herrick was," said M. Charles Marre, leader of the party.

He added that the French people were hopeful of seeing Gen. Pershing appointed as Herrick's successor.

"Few men know France better than Pershing. He would make an ideal envoy," he said.

TYRRELL'S WIFE DENIED FAREWELL AT JAIL DOOR

A last glimpse of her husband, before he is taken to the Western Penitentiary to serve a 10-year sentence for second-degree murder, today was denied Mrs. Fayette J. Tyrrell, wife of the lawyer-Sunday school teacher who shot Phillip Clark in the First Christian Church of Munhall, last May.

Faithful to her husband in his darkest hours, Mrs. Tyrrell waited outside the county jail for two hours, hoping that as her husband was moved to the Woods Run institution she would be able to exchange a word of sympathy.

But Sheriff Robert H. Braun cancelled his plans after a two-hour delay. Because hundreds gathered outside the jail to watch Tyrrell in his farewell to his wife, and because additional prisoners will be ready for removal to the penitentiary tomorrow, Braun postponed the transfer.

CROWD GATHERED AT COUNTY JAIL AWAITING TYRRELL'S REMOVAL

Because of crowds that gathered outside the county jail, Sheriff Braun today canceled plans to remove Fayette J. Tyrrell, Sunday School superintendent found guilty of shooting down Philip Clark in church, to begin serving his 10-year sentence at Western Penitentiary.

WHOOPEE M'GURK LAUGHS DIRTY LAUGH, MAY BE HERE

Mister Editor:

I see by the Sun-Telegraph where I'm the guy that's supposed to have done away with Dinty Moore and stolen Maggie's diamond necklace that Jiggs loaned to Dinty.

And wouldn't you like to know? Wouldn't you like to know where I am, too? It's been nine days now since I packed up my other collar and disappeared, and there's not a cop in the country smart enough to find me.

How I'm laughing at you! I'm laughing so much I can't find time to say what happened to Dinty, or where the necklace is.

I'll bet Jiggs is starving to death, with Dinty not handy to mix up some old-fashioned corn beef and cabbage. It'll do him good to go on diet—he's too fat anyhow.

I'd give all the diamonds in Pittsburgh if I could be around when Maggie gets back from Paris and asks Jiggs for the necklace. She'll get such a shock she'll forget all about wanting to warble in grand opera with that screech of a voice she owns.

And listen, Mister Editor, no more gossip from you on whether I'm in Pittsburgh or not. I'm just the kind of a guy that's brave enough to drop into your village and stroll rings around the whole police force. In fact I'll give you a little tip: Have Pete Walsh and the rest of your handsome coppers at the Pennsy Station early tomorrow morning—that's all I'll say about that.

Yours for honesty,
WHOOPEE M'GURK.

P. S.—Regards to all the leading jewelers.

Will Whoopee dare come to Pittsburgh? The odds are he will. In the meantime, follow developments with Bringing Up Father in the comic section and watch tomorrow's Sun-Telegraph.

Sun-Telegraph Encourages Savings Bank Depositors

To stimulate thrift, the Sun-Telegraph will deposit $25 to the credit of the first bank book in the following list, $20 to the credit of the second, $15 to the credit of the third, $10 each to the credit of the fourth and fifth, and $5 each to the credit of the others. If you hold one of these bank books, bring it to the Sun-Telegraph office, Gazette Square, and present it to Robert N. Laughlin, cashier.

Amount.	Name of Bank.	Book No.
$25	Union Savings Bank, School Account	329,467
$20	Exchange National Bank	3,551
$15	Western Savings & Deposit Bank	3,931
$10	Potter Title & Trust Company	8,127
$10	Third National Bank, Marine Account	3,488
$ 5	McGillick Savings & Trust Company	1,104
$ 5	Bridgeville Trust Company	7,072
$ 5	Sheraden Bank of Pittsburgh	6,233
$ 5	McKees Rocks Trust Company	16,248

The books designated may be presented during business hours any time within a week, but not later than 5 p. m. Friday, April 26.

THRIFT HABIT WINS $50 AWARD FOR SCHOOL BOY

If you came unexpectedly into possession of $50, what would you do with it?

Robert Louis Stevenson, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stevenson, 7612 Edgerton avenue, East End, has just experienced that good fortune, having been awarded $50 by the Sun-Telegraph as a reward for thrift. A check for the amount has been deposited to the credit of his bank book, School Account No. 209,108 in the Union Savings Bank. This is what he is going to do with the money:

ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON

First, he is going to contribute $10 towards the payment of doctor's bills and other expenses incurred recently when the family was quarantined for scarlet fever.

Then he is going to spend $5 for accesories for his bicycle and some other things that he needs.

He will leave $35 in the bank to draw interest.

This is submitted as a commendable course. The truly thrifty person is no miser. He does not hoard all the money he receives, but shares good fortune with others and spends wisely. He saves what remains after prudently attending to the things that are necessary for his well-being. Robert is doing all these things.

He is a fifth grade pupil in the Park Place School, and has had a bank account since he was in the first grade. He makes deposits regularly. Sometimes he deposits only a dime, but he is persistent—and that is the thing that counts towards accumulating riches.

Robert is one of hundreds to the credit of whose bank books deposits ranging from $50 to $5 have been made by the Sun-Telegraph to reward thrift and encourage others to save.

FANCIERS JAM WASHINGTON DOG SHOW

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 19.—With dogs of almost every breed on the bench, the Washington County Kennel Club brings its two-day show to a close here tonight. Dog fanciers from all over the tri-state district are exhibiting in this year's show, declared to be the biggest ever held here. Pittsburgh is well represented in the show.

Nearly 40 breeds are represented, from tiny Pekingese to massive Newfoundlands, St. Bernards and Great Danes. Shepherds, Chows and Pekingese, as usual, are in the majority, but there is a fair representation among other breeds also.

The judging began yesterday morning with the Foxhounds. English toy spaniels, toy black and tan terriers, Airedale terriers, Sealyham terriers, Scottish terriers, Eskimos and Samoyedes followed, the afternoon being taken up with beagles, poms, pekes, shepherds, Boston wire bull, smooth and Irish terriers.

Upwards of 300 dogs are entered in the show. Elizabeth McKee, of Fayetteville, N. Y., is superintendent, and C. B. Marshall, chairman, of the bench show committee.

MOTHERS PLAN OPEN HOUSE

The Mothers Club of Carrick will hold open house in the clubrooms, Spokane avenue, Wednesday afternoon. Cards will be played.

Mrs. P. H. Antiss is the chairman of hostesses, and Mrs. A. V. Riggs, the co-chairman. They will be assisted by Mrs. H. G. Griffith, Mrs. E. R. Blough, Mrs. George Wilson, Mrs. Albert Sexauer, Mrs. Hattie M. Smith, Mrs. Leo Hinger, Mrs. Emma Hoffman, Mrs. N. A. Rinne, Mrs. William Salter, Mrs. John Sobczak.

KEYES' AIDE TELLS INQUIRY AIMEE WAS AT LOVE NOOK

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 19.—(INS.)—Aimee Semple McPherson was again the center of interest today in the impeachment trial of Judge Carlos S. Hardy, following the sensational testimony of Joe Ryan, former deputy district attorney in Los Angeles under Asa Keyes.

Taking the stand late yesterday as a defense witness for Hardy, Ryan caused an audible gasp over the crowded courtroom, when he flatly stated that the noted woman evangelist and Kenneth G. Ormiston were the love-birds at the Carmel cottage.

His next jolt was the statement that District Attorney Keyes knew the identity of the couple at the time, but that he failed to present to the grand jury or other investigations the very witnesses who could have identified Mrs. McPherson and her radio man as occupants of the love cottage.

TELLS OF INQUIRY

First, the witness told of the investigation he made at Carmel for the district attorney; of securing witnesses who were positive the evangelist and Ormiston occupied the cottage, but who were never given a chance to tell their stories.

"Do you mean to tell us that you had material witnesses whom you did not submit to the grand jury?" asked Little.

"That's exactly what I mean. May I explain—I was not the district attorney. I was acting under the orders of District Attorney Asa Keyes."

Ryan said the 1926 grand jury made no real investigation of the Aimee affair, merely "going through the motions" of one.

CAN'T ASK QUESTION

The Senators, before whom Hardy is on trial, were itching to ask Ryan then just why Keyes had not presented the witnesses. But under the rules of law, Carnahan said Keyes' reasons for this omission were not material, and were consequently inadmissible unless it could be linked with Judge Hardy. And the witness denied that Judge Hardy played any part at all in those reasons that actuated Keyes in withholding the information from the jurors.

Swedish Society Buys Lindbergh Birthplace

DETROIT, Mich., April 19.—(INS.)—The Swedish engineering society of Detroit has bought the birthplace of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, 1120 West Forest avenue, and will occupy it as a club headquarters and preserve it as a memorial to the flier, it was announced today.

"Lindbergh is of the blood of old Sweden through his father," said Karl B. Parsons, chairman of the committee that negotiated the purchase, "and the suggestion that we purchase his birthplace was received with enthusiasm by members of the society."

BELLEVUE BANS CALLIOPE

Burgess W. J. Longmore, of Bellevue, has notified the management of the Academy Theater that its calliope will not be permitted to pass through that borough.

"If the city of Pittsburgh permits such disgraceful scenery, it will be no encouragement for you to attempt it in Bellevue," the burgess warned.

"I have given the police department instructions to order the driver to the police station during the next visit. You will have the pleasure of sending some one to take him out after the fine and costs have been collected."

DRY AGENTS NIP NEWEST TRICK

NEW YORK, April 19.—(AP.)—Customs agents seized 120 bottles of liquor on the liner Ile De France today as bootleggers were fishing for it from the roof of an adjoining pier.

Officials said that the method of landing the liquor, brought over by crew members without knowledge of ship's officers, was apparently the newest wrinkle.

The French line piers are between those of the Cunard and the White Star line. Usually one of these is vacant and bootleggers climb to the roof of the unoccupied pier, walking across to the pier where the incoming liner was docked, and let down a rope for crew members to fasten bags of liquor bottles to.

Fierce Battle Is On Along YangtzeKiang

SHANGHAI, April 19.—(AP.)—Fighting was in progress on both banks of the Yangtze Kiang today between Shasi and Ichang, Hupeh province.

Fifteen thousand troops of the Wuhan opposition were attacked from the east by Nationalist forces and from the west by loyal Szechuanese troops. Firing continued all last night around Ichang.

Pays for Funeral Of Wife, Weds; Now Bigamist

M'ALESTER, Okla., April 19.—(AP.)—Fred Smythe paid funeral expenses for his wife and, quite naturally, believed her dead. Because she wasn't he now has to go to prison for bigamy.

Smythe pleaded guilty yesterday and District Judge Harve L. Melton sentenced him to three months in jail. Evidence showed Smythe married the second time after he had forwarded money to relatives of his first wife to pay her funeral expenses. Shortly after the second marriage, however, the first wife appeared and swore out a warrant for Smythe's arrest.

Judge Melton explained a prison term was necessary under the law because Smythe had not waited seven years, when his wife would have been legally presumed dead.

MRS. F. I. GOSSER ASKS DIVORCE

Margaret Truby Gosser, of 2325 Brownsville road, today appeared before Judge Harry H. Rowand in Common Pleas Court and asked him to divorce her from Frank I. Gosser, well known member of the Allegheny County bar.

Mrs. Gosser testified that on July 3, 1913, when they were living in Bon Air, they quarreled over money matters and that Mr. Gosser left, saying he was not coming back. He never returned to her, according to her testimony. Mrs. Gosser says she never gave her husband any cause to leave her. She has been maintaining herself since the separation, out of her own income, having inherited an estate. The couple were married in 1890 and have two children. Mrs. Gosser asks for a divorce on the ground of desertion.

SCHOOL HOURS DISCUSSED

Seeking first-hand information to determine whether the present school day is too long, members of the Board of Education last night questioned principles of the city high schools.

No action was taken, the meeting being only a session of the committee on finance and administration. The principals were asked to attend the meeting so that the school board members might acquaint themselves with the principals' side of the argument.

Several parent associations in the city are protesting the school hours, claiming that they are too long. Teachers' groups also have favored the shortening of hours and at the last meeting of the school board, a teachers' committee presented its views.

The sale of the Ralston Public School to the Pennsylvania Railroad was discussed last night by members of the board and railroad officials. E. T. Whiter, vice president of the company, told the board that the railroad must have the school property for its improvements to the local terminal. No action was taken on the sale.

Man Who Reported 'Fox' Capture Killed

TWIN FALLS, Idaho, April 19.—(AP.)—Parker Branin, 26, associate editor of the Twin Falls Times, died yesterday from injuries received in an automobile accident. Branin was previously employed by the East Oregonian at Pendleton, Ore., and as correspondent of the Associated Press there gave the nation the first word of the capture of William Edward Hickman, "The Fox," kidnaper and slayer of Marion Parker in Los Angeles.

Midnight to Dawn Deb Dances Banned

NEW YORK, April 19.—(AP.)—Bachelors now must find some other excuse. Social leaders have decreed that debutante dances next season shall start at 10 p. m., and end by 3 a. m., instead of running from midnight to dawn. This, it is expected, will give eligible young men of affairs a chance to sleep.

U.S. RECOGNIZES JONES LAW'S WEAK SPOT

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(INS.)—Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt's instructions to United States district attorneys to be careful and discreet in seeking to send prohibition violators to prison for five years under the Jones act constitutes the first official admission Washington has made that it is probably going to be difficult to apply the drastic provisions of the act.

The prosecuting arm of the government, keenly cognizant of the great hue and cry that went up when it became known that it would be possible to send a hip-flask toter to jail for five years and fine him $10,000, has been studying the situation for some weeks.

Advice from district attorneys throughout the country has been sought. They were asked to report on their local conditions, the attitude of judges, whether they thought juries would convict under the Jones act, and similar questions designed to bring out a guiding chart for the formulation of a general policy.

Mrs. Willebrandt's instructions are the result of that survey.

"Only good strong cases involving commercialism" should be brought under the Jones section of the act, Mrs. Willebrandt advised them.

All other cases, involving having a pint on the hip, or a quart in the house, home brewers for home consumption, all these are to be prosecuted, if at all, under the old misdemeanor section of the act.

"Your discretion in these matters," said Mrs. Willebrandt's letters, "should be carefully exercised with a view to the best interests of justice and the creation in the public mind of a new confidence in the effectiveness of the new law as an enforcement measure."

Mrs. Willebrandt, who is to become the enforcement "czar" of prohibition, after the bureau is transferred from the Treasury to the Department of Justice, was actuated by three motives in advising district attorneys to "go easy."

Fear that universal application of the maximum penalties of the act will contribute materially to the unpopularity of prohibition.

Fear that juries would be reluctant to convict under it. A jury might not hesitate to convict a violator of a misdemeanor, involving usually a fine, but it might balk at convicting for a felony, involving a maximum of five years' imprisonment, $10,000 fine and loss of citizenship in any case.

Desire to win the first test of the Jones law before the United States Supreme Court.

This last season is considered by the prosecuting arm of the government to be fairly important.

Realizing that the first violator convicted under the Jones act and "given the limit" probably will carry the case to the Supreme Court of the United States for a test case, Mrs. Willebrandt wants to have that test made on a case that is as nearly fool-proof as possible. She doesn't want to go before the highest tribunal with a case that is not rock-ribbed from the government's point of view.

She realizes that the decision of the Supreme bench carries with it a moral and psychological influence difficult to underestimate. She wants that first decision to be for the government.

ELECTED D. A. R. OFFICERS

MARGARET B. BARNETT

Miss Barnett, Pittsburgh chapter, elected corresponding secretary of the D. A. R., in convention at Washington, D. C.

MRS. N. HOWLAND BROWN

Mrs. Brown, the state regent of Pennsylvania, elected vice president general in the national delegates' balloting.

D.A.R. 'FORGETS' BLACKLIST

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(AP.)—With a new president-general, Mrs. Lowell F. Hobart, of Cincinnati, pledged to keep them so busy carrying out established policies that everyone will "forget there ever" was a blacklist," the Daughters of the American Revolution were able today to give their attention to dedication of Constitution Hall, the $2,000,000 auditorium which their new administration hopes to complete.

Mrs. Hobart, who swept to victory in yesterday's election with a support that carried with her every candidate on her ticket, said immediately afterward that she would pursue the policies of her predecessors, Mrs. Alfred J. Brosseau, in every respect. She mentioned specifically the guarding of national defense, eliminating speakers who "do not love our country," and marking historic spots and highways for posterity.

Among the other officers elected were Miss Margaret B. Barnett, of the Pittsburgh Chapter, named corresponding secretary, and Mrs. N. Howland Brown, state regent of Pennsylvania, named vice president general.

The new president-general, who was the first president of the American Legion Auxiliary, personally is a believer in the extension of woman's activities beyond the home and in woman's political activity, she said; but she thinks that feminine extra-domestic endeavors should be a sideline to the main buisenss of home making.

Asked if her reference to the "blacklist" were an acknowledgement of its existence, Mrs. Hobart answered that it did not, "as far as we are concerned," and that, in fact, the only "blacklist" she ever saw was one she received from another organization.

Weather Conditions.

The high pressure area that stretched from Lake Superior to Florida yesterday morning moved very slowly eastward. This morning it covers most of the country east of the Mississippi, with its center over Ohio and West Virginia. It is attended by clear skies, generally, and moderately cold weather, with heavy to killing frost over Indiana, Ohio, Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Eastern Kentucky and Tennessee and Western Virginia and North Carolina.

AGED INDIAN STANDS OFF GAS BOMBS, 'ARMY' 7 HRS.

LOS ANGELES, April 19.—(AP.)—It took 15 deputy sheriffs, a company of firemen, tear gas bombs, several hundred gallons of water and an armored truck to dislodge John D'Avili, 70, Indian, and his wife, Angelita, 60, from their four-room shack here last night.

The operation required seven hours, ending only after D'Avili had run out of ammunition for his shotgun, 30-30 rifle and .45-caliber pistol.

Two deputies, armed with a warrant for their commitment to a psychopathic ward, were driven off by D'Avili in the afternoon. The deputies returned with two other deputies. They were warned not to harm the couple.

D'Avili, shouting in Spanish, "My house is my castle!" began to blaze away. The couple retreated to a trench when a tear gas bomb was thrown into the shack. When fire hose was brought into play they stuck to the place. Shortly before midnight the firing ceased. D'Avili signaled that he was out of ammunition and ready to surrender.

One deputy was wounded slightly.

Police Hold Man Who Fired Through Floor

Bernard Fay, 32, of 2230 Fifth avenue, arrested last night after he is alleged to have fired a bullet through the floor in a house at 4026 Beechwood boulevard, will be asked to explain his act in the Oakland Police Station today. Neighbors, attracted by the shooting, summoned police, who arrested Fay and seized the revolver.

2 IN GRANT ST. FIRE INJURED

A fireman was cut and a man suffered burns in a fire on the third floor of the rooming house of Mrs. Pearl Reynolds, 311 Grant street, last night. Fireman Thomas Weaver, of No. 30 Engine Company, was cut on the right hand by flying glass, and James Lanning, a roomer, was burned about the face and hands. Both were treated at Mercy Hospital.

The blaze occurred when a curtain ignited from a stove in the room, firemen said. Damage was estimated at $50.

WIFE TRADERS GO TO JAIL THOUGH FAMILIES STARVE

LINCOLN, Neb., April 19.—(AP.)—The Bennet (Neb.) wife traders—Otto Slade and Horace Reed—have been sentenced to 10 months in jail, despite the plea that their wives faced destitution if deprived of their husbands' support.

Judge Broady, in passing sentence late yesterday, cut two months from the maximum penalty of a year's imprisonment, because of the fact the men had pleaded guilty to statutory charges.

The men, who have been reconciled with their wives, told Judge Broady that their families are in want. Mrs. Slade recently appealed to the county commissioners for charity, and was refused. The women are now at their respective homes as wards of juvenile officers.

TECH INSTITUTE GETS $25,000

A $25,000 gift to the Carnegie Institute for its endowment fund for adding to its painting collection has been made by Emil Winters, president of the Workingmen's Savings Bank and Trust Company, it is disclosed in the Carnegie Magazine, issued today.

The gift is equal to $50,000, since the Carnegie Corporation of New York will match it with a like sum. This is the second gift from Mr. Winters. When the late Willis F. McCook gave $10,000 to the institute to be payable in $1,000 yearly instalments, provided nine other persons would contribute like sums, Mr. Winters was one of the contributors.

Dog That Bit Girl Ordered Kept Tied

Rosemarie Wolny, 4, of 25 Enon way, while playing in front of her home, yesterday, was bitten on the right leg by a dog said to be owned by Mrs. Bertha Carrick, 27 Enon way. The girl's wound was cauterized at South Side Hospital. Mrs. Carrick was notified by South Side police to keep the dog tied up.

Bad Weather Halts Bus Line Traffic

Patronage on the new Bellevue bus line is "fair" Thomas W. Noonan, general manager of the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company said today. The recent rainy weather has curtailed shopping trips by the women and has prevented a thorough try-out of the line, he said.

FORMER U.S. RESERVE HEAD SEES STOCK CRAZE WANING

CHICAGO, April 19.—(AP.)—W. P. G. Harding, former governor of the United States Federal Reserve Board, last night predicted a drop in the present unexampled mania for stock market speculation.

Paraphrasing from Lincoln, Mr. Harding said:

"The stock market may occupy the center the stage part of the time and have a less conspicuous place on the stage all of the time, but it cannot occupy the center of the stage all the time."

After forecasting a decline in speculative interest, Mr. Harding, now the governor of the Boston Federal Reserve Bank, declared that the reserve board was justified in demanding that there be small or no use of the Federal Reserve system's credit to finance speculators.

CITES SPREAD OF MANIA

The appetite for speculation, he told the Chicago and Cook County Bankers' Association, has spread to all classes people. "If this spirit should long continue without proper restraint, there may be disaster. But there are signs that the speculative fever is beginning to abate."

"Sooner or later," he predicted, and in my opinion sooner rather than later, the American people will lose much of their present interest in speculative transactions and will find other outlets for their thoughts, their energies and their capital."

Mr. Harding asserted that the Federal Reserve Board was reluctant to increase discount rates, fearing that such action would handicap business and not curb speculation. But, he added:

"GRAVE RESPONSIBILITY"

"The board feels that it has a grave responsibility in cases where there is evidence that member banks are maintaining speculative security loans with the aid of federal reserve credit. The board has stated that in its opinion the Federal Reserve Act does not contemplate the use of the resources of the Federal reserve banks for the creation or extension of speculative credit."

The Reserve Board desires Federal reserve banks to use all the arts of persuasion and, if necessary, to exert pressure upon member banks by calling such part of their demand and collateral loans as may be necessary, Mr. Harding said.

LIFE FORCE, CANCER CELL, EXPLAINED BY EXPERTS

PHILADELPHIA, April 19.—(AP.)—Two recent discoveries, one that death may be due to loss of minute quantities of electricity from the body, and the other that cancer cells grow no more rapidly than normal cells, were explained to the American Philosophical Society here today.

The electrical experiments were reported by Dr. George W. Crile, director of the Cleveland Clinic and the Cleveland Clinic Hospital. The cancer findings were from Dr. Alexis Carrel, of the Rockefeller institute, New York.

Dr. Crile discribed the vital force which is life, as "an electric strain or potential." Certain forms of life he was able to measure in terms of voltage. He took fruit juice, and by restoring its lost potential was able to cause in it some of the manifestations of the life of the original fruit.

On cancer Dr. Carrel, said:

"With the help of new techniques developed during the past years in my laboratories, it has become possible to define tissue cells not only by their shape and structure, as was done previously, but also by their functions."

PORT VUE ROAD RESTORED, R. R. TELLS COURT

Officials of the Pittsburgh, McKeesport and Youghiogheny Railroad have filed an answer to a rule granted by Judge Elder W. Marshall ordering them to show cause why they should not be held in contempt of court for alleged failure to restore the River road, Port Vue.

In the answer, the railroad officers declare that they have widened the road to a width greater than that demanded by the court, that they have lifted the tracks as directed, have built a slope wall, and have in all respects obeyed the court's mandate.

At the same time, the officials filed a counter equity proceeding requesting the court to enjoin Port Vue borough from filling in Still House Run to the detriment of the railroad company's property. The contempt proceedings had been brought against the railroad by officials of the borough.

The case will be aired in court April 23.

OPEN HOUSE AT DUQUESNE

Duquesne University will observe its second annual pharmacy night exhibition tonight from 7:30 to 11 o'clock. The general public will be permitted to visit the university buildings and to see how the modern pharmacist is trained to compound and dispense medicines. It is expected that about 1,500 persons will visit the university. Supplementing the exhibition the Drama School will present a playlet and the band will give a concert. During the concert the stage attraction from the Stanley Theater will be presented.

Washington GasWell Doubles Production

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 19.—Production at the gas well drilled in on the S. L. Carter heirs farm, near Old Concord, has leaped to 4,000,000 from 2,000,000 cubic feet daily following the shooting of the sand. The well, drilled by Charles Nuss and associates of this city, is the largest of five secured on the Carter farm.

More than three weeks after it was drilled in, the oil well of the Manufacturers' Light and Heat Company on the Hugh Day farm, near Prosperity, is making more than 150 barrels a day. Its production for the first day was 490 barrels. Several locations have been made in the district.

Only Twelve Days More!

Only 12 days remain before the close of the Hearst $25,000 temperance prize contest, which ends at midnight, Tuesday, April 30. Readers who expect to enter plans should remember the date, for no entries postmarked after the closing hour will be considered.

The nation's parents, educators, psychologists and sociologists are aroused over the increasingly evil effect of the attempt at absolute prohibition by mandate. Undermining of youthful morals and contempt for all law by a growing and powerful criminal class which is financed in banditry and drug-vending by bootleg profits, are only part of the appalling picture.

Every good American should try to win the capital award of $25,000 sponsored by William Randolph Hearst, or a lesser prize of $5,000 or $1,000, such as may be allotted by the seven distinguished judges. Read the rules.

LEADERS IN MILWAUKEE DENOUNCE VOLSTEAD ACT

Un-American, The law of a narrow-minded bigotry, Sumptuary. Contrary to the wishes of the people who love freedom.

These are some of the characterizations of the Volstead act made by prominent citizens of Wisconsin, where after a popular referendum the Legislature annulled recently the state enforcement act.

All these persons see an unmitigated failure in the attempt to enforce prohibition. Most of them feel that the law has been the cause of crime, immorality and disrespect for all law which is sweeping the country. To remedy the evils which they have seen and experienced, modification is prescribed. Following are interviews given at Milwaukee:

Charles C. Younggreen

Charles C. Youngreen, president of the International Advertising Association:

"Modification seems to be the only remedy for an ugly sore that has grown into the American organism. The people, I am sure, are looking for relief and they will welcome any plan that will show whether the intemperance of the Volstead act nor that of the open saloon.

"The greatest demonstration of the failure of prohibition is the inability of the government to enforce the law and the fact that it drives some of the most worthy people of the country into lawbreaking.

"The worth-while people of this country will welcome a law within which it is humanly possible to abide. A law providing for the proper control of light wines and beer, I feel, will give the people what they wish for.

"Graft, bloodshed and degeneration of respect for law have come from an attempt to enforce prohibition. The law cannot be enforced without bringing these evils. That is why the American people are looking for relief."

Alvin P. Kletzsch

Alvin P. Kletzsch, civic leader and chairman of the Milwaukee Auditorium board:

"Prohibition has been an absolute failure and has caused more heartaches than any law that has ever been enacted in the United States.

"However, with the Eighteenth amendment, there can be no modification and I cannot foresee getting all but 13 of these United States to vote a repeal. That is the problem with which any campaign of the liberal cause must cope. And it is a mountainous problem."

Bernard K. Burns

Bernard K. Burns, playwright:

"Prohibition has never been more than a law in this country. Enforcement, were it possible, would be immoral, because it is contrary to the wishes of the people, who value freedom and liberty as their lives.

"The public will welcome a change in the law. That the Wisconsin public wants a change was evident by the results of the recent referendum. The Hearst contest for temperance as a solution for prohibition will be welcomed wherever there are free and thinking people.

"Prohibition is not, and never will be, a success, because it is the attempt of a narrow-minded bigotry to force on other people what they do not want. These bigots presume to hear the voice of God in their pet fanaticism.

"Modification will bring the question of intemperance, where it is obnoxious, out into the open where it can be combated. Prohibition has driven the question into the darkness where fighting it means conflict with the worst criminal elements of the country.

"Perhaps the evil of prohibition, worse than all others, has been the tendency to break down respect for all law. With the law bringing such results, is it a wonder that there is a clamor from modification.?"

Jackson B. Kemper

Jackson B. Kemper, prominent attorney:

"Prohibition has been a failure because it is based on an erring theory.

"The Volstead act is a sumptuary form of legislation, the type of legislation which has never been successful. It is an attempt to make men morally perfect by statute. Practically it has proven itself the greatest kind of failure.

"As a practical proposition, I favor a modification of the law. With the evident failure of the present law, it would be at least worth trying.

"While prohibition in itself has been a failure and has caused a certain amount of disrespect for all law, I think that on that score it has received more blame than is deserved. Crime and license have been the aftermath of every war and it is unfair to attribute the whole blame to prohibition."

Eugene Wengert

Eugene Wengert, former district attorney:

"Prohibition has been an absolute failure in every respect. I am a firm believer that there is more drunkenness now than there ever was before the passing of the Volstead act.

"But more than that, prohibition has gone further than any one other influence to cause an undermining of law, order and decency in this country.

"It is an experience as old as the human race that a law cannot be enforced when a majority of the people think that the act which it prohibits is not wrong."

7 Rules for $25,000 Temperance Contest

The purpose of the contest is to obtain a practicable plan, as a substitute for prohibition, which will secure better actual temperance conditions, which will be more easily possible of enforcement by state and Federal authorities, which will offer less encouragement to crime and tend less to debauch the public service, and which will not so outrage and violate the fundamental rights and personal liberties of American citizens.

The rules and conditions of the contest are simple and are as follows:

1—Every person is entitled to enter the contest, but no one person may submit more than one plan.

2—The practicable plan proposed as a substitute for prohibition must be set forth in an article containing not more than 1,000 words.

3—This contest will close April 30, 1929, and no plan which has not been mailed and postmarked on or before that date will be considered.

4—The articles submitted in the contest will be judged by a committee of eminent Americans, the personnel of the committee to be announced at a later date.

5—The full prize of $25,000 will be awarded to the contestant submitting the best plan as a practical temperance substitute for prohibition.

6 — If other plans not awarded the first prize shall still be considered worthy of some compensation by the committee, a second prize of $5,000 and other prizes of $1,000 each may be awarded.

7 — Articles submitting a plan to be considered in this contest may be sent to the temperance contest committee, care of the editor of any one of the following Hearst newspapers: Albany Times-Union, Atlanta Georgian, Baltimore News, Boston Evening American, Chicago Herald and Examiner, Detroit Times, Los Angeles Examiner, New York American, Omaha Bee-News, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Rochester Journal, San Antonio Light, San Francisco Examiner, Syracuse Journal, Seattle Post - Intelligencer, Washington Herald, Wisconsin News (Milwaukee).

Unfurred Coats

12 Styles for Women
8 Styles for Misses

$25

A wonderful showing for those who know how fashionable the unfurred coat is this season . . . Planned with the idea that this simpler type of garment, to be effective, must be of fine fabric, be smartly styled, and be extraordinarily well tailored.

Its announcement is good news if one is wanting a single coat, and tidings of great joy if one is "ensemble conscious" and intends to have two or three coats to wear with different types of frocks.

For Women:

Street coats of fine cloths, and velveteen lined and trimmed with taffeta. Afternoon coats of black faille, ottoman silk and celanese moire. Tailored coats of oxford cloth.

For Misses:

Of black silk crepe; of fine, dull cloth; of kashmir fabrics with collars and cuffs of stitched taffeta, or with velvet trimmings; of twill in blue oxford or black oxford.

Misses' New Dress-Ensembles

Smart Street Models—
Sheer Afternoon Ones—

$25

Typical of the unusualness of the street models is the Canton crepe ensemble pictured, which comes in black-and-white and in sulphur-with-brown. The dress, with its polka dot top, has long sleeves.

Other street models have figured or polka dot frocks and plain dark coats, some of the coats being of the smart collarless type.

Striking among the sheer afternoon ones is a model of georgette crepe, the tier-cape coat and skirt in navy blue; the blouse a carnival print in blue, red and green on white.

Youthful Shoes

Youth requires the rounded toe, unusual design and the colorful in footwear — and finds these specifications met with in Horne footwear at $10.

The sandal model with myriad perforated checks (illustrated right) may be had in patent or sun-tan kid. The two-toned sandal at left may be chosen in patent with mat kid, sun-tan with beige, or llama brown with sun-tan; and with Cuban or high heel.

BRITON IN PLEA TO DEFER NAVY ARMS ACTION

GENEVA, April 19.—(AP.)—The long-awaited expression of the British delegation to the preparatory commission on disarmament was made by Lord Cushendun today at a meeting badgered by reports that the Soviet delegation would bolt the conference. It was principally a plea to consider land and air armaments and leave naval armaments until later.

The speech was made in the course of discussion of the German proposal for publicity for armaments, and followed rejection of the broad Soviet proposals for extensive partial disarmament. M. Litvinoff, the Russian spokesman, protested vigorously at the treatment given his project, but was told by the usually calm chairman, Jonkheer Loudon, of Holland: "Put it in writing."

Lord Cushendun's address was regarded as a bid not to discuss naval matters until after the British general elections, May 30. He urged the commission to "get on with the land and air problems." He had no doubt, he said, that naval difficulties would be overcome, but "while they are obstructing progress there is no reason why we should not seek an agreement in other branches."

Lord Cushendun said he regretted the naval powers had not reached an agreement, but emphasized that leading naval powers which signed the Washington treaties had already effected a large reduction in their fleets. He then made his plea for consideration of land and air armaments.

WEST END SPAN UNOPPOSED

Not one objection was heard on the proposed McKees Rocks-West End Bridge over the Ohio River at a hearing today in the Federal Building before a board representing U. S. engineers.

Representatives of the city Public Works Department and of various civic organizations expressed approval of the span to be built by the county at a cost of $3,540,000 out of people's bond issue funds.

Col. Jarvis J. Bain, U. S. district engineer, presided. Plans for the structure were presented by Director Norman F. Brown, county Department of Public Works, and V. R. Covell, head of the division of bridges.

SUE LAIRD HURT, HIDES NEWS

Miss Laird, injured in an auto accident near Trenton, N. J., a week ago Saturday, kept the news from many of her friends at Temple University, Philadelphia, and here until today. She didn't want her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor M. Laird, of 323 West Fifteenth street, Homestead, to worry. As the swimming star put it: "I didn't want to frighten my parents, and that's why the accident wasn't reported."

Miss Laird, studying at Temple University to become a physical director, was thrown from an auto when it stopped suddenly to avoid crashing into another car. She suffered a fractured ankle and other bruises. The injuries, however, will not cause her to abandon swimming competition. She said:

"I must get well and get into condition for the women's national swimming championships at Honolulu next August. The doctor said I can discard these crutches in three weeks."

Miss Laird, a graduate from Homestead High School in June, 1927, holds practically every 50-yard to 500-yard dash record in the Allegheny Mountains A. A. U. district. In the Olympic races at Amsterdam last July she placed fourth in the 100-meter dash.

SENATE RUSHES FARM RELIEF FOR DEBATE

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(AP.)—Although the senate was in adjournment until Monday, the wheels of Congress were gathering momentum today for the expeditious fulfillment of one of the principal purposes for which it was called into special session.

Operating under rules limiting general debate to the remainder of this week, the House planned to have its farm relief bill advanced to the stage where amendments may be considered Monday. Leaders were hopeful, after a survey of the situation disclosed in the opening discussion yesterday, that the measure could be brought to a final vote and sent to the senate Tuesday or Wednesday.

They did not look for trouble in speeding passage of the bill to arise immediately out of the impending struggle over incorporation in it of an export debenture provision. The strongest center of support for that proposal seemed, for the present at any rate, to be in the senate, where it was included in the tentative draft of the farm relief bill introduced yesterday by chairman McNary at the direction of the Senate agriculture committee.

Groundwork for opposition to that move, however, was laid in the opening discussion in the House, where the leaders are convinced that their measure is more nearly in accord with the views of President Hoover than the bill which the Senate committee favored. Speakers indicated clearly that if the Senate should approve the debenture plan provision, it would be opposed as "revenue" legislation which the House alone has the right to originate.

Slippery Rock Grads To Banquet April 26

Widia Demonstration Is Scheduled at Tech

A demonstration of "widia," a new cutting tool alloy manufactured in Germany, will be given at the annual exhibition of Carnegie Institute of Technology next Friday night. The demonstration will be in the machine shop of the College of Industries and will be given by the Essen Steel Company of Pittsburgh. "Widia" is said to be almost as hard as a diamond and actually harder than a sapphire.

Germans Ask Fisher Aid for Police Bill

The Federation of German Societies in a telegram to Gov. John S. Fisher, urged his approval of the Musmanno bill restricting the power of the coal and iron police. The message, signed by Reinhard Ullrich, president, read: "Federation of German Societies, 80 organizations, 10,000 members, strongly urges your approval of Musmanno bill about mine police."

Hiking Club to Join In Audubon Outing

The Pittsburgh Hiking Club has been invited to join the Audubon Society in its outing next Sunday. Members will walk from Thompsonville, leaving Pittsburgh on the 10 o'clock Washington car. There will be a walk of about six miles, under the leadership of Frank Allier. The members of the two societies will take their lunch and spend the afternoon in the woods.

Cornell President Speaks Here Tonight

The annual dinner of the Cornell Club of Western Pennsylvania will be held at the University club at 6:30 o'clock this evening. Dr. Livingston Farrand, president of the University, and Conant Van Blarcom, president of the Cornell Alumni Corporation, will be the guests and speakers of the evening. Karl W. Gass will head the reception committee.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, British West Indies, April 19.—(INS.)—The Norwegian freighter, Bell Ridge, was aground today on Alligator Reef, off the south shore of Jamaica. The salvage steamer Killerig has two sets of salvage gear at work in an effort to refloat the freighter.

ANN FORREST HURT IN CRASH

HARTFORD, Conn., April 19.—Ann Forrest, star of "Carnival," which was scheduled to open in New York next week, was injured here last night, and possibly permanently disfigured when the auto in which she was riding was struck by a taxicab.

Miss Forrest was riding in a car belonging to Mr. and Mrs. John C. Warner, of West Hartford. A taxi came out of a side street, struck the Warner car, which careened against a tree and overturned, and the taxi also overturned and the driver and two passengers in it were injured.

Mr. and Mrs. Warner escaped injury. Miss Forrest was taken to St. Francis Hospital, with severe cuts about her face and head. A number of stitches were taken and doctors at the hospital were of the opinion the actress' face might be scarred for life.

Ann Forrest is well known in Pittsburgh. For three years she was leading lady of the Sharp Players at the Pitt Theater, prior to this season. This year, her sister, Mabel Kroman, is with the stock company. She recently had finished an engagement in a New York melodrama.

ROTARIANS END CONFERENCE

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 19.—The annual district conference of Rotary clubs closed last night with a banquet attended by 1,200 persons. Attorney Robert W. Smith, of Greensburg, was toastmaster and Edward J. Cattell, former city statistician, of Philadelphia, was the principal speaker.

Sixty-one clubs of Western Pennsylvania, including a large delegation from Pittsburgh, were represented in the two-day convention. D. E. Thompson, of Blairsville, was elected governor of the thirty-third district.

FINK, VERONA AID, GUILTY IN GIRL CASE

Harry Fink, private detective operating from the office of Alderman John J. Verona, was found guilty on morality and conspiracy charges by a jury in Criminal Court today.

Found guilty with him were Mrs. Stella Jones, Negro, of 4 Stevenson street.

Hill district politicians crowded the courtroom to hear the verdict of the jury, which had deliberated 3 hours and 20 minutes.

The principal witness against the defendants was Betty Milton, who testified she had worked for the Jones woman, was arrested and that after Fink paid her $25 fine he ordered her to return to the Jones house.

This was Fink's second trial. At the first trial the jury disagreed. Fink's defense was that a friend of the Milton girl had given him the money to pay the fine.

3 DIE AS CANNON EXPLODES

HONOLULU, April 19.—(AP.)—Three soldiers were killed and six injured, two seriously, in the explosion of a 155-millemeter gun during target practice of Battery B of the Fifty-fifth Coast Artillery at Ft. Kamehameha on Oahu Island yesterday.

Sergt. K. R. Webb and Privates H. Clark and Rove Wood were killed. The names of the injured were withheld pending an investigation.

HOUSE REAPPORTIONMENT FIGHT LAUNCHED BY BILL

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The fight for reapportionment of representation in the House at the present extra session of Congress was launched yesterday when Senator Vandenberg (R.), of Michigan, introduced a reapportionment measure.

Pointing out that "four congresses and two presidents have been elected on an unconstitutional basis," because "the 1920 census never has been reflected in a new apportionment," Vandenberg declared in support of his bill that "the estimated result today is the existence of 32,000,000 relatively disfranchised Americans in 11 violated states.

The need for reappointment legislation, he asserted, has "ceased to be an academic consideration," adding:

"It is confessed by the failure of Congress for the past eight years to agree upon new apportionment which should correct the glaring inequalities now trespassing upon the constitutional rights of a quarter of the population of the United States.

"Nor is there convincing reason to anticipate that in lieu of an enabling act of this character the same influence and considerations which have prevented constitutional apportionment in the past will not prolong these defaults indefinitely. As intrenched inequities increase their voluntary correction proportionately becomes less easy and less likely."

SIMILAR TO FENN BILL

The Vandenberg bill is not essentially different from the Fenn bill passed by the House at the last session and allowed to die in the legislative jam on the eve of the March 4 adjournment.

It accepts the "major fractions" plan, the method provided in the Fenn bill, as the basis of apportionment, but does not designate by name as such. This is the same method used in the last apportionment following the 1910 census. It does not, however, set that up as a necessary permanent method, leaving it up to Congress to change the method at any future time it might see fit to do so.

The Vandenberg bill substitutes the President for the secretary of commerce as the ministerial agent who shall report the census figures and certain fixed mathematical deductions therefrom. In support of this change he said:

"It is obviously preferable that this function be served by a constitutional officer, since permanence is one of the major virtues to be desired in such a statute."

USES FORMER METHOD

Instead of naming a House membership of 435, the present size of the House, the Vandenberg bill names "the existing number," and instead of designating the "method known as major fractions," it designates "the method used in the last preceding apportionment." On the membership limitation Vandenberg said:

"As regards limits of membership the new phraseology does not depart from the courageous proposal of the Fenn bill to hold the House to its present membership of 435, except that it proposes to accommodate itself to a change in this limit if and when Congress itself, in some subsequent specific apportionment, shall make such a change in an actual apportionment."

In support of his avoidance of naming specifically the "major fractions" method, Vandenberg said:

"Since the domination purpose is to cure a basic default in a fundamental constitutional process, method in such a ministerial law is entirely secondary. Yet to identify any one of several rival methods would be to invite a collateral quarrel over method, which which puts an wholly artificial emphasis in the wrong place and subordinates the 'shadow' to the 'substance.' It supplies the foes to all ministerial reapportionment with excuses for opposition when reasons lack."

LABOR TO AID FIGHT AGAINST POWER GRABS

BOSTON, April 19.—Full strength of the American Federation of Labor in Massachusetts yesterday was thrown into the battle against the Power Trust, following an initial victory scored against those interests in the Legislature.

Martin T. Joyce, secretary-treasurer of the Massachusetts branch of the American Federation of Labor, announced he would appear at the state house on Monday to make demands that, if acted upon, will bare the extent of the Power Trust activities.

Besides arguing in favor of the two resolutions which will be before the rules committees of House and Senate on that day, calling for a sweeping investigation, the labor official will ask:

DEMAND FULL INQUIRY

"That the public utilities commission be required to furnish at the earliest possible moment a special report which will clearly and in detail disclose the ownership and control of each of the corporations engaged in generation and distribution of electricity for light, heat and power in this commonwealth.

"That in such instances as when a majority or a substantial amount of the stock of the corporation is owned by or deposited with another corporation, holding company or trustee the chain of title of such stock shall be traced to the ultimate benefial ownership or control thereof.

"That the public utilities commission shall embody in this special report full information as to importantion of electricity generated outside the commonwealth, the capital structure of corporations so engaged, wherein lies their ultimate control, and their relations to distributing companies in this commonwealth.

VARIED RATES SHOWN

"That in such instances as where imported electricity is sold directly or indirectly for distribution in this commonwealth, the terms of which and price at which it is furnished the distributor shall be set forth fully."

The initial legislative victory in the fight against the interests came at a hearing on the municipal power and light plant bill before the ways and means committee of the House, when chairman Henry Shattuck punctured the argument of Sheldon R. Wardwell, spokesman for the corporations.

Among other things Shattuck brought out that the town of Belmont has a lower rate than the adjacent city of Cambridge in spite of the fact that it buys its current from Cambridge.

Indirectly that current comes from the Big Edison Company of Boston whose rate to consumers here is eight cents while Belmont charges only five. Shattuck also asserted that the Cambridge's private company tried to make a deal with Edison whereby Belmont would have to pay more and thus increase its consumers rate.

ATTACK PLANT GRAB

This hearing will end next Monday. It was indicated that flaws in the bill favoring the interests will be deleted; and this, if it is done, will be a major victory.

Considerable evidence was introduced to show that municipal plants sell more cheaply than the private companies and still pay their way and attention was directed to municipal plants at Tacoma, Seattle, Jamestown, N. Y., and Ontario.

"Gobbling" of the $5,000,000 Fall River Electric Light plant by a subsidiary of the International Power Groups was denounced yesterday by state representative Thomas Smith, Jr. This purchase was announced Wednesday. Smith called attention to the fact that the town of Hudson produces electricity at exactly half the price quoted to it by the corporation concerned in the Fall River deal. Smith declared:

CITES COMBINE MENACE

"Not a single city or town is free from the menace of the giant power combines. There are many instances bearing eloquent testimony as to the immense profits that will be made for the power trust if it succeeds in obtaining control of the electric industry. Legislation must be passed, and at once, to curb this wholesale grabbing of the industry."

The New England organ of the Methodist Church, Zion's Herald, in an editorial in this week's issue, says of the disclosures made concerning the power combines:

"The fact that two Boston newspapers are now controlled by the International Paper Company, a subsidiary of the International Paper and Power Company which, in turn, owns the New England Power Company and other vast power interests in the United States and Canada, would seem to present enough facts to justify an investigation of the power situation in Massachusetts by the general court."

Phila. Police Official Taken in Speakeasy

PHILADELPHIA, April 19.—(AP.)—Police Inspector George W. Fritz, commander of the Northeast police division of Philadelphia, was arrested with eight other persons, including one woman, in a raid on an alleged speakeasy last night.

The raiding detail was headed by Capt. James Taylor, commander of the "mystery squad." He was accompanied by the director of public safety. Fritz, one of the few ranking officers to escape the recent grand jury investigation, was placed in a cell in the city hall and suspended.

Pickpocket Suspects Arrested in Crowd

Two alleged pickpockets, said to be known the country over, were arrested by City Detectives William Sullivan and Edward Harkins while mingling with a crowd at a car stop, Fifth avenue and Wood street, late yesterday.

The suspects, docketed as Joe Fegelman, 39, and W. H. Scott, of St. Paul, Minn., detectives said, had just arrived by train from Chicago. Charged with being suspicious persons, the pair will be arraigned in the Central Police Court today.

HOTEL RELAY OF RADIO MUSIC TO ROOMS UPHELD

KANSAS CITY, April 19.—(AP.)—The right of hotels owning central receiving sets to receive and transmit to guest rooms over loud speaker systems copyrighted music broadcast from radio stations, was upheld yesterday by Federal Judge Merrill E. Otis.

Judge Otis' decision, said to be the first of its kind, was handed down in the suit of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers against the La Salle Hotel here for alleged infringement of copyright on a musical composition received on the hotel's master receiving set and heard in guests' rooms through individual loud speakers.

The decision drew a line between radio programs and talking machine records, and the plaintiffs were awarded $250 damages for alleged transmission of a record by the hotel.

Judge Otis held that in the case of the radio program, the hotel owners did not perform the copyrighted work, but merely provided means by which it might be heard.

"The right to perform a musical composition does not carry with it a proprietary interest in the waves that go out upon the air," the decision said. "They are as much the common property of all as the sunshine and the zephyr."

Fire Sweeps Garages, Destroying 31 Autos

PHILADELPHIA, April 19.—(INS.)—Fire early today swept 34 garages destroying 31 automobiles in the Frankford section entailing a loss of $50,000. The blaze threatened nearby homes before it was brought under control.

2 HELD IN RAID ON BREWERY

Two men were arrested and 5,880 gallons of beer dumped by federal prohibition agents in a raid on a wildcat brewery at 293 Benton avenue, last night. Andy Klops, 48, of 1022 Beaver avenue, and Winslow H. Richley, 21, of Hall street, arrested in the raid, were lodged in the Central Police Station, it was reported.

The beer was stored in 500-gallon vats, which were seized by the agents. Other equipment in the place, a one-story concrete garage, was destroyed.

Woman Hit by Taxi Taken to Hospital

Walking from behind a parked automobile in Braddock avenue near Forbes street, into the side of a taxicab, Miss Rose Muchko, 17, of 34 Second street, Rankin, suffered lacerations and bruised, last night, police said. She was taken to the Columbia Hospital. Mike Brazo, 23, of 5962 Alder street, driver of the cab, was arrested, according to police.

DARROW AND HAYS BLAMED IN PUBLISHER'S CONVICTION

BOSTON, April 19.—(AP.)—Donald S. Friede, New York publisher, was convicted of selling literature "tending to corrupt the morals of youth" by a jury in Suffolk Superior Court here yesterday. Two years ago Friede sold a copy of Theodore Dreiser's "An American Tragedy" to a police officer to test a law which had caused the banning of many novels in Boston.

A motion for a new trial was denied by Judge George H. W. Hayes and the case continued to May 13 for sentence. Friede was defended by Clarence Darrow, of Chicago; Arthur Garfield Hays, of the American Civil Liberties Union, and Thomas D. Lavelle, of Boston. In arguing for a new trial, Lavelle said that the jury had been prejudiced through recent actions of Darrow and Hays.

Lavelle said that both Darrow and Hays had attended the Ford Hall Forum's "undesirables dinner" on Tuesday night, the evening of the first day of the trial. The dinner was principally a session at which Boston was chided for its censorship of books. Lavelle charged that as Darrow and Hays had seats of prominence at the dinner and much publicity had resulted, a fair trial could not have been expected.

Coolidge Is Elected To Industrial Board

NEW YORK, April 19.—(AP.)—Former President Calvin Coolidge has been elected a councillor of the National Industrial Conference Board, Magnus W. Alexander, president, announced at the monthly meeting of the board at the Hotel Astor.

Other councillors whose election was announced are: Dr. Frank Goodnow, president of Johns Hopkins University; Dr. Michael Pupin, professor at Columbia University, and Paul M. Warburg, chairman of the International Acceptance Corporation.

400 Chickens Burned In Blaze at Market

Four hundred chickens burned to death in their crates last night when fire swept the Steinberg Market at 5825 Forbes street. Large quantities of other provisions also were destroyed. Smoke and water damaged the Squirrel Hill Fur Shop and the Squirrel Hill Barber Shop, adjoining the market. The total damage was estimated at $3,000.

Clarksburg Protests B. & O. Train Cut

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., April 19.—(AP.)—Hearing on the proposed elimination of Baltimore & Ohio trains Nos. 69 and 70, operating between Clarksburg and Fairmont, and connecting with trains to Pittsburgh, was postponed yesterday for one week.

2 Moonshiners Too Mum; Get 2 Years

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 19.—(AP.)—Refusal to tell Judge George W. McClintic the names of their customers or where they obtained their still, marked the arraignment yesterday of Theodore Shaffer and his son, Mack, of Fuggett's Creek, Lincoln County. Both were sentenced to two years in the Atlanta Penitentiary when they pleaded guilty to moonsrining. Shaffer and his son replied in response to questions of court officials, "we promised not to tell that."

Landlords to Pay Rum Padlock Costs

Property owners who lease their properties to violators of the prohibition law will be assessed costs in padlock proceedings when the payment cannot be enforced against the lessees, under a levy ordered by United States Attorney John D. Meyer. Notice was given J. Wood Clark, clerk of United States Court, to issue execution against defendants, proprietors and owners, on judgments of costs in 44 old injunction proceedings. The costs total about $2,000, averaging about $45 in each case.

COUNTY CENSUS PATRONAGE AGREED ON

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS, Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Tentative plans have been worked out at a conference here between members of the Allegheny County Congressional group for the appointment of the three Federal supervisors, who will direct the next National census in Pittsburgh and Allegheny County in 1930.

A conference on the subject was necessitated by the recent announcement from Director of the Census William M. Steuart that only three supervisors will be allotted to Pittsburgh and the county, together with the information that Republican members of Congress will be expected to name supervisors in their respective districts. Ordinarily there would be one supervisor to each Congressional district, but census officials decided to consolidate the work in the various cities of the Metropolitan class.

PORTER'S DISTRICT

Under the present arrangement, Representative Stephen G. Porter, senior member of the Allegheny delegation, will be permitted to name the supervisor having jurisdiction over his district as well as a part of Representative Clyde Kelly's. Representative Guy Campbell is slated to make the recommendation for filling the supervisor's post having jurisdiction over all territory in the county south of the Monongahela River and overlaping a part of Kelly's district.

The third supervisor is expected to be named by Representative Patrick J. Sullivan, new member of the delegation, who succeeded former Representative John M. Morin, recently appointed by President Hoover to membership on the Federal Employes Compensation Commission. Sullivan's appointment will cover the district in his own territory and also a part of Kelly's.

ESTEP NOT ATTENDING

Representative Harry Estep is said to have expressed no interest in the matter and left the appointments to the other members. His district was cut up in the adjustment of territory to be assigned the three supervisors.

The conference was attended by Representatives Porter, Campbell, Kelly and Sullivan. One of the agreements reached was to make a formal request on Director Steuart to give the county at least one additional supervisor, although it was indicated that this would be refused.

While Representative Kelly did not ask to be given the privilege of naming one of the supervisors, he will probably be allowed to recommend appointments to a number of the assistant places.

Patton Man Loses Water Service Fight

HARRISBURG, April 19.—(AP.)—The complaint of John Trevaskis, real estate operator, against the Pennsylvania Water Company, for failure to extend the water service to five houses in Patton Township, Allegheny County, was dismissed by the Public Service Commission yesterday. The cost of the extension sought was estimated at from $1,600 to $2,500, and the revenue $60 annually.

25 Rum Autos Net County Only $169

MERCER, Pa., April 19.—Mercer County sold 25 automobiles seized when their owners were arrested for carrying liquor, and realized a profit of only $169, figures show. Costs of the cases and the storing of machines took most of the money.

Sign This Petition and Help to Cut Taxes

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

To the Congress of the United States:

We, the undersigned, respectfully urge that the Congress of the United States give immediate consideration to the proposition that there be a downward revision of all income taxes on all earned incomes such as salaries or fees, or commissions for personal services. We urge this because of the many instances where wage or fee or commission earners sometimes have just a few years of good incomes and prior to and after that period have substantially less incomes. Their period of better earnings which might give the average wage earner a chance to accumulate some capital is heavily taxed, and they seldom have a new opportunity which might tend to make more useful citizens of them.

Labor in general, lawyers, doctors, architects, clerical workers, salesmen, dentists, engineers, journalists, accountants, actors, motion picture actors, singers, musicians, and all the other professional people are in the same plight in the matter of earned income as distinguished from earnings on capital, and, since they represent a great percentage of the citizenry of the country, we beg the gravest consideration of this proposition. Each signer below hereby enrolls as a member of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph League for the Downward Revision of Taxts on Earned Incomes and will work with that newspaper toward the end stated.

Permission is hereby granted the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph to list the signer in the proper Labor, Clerical or Professional Division of the said League for presentation of our signatures to the United States Congress for the stated purpose.

The signer is not obliged to make any kind of contribution or to do anything except to give his moral support to this movement.

CHINESE FAMINE AREA GIRLS SOLD AT $2.50 TO BUY FOOD

SHANGHAI, China, April 19.—(AP.)—With drought, earthquake and flood added to the disasters of religious wars and famine, the population of Kansu province has been reduced from 9,000,000 to 7,000,000 within a year. Straw, dried leaves, bark, cottonseed and thistles have become staple articles of food in the famine districts, and those who have survived hunger have perished in thousands by the sword wielded by raiding, fanatical Mohammedans.

One of the first expedients of famine sufferers is to sell the women and children to those who, they hope, can give them food. At present the market price of marriageable girls in stricken provinces is from $2.50 to $7.50. There are few buyers.

Eighty thousand troops, ineffectual in checking uprisings, remain in the province helping to devour the small supply of food which remains.

In one city the people, unable to find even grass, ate the earth on a hill. Their appetite was appeased and word spread that the gods had answered the prayers for help. Hundreds of others flocked to the hill, ate of the earth and died.

The price of grain in the stricken areas has gone up to $100 a picul, or 133 pounds. The highest price reached in any previous famine was $30 a picul. It is estimated that $38,000,000 will be needed to provide food for Kansu until the next harvest time, which will be in June, but there will be no harvest unless seed grain is sent to the farmers, and seed grain sent without food would be devoured.

PLAN FAMINE RELIEF BONDS

The central government has authorized the issue of famine relief bonds and has called on the provincial and local authorities to assist in raising expenses for relief work. The response has been meager. Of the $50,000,000 required, only $625,000 has been arranged for.

History shows that from the year 636, when the Nestorian missionaries arrived in the country, until the present time, there have been 246 disasters of major size in China. These do not include food shortages or guerilla warfare, for the latter are, to the Chinese, part of normal life. Millions die, but the race continues to live, to multiply and outgrow the power of the land to support it.

TEXTILE AREA QUIET AFTER RIOTING

GASTONIA, N. C., April 19.—(AP.)—The quiet surrounding the strike of workers at the Loray Textile Mill, which was broken yesterday by the destruction of the local headquarters of the National Textile Workers' Union apparently was resumed today.

National guardsmen and civil authorities said they had no clue to the identity of the masked men who wrecked the union headquarters with sledge hammers and crowbars. Union officials have refused to comment on the incident.

WOMAN STRIKER SEIZED

There was one arrest during the day, but this was not made in connection with the disorder. Miss Amy Schrehter, in charge of relief headquarters for the strikers, which was also destroyed, was taken into custody when she approached the wrecked store and was said to have refused to halt at the command of a guardsman. She was later released and was permitted to reopen the grocery store that has been operated for the benefit of the strikers.

Twelve strikers said they were sleeping at the union headquarters yesterday morning when a band of men, variously estimated at 50 to 500, entered and hustled them into the street. A few shots were fired, but no one was injured and the work of destruction was quickly accomplished. The men then proceeded to the union grocery store two doors away and wrecked it.

MOB FLEES GUARDSMEN

National guardsmen on duty only a few blocks away heard the shouts and shots and arrived as the last of the men were leaving the building. They said they attempted to capture some of the mob but that all escaped and that they fired several shots, apparently in the direction of the guardsmen.

Sheriff Eli Lineberger and Maj. S. P. Dolly, in charge of state troops at the Loray mill settlement, asserted they could not account for the attack. The officer declared that save for minor troubles the strike had been a quiet one.

STRIKE ORGANIZER HELD

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 19.—(AP.)—Ellen Dawson, Communist, organizer for the National Textile Workers' Union, who has been active in the Carolinas for the last six weeks, was arrested at Gastonia late yesterday on a charge of securing naturalization papers by fraud.

Miss Dawson was brought to Charlotte by Deputy United States Marshal Coin and given an immediate hearing before United States Commissioner Huggins, who held her for action by the federal grand jury at Trenton, N. J., in $2,000 bond. She was remanded to jail when she could not give bond.

She is a native of Scotland and was naturalized several years ago.

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 19.—The Westmoreland Hospital's nurses' training school will graduate a class of 13 in its commencement exercises to be held in the Methodist church here, May 17. The annual reception for the nurses and the commencement ball will follow in the nurses' home.

Worker Loses Arm In Bakery Accident

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., April 19.—Caught in an electric mixing bowl in a bakery plant here today, Nick Mirolli, 34, had his right arm so badly crushed that the member was amputated following his admission to Lee Hospital. He came here two weeks ago from Greensburg.

RIVIERA SOCIETY HAS MANY UNUSUAL PUBLICITY STUNTS

CANNES, France, April 19.—(AP.)—Aspiring young publicity agents should come to the Riviera to learn new tricks in the trade. There are society women here who could give Broadway's best better than an even break and then beat them at their own game.

Even the Casino and theater directors, who are not usually shunning publicity of any sort, are beginning to be worried since it has been learned that a young American woman had arranged to walk across the stage of the Cannes Casino Theater at an important performance. Her excuse, backed up by the employe, who was to have received $500, would have been that she had lost her way. However, she was in bed with influenza the night of the expected coup.

THROWS GEMS ON TABLE

A titled Englishwoman was more lucky. She sat at the maximum baccarat table, announced that her money had not arrived as yet, and threw a handful of unmounted diamonds on the table. "That's the bank," she said. An American, who had already lost heavily, announced that he had no intention of playing a Klondike game even though it had recently snowed.

An English friend advanced her $20,000 on the gems and she announced that as her bank. The American played her and lost. When her maid brought her money bag she placed a million francs on the table and smiled. Why not? She had netted a good profit and put over her carefully planned publicity stunt.

COUNTESS SMOKES PIPE

A young countess sometimes walks along the crowded croisette smoking a beautifully colored meerschaum pipe. Though a whiff of the smoke smells something like burning hay, the countess gets herself regular newspaper appreciations.

At other Riviera centers publicity stunts are slightly more difficult and considerably more expensive. One woman drives a tandem of white horses wherever she goes. Scores of them have their automobiles bedecked with uniformed servants in the romantic English fashion. One woman at Nice gives an Arabian Nights' supper once a month. Twenty guests are invited and each one must bring the first needy person met on the street.

Gambling Alibi Wins Jail for Tardy Witness

An all-night gambling session is a poor excuse for being late in answering a court subpena. In fact it is worse than no excuse at all.

William Glenn, Negro, of McKeesport, found that out when he was sentenced to serve 10 days in jail. A witness in a robbery case, Glenn arrived in court when the case was all over.

"Why are you late?" demanded Visiting Judge J. Frank Graff, of Armstrong County.

Steel Union Holds Secret Conferences

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 19.—Sessions of the 175 delegates in attendance at the fifty-fourth annual convention of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers of the United States and Canada, now being held at Canonsburg, continue behind closed doors. Officers and delegates refuse to comment on the proceedings, principal of which is discussion of the scale to be negotiated with the manufacturers.

Extensive entertainment has been arranged for each night.

SOCIETY FOLK SWINDLED, WOMAN LECTURER HELD

SAN JOSE, Cal., April 19.—(AP.)—Miss Elizabeth Murray, member of a prominent Iowa family, was arrested here yesterday by federal authorities on charges of using the mails to defraud. Postal inspectors said she was a daughter of the late State Senator Benjamin F. Murray, of Des Moines.

The woman was charged specifically with mailing a letter in a scheme to defraud Mrs. Lela May Barnum of Armarillo, Tex. The indictment was returned in Fort Worth.

CHARGE LAND FRAUD

The inspectors said Miss Murray had been arrested in Denver in connection with an alleged land fraud in Tampa, Fla. She was taken to San Francisco last night to be held for removal to Fort Worth after extradition.

A circular which led to Miss Murray's arrest, police said, indicated that she used a "system" in her operations with which to defraud many society women over the country. According to police she first made talks before gatherings of wealthy women and then left town, later to write them saying she would obtain memberships in clubs she had helped organize. For these memberships, it is alleged, she charged $1,000 each. The clubs included a "Writers and Artists Colony," "The Universal History of Women" and the "International History Foundation."

CLUE IN "WHO IS WHO"

The inspectors said the woman's identification was made by reference to "who's who," which lists an "Elizabeth Murray" as a writer and lecturer, giving her home as the Writers and Artists' Colony, Tampa, Fla.

Miss Murray was registered here at a leading hotel as Miss Elizabeth Tarkington. She had been attending a National Book Dealers Convention in San Francisco. She was arrested on telegraphic instructions from Fort Worth.

Two Children Struck By Auto; Driver Held

Struck in Chislett street yesterday by an auto, Samuel Watson, 8, of 554 North Aiken avenue, and Morris Waldman, 7, of 5416 Black street, suffered cuts and bruises. The driver, Joseph Mackay, 27, of 255 Emerson street, was arrested on a charge of reckless driving.

Train Kills Wheeling Man.

BYRD AIDE BACK, LAUDS WORK

NEW YORK, April 19.—(AP.)—Commander Richard E. Byrd's 82-man expedition already has accomplished enough scientifically to justify itself, Lieut. Harry Adams, the first member of the exploring party to return to New York, said last night.

Adams, third mate of the Eleanor Bolling, who arrived here from the Pacific Coast, said Commander Byrd and his crew now are dug in for the long Antarctic night. But as soon as it is light again, he added, they will go ahead lying bases toward the South Pole, 600 miles away, at 100-mile intervals. Two bases already have been completed.

Forty-two men are remaining at the Antarctic base, Adams said; others are in New Zealand with the ships, and 18 have taken leave of absence to come to America for the winter.

Divorced Pittsburgh Pair Plan to Rewed

NEW YORK, April 19.—In Pittsburgh, Mrs. Helen Wilkins Thompson and Malcolm B. Thompson, 48, a clerk, found the marital seas too rough. They were divorced there October 10, 1927. Today they had in their possession a license to rewed, issued here.

ASSISTANT CAMERAMAN HUMS HIMSELF INTO NEW NAME AND THEME SONG JOB

By DOROTHY HERZOG.
(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, April 19.

PRIOR to a few weeks ago, 21-year-old Teddy Weisbart served as assistant cameraman on Victor McLaglen's new sinema, "King of the Khyber Rifles," being a he-man expose of muscles and brawn and a fluff of feminity, courtesy Director John Ford and other credit titles.

Now it seems that Teddy had a way of humming between shots. Came an hour when the "Khyber Rifles" were stowed by the set-side and search made for a theme songer. Said T. S. was to vocalize, "Flower of Delight," an Eastern bar or two of musik. Many were chosen but none passed the microphonic test.

Came a day, too, when young Weisbart hummed as per usual. A quick ear belonging to a mahogany desk custodian heard him.

Victor McLaglen

Weisbart admitted he savvied the art of note hitting. He was promptly ushered into a sound proof room; the "mikes" given the recording juice (scientifically, a puerile or worse statement; editorially, okeh); and Teddy sang. The test passed with melodious colors. Teddy's name was changed to T. Roy Bart, and he rose from assistant camerman to first theme songer. Perhaps he'll continue for he—unlike Marion Talley—does not prefer baking cakes to earning ice-ing for them.

Elsie Visits A Wig Store

MORE SCREENALITIES: ELSIE BARTLETT SCHILDKRAUT rushing to keep a permanent wave appointment but determined to stop at a wig shop en route and have one fitted. Sometimes the hirsute waffles go A. W. O. L., and the victim sits revealed a human billiard ball. Elsie reads her newspapers. . . . A woman robbed a Los Angeles bank t'other day. Is there no field safe for men? . . . Example of going Hollywood: A former fem who once rolled her sleeves up with the best of 'em rushing into a book store to purchase nice jackets because her husband thinks she should read to keep abreast of the times. JOHN BREEDEN is 21 and has millions. All the same he plays the lead in the Fox Follies. Proving you can find a moral anywhere. RUTH ELDER can't get rid of a cold. Riding in automobiles certainly plays havoc with car advertisements telling one the latest shot-cut-to-health and how-to-keep-a-husband-who-doesn't-want-to-be-kept. Incidentally, Ruth has been making tests for several studios and mebbe P. D. Q. will start forth a-grease painting again. . . . and that's all.

Plan Big Show For Lew Cody

SCREENALITIES: For the first time since he was stricken ill, LEW CODY went home. Home to visit his wife, MABEL NORMAND, who has also been ill for many months. He stayed a short time and then returned to his recuperative retreat on the beach. . . .

Lew Cody.

Many of Lew's friends — LON CHANEY, CLIFF EDWARDS, ED SEDGWICK, etc.—are hatching a plot that will take them to Cody's house with a full fledged revue to be given in his solo honor. Lew's getting a piano which, along with Ukulele Ike's uke, will constitute the orchestra. . . . Speaking of UKULELE IKE, he vows he was born in Arabia. That his mother was German and his dad Arabian. That the family of three departed that country when he, Cliff, was 21 months old. LUPE VELEZ returns to town next week. Mebbe GARY COOPER isn't pleased! After all, there're limits to long-distance telephone bills. . . . ELLIOTT NUGENT, W. K. New York stage star and playwright, is getting his first taste of the sinema racket.

This flicker bureau receives an exclusive communication that reveals every studio in Hollywood is incorporating a cleaning department. Its duties are to dry-clean old gags for the talking celluloids. Profanity will yield to floral terseness. All actors will henceforth be credited with having mothers. It is a flagrant fib (example of cleaning department technique) that state censorship boards are supporting this purer than pure icecream studio move.

MOVIE ANIMALS :: MEET :: HOLLYWOOD BEAUTIES

Lupe Velez seems to be enjoying this petting party with Sandino. And Sandino is a jaguar—so we don't envy her a bit.

Josephine Dunn, one of the 1929 Wampus girls, gets a lot of fun out of her bow-wow trio between camera shots.

Mr. Collier in Director Role

'Tis the first time in many a long year that the Collier family has been re-united. Mrs. Collier has come to Hollywood regularly to spend the winter with Buster. She likes the climate.

Buster Collier.

"But then," remarked Mr. Collier, "she'd like the climate of Alaska if Buster was there!"

It has been seven years since Willie Collier saw Hollywood. The last thing he saw when leaving was a billboard advertising him in "The Hottentot," in which he was then starring. The first thing he spotted on his return after seven years was a billboard advertising Edward Everett Horton in "The Hottentot!"

SLEUTH TO GET JEWEL BROKER

City Detective Guy Dailey was on his way to Los Angeles, Cal., today to bring back to Pittsburgh Philip Sterling, 37, a former Pittsburgh diamond broker, accused of falsely obtaining $60,000 worth of diamonds from diamond dealers here.

According to police, Sterling obtained $60,000 worth of diamonds from dealers here last May on credit. Then, they say, he vanished.

Versatile Men—These Movie Directors

Motion picture stars usually attain screen prominence by using the stage as a stepping stone, but most directors drift into the cinema fields through business or professional careers.

Monta Bell, for example, was a newspaper editor when he decided to try his hand at moviemaking. And Clarence Brown, on Metro-Goldwyn-Mayers' directorial staff, began as an automotive engineer.

Tod Browning was a contortionist when he started his career and William deMille was a playwright and dramatic instructor when he launched his professional bark upon screen ways.

W. S. Van Dyke was a miner, lumberjack and newspaperman before he turned his talents to motion pictures and Lucien Hubbard was night city editor on the New York Tribune when he was lured to Hollywood for a directorial career.

George Hill was a cameraman before he turned director. Robert Z. Leonard was a quartet basso before joining the film folk and Fred Niblo was an explorer when he hearkened to the call of the celluloid adventure.

Ed Sedgwick's talents came from a variety of experiences as a baseball player, minstrel man, reporter, army officer, Texas ranger and song writer. King Vidor started out as a scenarist.

Sailor Kills Wife's Mother, Wounds Man

LONG BEACH, Cal., April 19.—(INS.)—Lewis Rodriguez, a sailor in the United States Navy, was under arrest here today accused of having shot and killed the mother of his estranged wife and seriously wounding E. B. Easling.

The mother, Mrs. Rose Gyer, 39, was slain when she interfered after the sailor had threatened to kill his wife. The latter ran to the room of Easling, a boarder, who was shot while holding the door against Rodriguez.

Fall from Scaffold Fatal to Carpenter

A 30-foot fall from a scaffold proved fatal to William Brothers, 46, a carpenter, of 226 Oakland avenue. Brothers died last night of a fracture of the skull suffered earlier in the day when he lost his balance and fell from the scaffold while working on a new dwelling at Marshall avenue and Brighton road.

Musical Plays Near End of Runs Here

With performances tonight, Saturday afternoon and evening remaining, "Rio Rita" draws near the close of its engagement in the Nixon, where it is playing its second engagement of the season.

"Hello Yourself" plays its last three performances at the Alvin tonight, tomorrow matinee and night. Waring's Pennsylvanians are featured in the production.

There will be instrumental music, dancing and singing, in "Excess Baggage," to be presented by the George Sharp Players, in the Pitt next week. The company will be enlarged for this play, a comedy drama.

Tucker's Orchestra Coming to Sanders

FOCH'S BIOGRAPHER TELLS OF MOVE TO OUST PERSHING

PARIS, April 19.—(AP.)—How Premier Clemenceau sought to persuade Marshal Foch that Gen. John J. Pershing should be removed from command of the American expeditionary forces toward the end of the world war, was told yesterday in an interview, published by the Temps, which the late marshal gave to the French writer, Raymond Recouly.

The interview is one of many which Marshal Foch granted M. Recouly during the last 15 years of their close friendship and will form part of a book called "The Memorial of Foch," which is to be published in a few days.

CLEMENCEAU TO ANSWER

M. Clemenceau, it is understood, will give his version of the affair after publication of the book. Meanwhile, Gen. Pershing told the Associated Press that he had nothing to say on the subject at present.

M. Recouly quotes Marshal Foch as saying Premier Clemenceau considered that Gen. Pershing's efforts to build up an autonomous army, acting by itself within the allied ranks, was preventing the Americans from giving the aid they should have given to the allied cause as a whole.

The "Tiger" accused Gen. Pershing of being too stubborn and headstrong and reproached Marshal Foch for being too patient and easy with the American commander. M. Clemenceau declared that the time had come to go over Gen. Pershing's head and appeal directly to President Woodrow Wilson to intervene and, if that failed, to remove him.

SENDS ANOTHER DEMAND

It was on October 21, when Chateau-Thierry, St. Mihiel and the Argonne were history, that Clemenceau, according to M. Recouly's story, after having already spoken to Foch on the subject, sent the marshal a letter insisting that if his patient methods with Gen. Pershing failed to yield results he should not hesitate for a moment to appeal to President Wilson.

Marshal Foch is said to have replied that to have done this would have been to tilt, like Don Quixote, with a lance against windmills.

"It was not at all certain that President Wilson would have acceded without difficulty to my demand and sacrificed Pershing," Marshal Foch told M. Recouly. "If, after that incident, with which he would naturally have been acquainted, Gen. Pershing had been kept at his post, he would without doubt have been more stubborn than ever.

SEES LOSS OF EFFORT

"Even supposing he had been replaced, his successor would have needed time to get in touch with everything. We would have gained nothing by the change and it is quite probable that we would have lost something. That was my opinion.

"I was convinced," M. Recouly quotes Marshal Foch as saying, "that my method of commanding, based upon persuasion much more than on severity, was a good one, the only good one and I remained resolved to carry out to the end."

"FOOLISH," BAKER SAYS

CLEVELAND, April 19.—(AP.)—The interview with the late Marshal Foch, published in Paris yesterday, which said that former Premier Clemenceau recommended the removal of Gen. Pershing, was characterized as "very foolish" by Newton D. Baker, secretary of war under President Wilson.

Mr. Baker said nothing was known in Washington of any such movement and declared it seemed ridiculous. He asserted neither the premier nor the marshal would have had any authority to remove Pershing.

The former war secretary said that whatever conversations might have been between Clemenceau and Foch regarding Pershing did not reach his department and doubted that the French command wished the replacement of Pershing.

Howard Handwork

HOWARD

guarantees you hand-tailoring plus perfect woolens and fine design

If a garment costs only $22.50, how well should the collar fit? The Howard designers insist on reserving an entire section of our great factory just for the skilled needlemen who fell collars entirely by hand. Why? Why do we pay all that money to get hand-work? Why do we buy woolens from Broadbrook, Metcalfe, Stillwater and other famous mills when ordinary fabrics would be almost as good? Because, gentlemen, Howard is producing a de luxe garment at $22.50—a garment like no other manufacturer in America can make at anywhere near the price!

Howard's New Rits, with the Tattersall vest, a close-fitting collar, loose rolled lapels and rope shoulders. $22.50.

Howard's York is a splendid double-breasted model with medium shoulders, narrow hips and a tapering waist. A fine example of what Howard can give you, $22.50.

In other words, the Howard idea is to make the finest possible garment of a $40 to $60 grade—and to get production so well organized that we can sell that garment for $22.50! But you'd never know it sold for as little as $22.50 just to look at the garment and try it on. And you'd never know it to talk with our floormen and see the courteous treatment accorded everybody. "Why, you'd think I was paying $100 for my clothes, not $22.50, the way they handled me!" one of our friends said recently . . . Look at the Howard models on this page. Come down to the store. Ask the manager to try them on you. No obligation. We'll gladly show you everything in the house. All $22.50

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Pittsburghers Going East For Wooldridge-Stengel Wedding May 13

NOW that April is waning, we're hearing more and more about May weddings. And we're going to have a number of unusually interesting ones. Besides the wedding ceremony itself, there's so many engrossing details associated with a wedding—bridal entertainments, and the exciting question of what one will wear, and news about who'll be there.

This spring is really quite a green letter one, don't you think? Why shouldn't one have green letters instead of red ones at this verdant time of the year? Before we know it, so fast does time fly, we'll be right in the midst of our much heralded little season.

One May wedding I'm thinking about right now won't take place in Pittsburgh, but a number of our folks will go on to New York for it.

I'm referring to the marriage of Berenice Stengel, daughter of Mrs. John August Stengel, and the late Mr. Stengel, of Newark, N. J., to one of Pittsburgh's sons, William Potter Wooldridge, son of the Norman S. Wooldridges, of South Linden avenue, which is set for May 18. The ceremony will be performed in the Third Presbyterian Church, of Newark, with the Rev. Joseph S. Folsom, assisted by the Rev. Robert Scott Inglis, as officiant.

A reception in the Hotel Suburban, East Orange, will follow.

Dorothy L. Knoepke, of South Orange, who is the fiancee of Berenice's brother, Edward C. Stengel, will be maid of honor. The bridesmaids will be Louise M. Dixon and Isabelle L. Schenck, of Newark; Marguerite Schnellbacher and Margaret Agens, of East Orange; Marjorie Parkhurst and Lillian Duffy, of Montclair; Grace Shuttleworth, of Forest Hills, L. I., and Maria Romero, of Bradley Beach, N. J.

Joan Feigenspan, daughter of the Edward C. Feigenspans, of Newark, will be flower girl, and Lewis Bacon Ballantyne, Jr., son of Col. and Mrs. Lewis Bacon Ballantyne, of New York, will be ring bearer.

As you might have expected, John Phillips Wooldridge, of Pittsburgh and Trenton, will be his brother's best man. Ralph Richardson, G. Warren Cobb and Clarence L. Wareing, of Rochester; George C. Calvert, of Elyria, O.; Thomas G. Conley, of Germantown; James W. Dougherty, of New York; Norman W. Halls, of St. Louis, and S. Carroll Stille, of Milburn, N. J., will be the ushers.

For the last few weeks many entertainments have been given in the East for the popular bride-elect. This week Louise Dixon gave a bridge in her home for Berenice.

* * *

I'VE told you about one of the plays to be given on April 30 by the Stage and Play Society, and now I hear that two more will be presented at the same time. One of these is "The Wasp," which was written by Essex Dane, and the other is "A Good Woman." The third one, you remember, is "The Mountains of Bether," of which Carroll Fitzhugh is the author.

Just three characters are needed for each of these plays, and taking part in "The Wasp" are Mrs. Bennett Oliver, Chester Wallace and George Edward Dickson. The cast for "A Good Woman" includes Mrs. Thomas Mabon, James W. Macfarlane and Alfred E. Smith.

* * *

IN the spring, if one may be pardoned for being so bromidic, a young man's fancy turns to love; and a woman's fancy turns to New York, I'm tempted to add. Have you noticed the last few days that everyone is making a visit to Gotham?

Margaret McClintic and her mother, Mrs. Howard Hale McClintic, of Beechwood boulevard, are expected back from the East today. They stopped at the Barclay while in New York.

Mrs. Edward A. Pitcairn, of Woodlawn road, is another devotee to New York. Still another prominent society woman who has been a Gotham visitor is Mrs. William S. Moorhead, of Northumberland avenue.

Did you know that Mrs. Alfred E. Jenkins has been in New York, too, and stopped at the St. Regis? And that Mrs. J. Frank Drake, of Pembroke place, will return from the East on Saturday?

* * *

THE marriage of Miss Madelyn Frances Krugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Francis Krugh, of Magnolia place, Mt. Lebanon, and William G. Barton, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Barton, of Stratford avenue, was solemnized Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock in St. Bernard's Church, Mt. Lebanon, by the Rev. Dr. Martin Flaherty. The bride wore a Lanvin gown of powder blue chiffon with hat to match and carried Calla lilies, Pernet roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Helen Krugh was her sister's maid of honor, appearing in sun-tan chiffon with hat to match and carrying spring flowers. Robert C. Young was best man. A breakfast in the Krugh home followed the ceremony. After a trip to Bermuda, Mr. and Mrs. Barton will be at home in Roup street, East End.

* * *

ANNOUNCEMENT is made of the marriage of Miss Hazel Giel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Giel, of the East End, and John J. Brennan, of Newport, R. I., which was solemnized Wednesday morning in SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, East End. Miss Pauline Giel was her sisters' maid of honor, and Harry F. Vaughan, of Newport, was best man. A breakfast in the Rittenhouse supplemented the service. Mr. and Mrs. Brennan are taking an eastern trip.

* * *

THE Italian Legion will hold a dance Monday night in the Hotel Schenley for the benefit of the Italian soldiers wounded in the World War.

* * *

MR. BURGWIN MRS. KAMMERER MRS. BURGWIN

Four of the roles in Carroll Fitzhugh's play, "The Mountains of Bether," to be presented April 30 by the Stage and Play Society in Carnegie Music Hall, will be taken by Mrs. Percy G. Kammerer, Mrs. Howard J. Burgwin, George C. Burgwin, Jr., and James W. Macfarlane.

Four Plays Tonight End Drama Contest

THE last four plays in the fifth annual amateur players' contest sponsored by the Pittsburgh Drama League will be given tonight in East Liberty Carnegie Library, bringing to a conclusion what is generally conceded to have been the most successful and most interesting of the five years. The program tonight is: The Players' Club of Jamestown in "A Wedding;" Gargoyle Club of Shady Side Academy in "Sanctuary;" South Hills Repertoire Company in "Minnie Field," and Sacred Heart Repertoire Company in "Sabotage."

Two women's club contributed a large share in last night's entertainment, the Dormont New Century Club presenting Mrs. Svend Canarils, Mrs. Charles Bowlus and Mrs. Thomas Lehman in Colin Campbell Clements' Indian tragedy, "The Siege," and the Woman's Club of Wilkinsburg doing Alice Gerstenberg's comedy, "Ever Young," by a cast including Mrs. Henry Chalfant Miller, Mrs. J. C. Ackerman, Mrs. Nelle Moore Sprowls and Mrs. W. C Graham. Both plays were given elaborate settings and costuming and the Wilkinsburg group, especially in Mrs. Miller's work, afforded the large audience its only laughter of the evening.

The Washington Drama League Players dropped into town and did some commendable work in Susan Glaspell's little tragedy, "Trifles," Their cast was made up of Mrs. Gaylord K. Lewis, Mrs. A. C. Martin, Thomas J. Sherrard, Henry H. Hood and John C. Judson.

But undoubtedly the honors of the evening (and who knows? perhaps of the contest as well) went to the Temple Players and their raw glimpse of life, "When the Ship Goes Down," by Harry McGuire. This starkly unpleasant playlet was given with unusual power and fidelity by the players, Alexander Kann, Morton Ives, Alan Weil, Jacques LeVine, Jules Pross, Jack Hammerschmidt, Edward Boas and Milton Porter, all of whom show the result of careful training and directing.

AIRYS TEMPLE, Daughters of the Nile, which is only the second temple in the state, was constituted yesterday afternoon in Moose Temple with a membership of 170 sisters, wives and daughters of Shriners. While the new organization will act in entire independence of the Shrine, the members expect to sew for the Shriner hospitals through the country and, by means of their per capita tax, to procure a home for convalescent crippled children. Out-of-town guests here for the constituting of the temple, the banquet (which was in McCreery's), and installation of officers which followed, were Mrs. Annie L. Morrell, deputy-at-large, from Buffalo; Mrs. Ivy G. Bly, of Cleveland, junior past queen, and Mrs. Frances McMath, of Buffalo, supreme marshal. Mrs. Anna M. Rote is queen of the new chapter and Mrs. Adeline W. Barnes, honorary queen, while in their royal household are Mrs. Retta Alexander, Mrs. Henrietta Sheasley, Mrs. Frances Ebert, Mrs. Fernada Frazier, Mrs. Alma L. Bayer, Mrs. Bertha F. Meyers, Mrs. May Hartman, Mrs. Regina Henderson, Mrs. Maria Morris, Mrs. Fern Seitz, Mrs. Thelma Miller, Mrs. Lorena B. Wood, Mrs. Jessie Spangler, Mrs. Lena Schlag, Mrs. Mable A. Ossman, Mrs. Julia Morlan, Mrs. Hazel Rimmel and Mrs. Birdie Sawers.

MRS. MAE CONLEY will be hostess at a card party for members of the St. Clair Ladies' Community Center next Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Helen Kneidler, Spring and Mountain streets. Mrs. Margaret Jageman is chairman of a trip to the Heinz plant set for May 7 and parents' night will be observed by the Center May 14.

THE entire program at today's meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of Christ Methodist Episcopal Church, was given by members of the society, Mrs. Frank M. McKibben led the musical devotional service, a cast of 11 members presented a playlet and other members conducted a map questionnaire.

THE Woman's Club of Aspinwall, at its business session yesterday voted to set aside $1,700 for the purchase of a grand piano for the clubhouse. Two important committees, program and nominating, were elected, the former including Mrs. A. D. Chittenden, Mrs. A. V. Laub, Mrs. H. T. Hamilton, Mrs. T. D. Fulton and Miss Rosa Hays, while on the latter will serve Mrs. T. J. Ford, Mrs. Charles A. Clowes, Mrs. R. B. Bowden, Mrs. E. W. Young and Mrs. W. Duncan Taylor. The program consisted of music by the club quartet and the presentation of a one-act play by Mrs. C. E. Gillespie, Mrs. E. S. Dickey, Mrs. Walter Reuter, Mrs. C. V. Keil and Mrs. William Munsell.

PLANS were discussed yesterday by the literature department of the Congress of Clubs for the entertainment of Edgar A. Guest, the poet, upon his visit to Pittsburgh next week. Reviews of books and several readings as well as a talk by the department chairman, Mrs. Marie Tello Phillips, who is home again after many months' absence, made up the program for the meeting, among those contributing being Mrs. Dulce Fiske Fairman, Mrs. May T. Neff, Mrs. W. B. McWilliams, Miss Lily Jordan, Mrs. Galen C. Hartman and Miss Sophie Keenan.

A MEETING of the Sixteenth Ward Council of Republican Women will be held on Wednesday evening in Morse School, Twenty-fifth and Sarah streets, with Mrs. Mayme E. Evans in charge. A card party for the council will be held on Wednesday evening, May 1, at the home of Mrs. La Rute Lane, Arlington avenue.

AN open meeting of the Ben Avon Woman's Club on Tuesday afternoon will be addressed by Dr. Max Schoen, of Carnegie Institute of Technology, speaking on "Heredity and Environment." The Stephen C. Foster Singers, Esther Edmondson, Elizabeth Young, Anne Woestehoff and Virginia Kendrick, will sing Foster melodies, accompanied by Martha Myers Murdock, and Mrs. F. F. Rohrer will speak on behalf of the Foster Memorial. The meeting will be held in the Ben Avon United Presbyterian Church.

MISS SARA SOFFEL will discuss the Metropolitan plan charter at a meeting of the local section, Woman's Auxiliary to the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, next Tuesday in the South Hills Country Club.

Mr. Vandermyn Weds April 24

The engagement of Miss Frances Cathleen Carr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fletcher Carr, Memphis, Tenn., society girl, to Armand J. P. Vandermyn, president of the Industrial Paint Company of Pittsburgh, was made known here today. The wedding will be at the Carr home, on April 24.

Miss Carr attended Miss Hutchison's school at Memphis and the National Park Seminary, Washington. She has been wintering in California, but returned to Memphis several weeks ago to prepare for the wedding.

Mr. Vandermyn is well known here, having served as a captain in the chemical warfare service during the World War. He is a member of Doric Masonic Lodge, Syria Temple, Shannopin Country Club, the Keystone Athletic Club and the Chemists' Club. At present he is living in Sewickley, but upon his return here with his bride, he will take up residence in the Dithridge apartments.

A SOUVENIR FOR EVERY CHILD

We Pay $50 For Lingerie

Then Try to Fade and Ruin It

This NEW Way of Fadeless Washing

This charming imported "step-in" —Parisian chic, but Paris-frail, too —was washed 54 times, using 12 different kinds of ordinary "laundry soap." Practically without sign of fading, and utterly without destructive "soap-eat."

A New Discovery

That Stops Fine Things Fading, Regardless of Repeated Washings

HERE is an utterly new way in washing. A way that takes the fear of ruining fine things out of women's lives.

Think of washing your most delicate lingerie 50 times, without fade or wear! Your most lovely table damask almost without end—without slightest sign of wash tub wear!

Thousands of women are—with harsh hard water; and many, even with ordinary "laundry soap." Believe it or not. But try it. Find out for yourself what it does—you'll never be without it.

What It Is

It is a preparation called Climalene that you add to your washing water. Instantly, it takes all the harshness out of that water. Makes it soft as rain water. So soft that it does the work with ONE-FOURTH the soap you use now. And thus ends danger of "soap eat" to fragile things.

At the same time, due to certain bland cleansing agents, it instantly DISSOLVES all dirt, stains and grime. And thus cuts washing time, too,—in machine or on board—ONE-HALF or more.

Use any kind of soap or soap flakes—the same soap you ordinarily do. Some 2 million women now are using Climalene—for washing, for cleaning and in the dishpan.

10¢ packages (12 oz.)

CLIMALENE

Laboratory Proved

To assure results to you, we buy fine things: lingerie and delicate fabrics. Then by repeated washings, try to spoil or fade them.

We wash delicate lingerie, often 50 times—without perceptible fade. Children's rompers, 60 to 90 times. That's over a year's home washing. We wash gold encrusted china hundreds of times—without a trace of gold gone. And thus prove the blandness of this way.

Consider, please what those things mean to you. Consider, too, that the minute you put Climalene into water, all harshness is taken away—your hands protected from roughness, made soft, smooth and white. Then try it.

Remember the name—Climalene. Your grocer has it in 10c and 25c packages.

The Pittsburgh Male Chorus gave its closing concert in Carnegie Music Hall last night with Harvey Gaul directing.

It was a kind of free-for-all concert. Everyone who could do a stunt participated and permitted us to see what good talent has often been buried in the ensemble of the chorus.

The work of the chorus was marked by a rollicking syncopated spirit—not too modern, for Stephen Foster contributed some melodies—and by some very musical mezza voce singing. Mr. Gaul's directing always draws from these men the utmost in flexibility and grace in nuance, and a tone that is always sturdy. It was not a highly artistic concert, but it was mighty pleasant.

EAT YEAST IN Modern FORM

Don't eat ordinary baking yeast if you don't like it. No need to—now. Eat Yeast Foam Tablets which are all yeast . . . pure yeast . . . powerful in their corrective properties and best of all, easy and pleasant to eat.

The leading universities and the U.S. Government regard this yeast so highly that they use it for their studies in the effects of the B Vitamin. What better indorsement of its quality and efficacy?

Eat these tablets for constipation, indigestion, skin disorders, "nerves," run-down conditions. The little glassine envelope (6 tablets) costs but 5 cents—the 10-day bottle is 50 cents or less . . . at your drug store.

Just A Touch Of Ice-Mint. PRESTO

Corn sufferers, gather round; get right up close and listen, here's good news for you.

The real genuine "Corn Killer" is here at last. No humbug. Ice-Mint, the new discovery made from a Japanese product, is said to surely and quickly end all foot misery. Think of it; only a touch or two of that cooling, soothing Ice-Mint and real foot joy is yours. No pain, not a bit of soreness, either when applying it or afterwards and it doesn't even irritate the surrounding skin.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, also toughened callouses just shrivel up and lift off so easy. It's wonderful.

Every foot sufferer can appreciate a treatment like this, especially women who wear high heel shoes and men who are obliged to stand on their feet all day.

Try it. Just ask in any drug store for Ice-Mint and learn for yourself what solid foot comfort really is. There is nothing like it.

A Cold—Painful Backache—Then Relief!

J. C. Damond, Cleveland, Ohio, caught a cold, which settled in his kidneys. "It gave me great pain. I could not straighten up; it hindered my work; my nights were miserable and sleepless. In my daily paper, I saw an advertisement of Foley Pills diuretic, so I bought a bottle and took them with the most satisfactory results. Pains disappeared, clearance became normal; I slept soundly again." Men and women everywhere use and recommend them. Satisfaction guaranteed. Sold everywhere.

WORK BEGUN ON BELLEVUE R. R. BRIDGE

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

By HAVEY J. BOYLE

IT IS in the hotels that advertise "Rooms, 50 cents and Up," where a cross section of frustration can be observed. The homeless men who in the evenings sit about the lobbies of these places all have stories in them of the ups and downs of their ill-starred lives. It is in such places where the once proud salesman of the road, now reduced to a house-to-house canvassing proposition, in their graying years muse and hark back with remorse to golden opportunities they let fly past them in their youth.

There is a gentility about their poverty that presents to the observer more pathos than the shabbily dressed men who haunt the cheaper flop houses. For the men who loaf around the 50-cent hotels still own an air of respectability, shown pitifully in a stiff collar, the worse for wear, or a faded handkerchief sticking out of a frazzled coat pocket.

They go out each morning to canvass and return each evening earning just barely enough to sustain themselves in a precarious way.

* * *

Milt Crandall, the marathon dancing king, passed through Pittsburgh on his way to New York, where next month he will stage what he terms his second "sole-stirring" event. Mr. Crandall, after a bad flop on his talking marathon, has his old zip back again, as a small audience in attendance at his recital, will attest. He has many plans, has the young promoter. He expects to break into the talking picture business in a big way in the near future. He already has signed two spectacular features and sold them to a big film company.

* * *

PLANS are going ahead for what many consider the best banquet in the town, the annual affair of the Amen Corner, scheduled for a week from tomorrow night.

Any day now in the Amen headquarters in the William Penn you can hear Fred Obley, Charley McInerny, Col. Jim Costello, Howard Devlin, Frank Harris and many others going over plans for the annual event.

* * *

The Amen Club is an organization, which, like Peter Pan, has never grown up. Most men have had in their boyhood "corners" where they met each night after the day's work, but as they left boyhood behind the "corner" assemblages disappeared.

The Amen boys used to meet on "the steps" downtown, but progress did away with their meeting place. Instead, however, of disbanding the Amen boys rented quarters in the William Penn and the same faces that used to gather on the "corner" now meet and discuss the events of Pittsburgh life in their club rooms.

The membership includes the big-wigs of the town and there are few celebrities who come here that don't pay a visit to the Amen Corner.

JUST recently Julius Tannen, the famous actor, was here, and he was invited to hear a noted pianist, a Polish expert, give a recital. But you couldn't fool Tannen once he heard the pianist begin to explain what he was going to play. "Ah, no you don't," said Mr. Tannen, "you can't fool me. You're Luke Barnett." It so happened, unfortunately, that the pianist was not Luke Barnett and Mr. Tannen had to do quite a bit of explaining.

SCHOOL PAPER SCORES ACTS IN CHAPEL

Bellevue High School students are roundly scored for unseemly conduct in chapel by the editors of the school paper the "Belle Hop."

According to an editorial of the current issue, assembly periods will be discontinued unless the attitude of the students toward these exercises undergoes a change.

"Bellevue High's chapel conduct is deplorable," say the editors. "Assembly periods cannot go on as they are at present and the issue must be faced immediately.

"If our students do not quit studying, talking and applauding excessively at every chapel, these periods will be discontinued. And that is not a threat; it is a certainty.

"There has been enough talk, and threats and pleading. Any action taken now will be definite and final. Let a word to the wise be sufficient. Show the authorities that we can behave and will."

NEW BRIGHTON SPAN BROUGHT HERE

Foundations are being placed for an overhead foot bridge, recently authorized in an agreement between the Pennsylvania Railroad and Bellevue council, after negotiations lasting many months.

The bridge, brought from New Brighton where it no longer was needed, is being repaired in the Allegheny shops of the railroad. Within a few days it will be ready for erection.

The date for opening the bridge will depend on delivery of new steel ordered for stairways and a ramp, it is said, but it is expected the work will be completed within a month or six weeks.

PROWLER FLEES POLICE SHOTS

Squirrel Hill police today were seeking a Negro who escaped in a hail of bullets after he had attempted to enter the apartment of B. F. Mercer, 6540 McPherson boulevard, last night. The intruder fled as he caught sight of Patrolmen John Kennington and James Haley. The policemen emptied their revolvers at him during a chase of several blocks.

Miss Margaret Sloan, 17, nursemaid at the Mercer home, with Billy Mercer, 3, were in the front room when a noise at the back door attracted her. Peering through the curtains, Miss Sloan observed the Negro, and hurriedly telephoned Squirrel Hill police. When Kennington and Haley arrived, the Negro ran down the alley with the officers in pursuit, firing as they ran.

Miss Sloan informed police that it was the Negro's second attempt to enter the house. Last Wednesday he attempted to jimmy a window, but was frightened away by Miss Sloan.

ACQUIT DRIVER OF DEATH CAR

John Flinner, 30, of 823 North Lincoln avenue, was free today, acquitted by a Criminal Court jury in the death of two members of an auto party when the car crashed in Brighton road.

The jury returned its verdict yesterday and ordered young Flinner to pay the costs. Witnesses had testified that the fatal ride followed a gin party among the three boys and two girls crowded into Flinner's small coupe.

As Judge Richard W. Martin imposed the costs, he read Flinner a lesson on the evils of mixing alcohol and gasoline.

"Why did you drink gin and try to drive a car in the condition you were in?" the judge asked. "The girls wouldn't have drunk that liquor if you fellows hadn't given it to them."

The car struck a pole shortly after 1 o'clock in the morning, while, witnesses said, it was traveling 50 miles an hour.

CIVIC TEACHER ARRANGES CHART AT PEABODY HIGH

In the vice principal's office in Peabody High School there is on exhibition a huge 20-page chart for the use of civics students, arranged by R. O. Hughes, of the school faculty. He began work on the chart in January, 1927.

Through the use of graphs, comparative figures, illustrations and diagrams, the chart gives students a clearer understanding of the text it was said. Centers of population, industry, educational growth, natural resources, financial conditions, of government, elections and legislature, etc., are treated by aid of the charts.

Every civic question and problem is explained and simplified by Prof. Hughes' system. He has been connected with Peabody since 1911, when he came here from West Chester, Pa. He has been the vice principal for the last three years.

Previously, he had been the professor of civics and history. Prof. Hughes received his A. B. degree from Brown University and his master's degree from the University of Pittsburgh. He is the author of several text books including "Problems of Democracy," "Textbook of Citizenship," "Making of Our United States," and others. Most of his books are used in the city schools.

GIVE RECEPTION FOR MEMBERS

A reception for 36 new members recently received was held by the congregation of the Bellevue Christian church in the church rooms. Short welcoming addresses were made by the pastor, the Rev. Frank G. Helme; C. F. Nettrour, chairman of the official board and J. V Schrock, Sunday School superintendent. Music was provided by the church male quartet with Mrs. Ruth Forney Gross as soloist. A copy of the New Testament was presented to each new member received by profession of faith. Light refreshments were served by women of the church.

RETURN FROM ROTARY MEET

Fourteen members of the Dormont Rotary Club who attended the 1929 conference, Rotary clubs of the Thirty-third District, held in Greensburg, returned to Pittsburgh at midnight last night. The conference opened Wednesday morning and wound up with a banquet last night. More than 1,500 Rotarians attended the affair.

"Cap" C. F. Lauer, president of the Dormont Club, was one of the principal speakers at the meeting held yesterday morning. Mr. Lauer and Secretary James A. Zewe were the official delegates of their club at the conference.

MATE DESERTS MOTHER OF 5

Deserted and left to struggle for a livelihood, Margaret Gardino, of 2340 Broadway, Beechview, mother of five children, has filed suit for a divorce from her husband, Patrick Gardino. The action was brought before Judge Josiah Cohen. Among other charges, the wife accused Gardino of bringing other women to her home.

"Why did you marry such a man?" asked Judge Cohen.

Woman's Civic Club Plans Card Party

The Woman's Civic Club of Emsworth will hold a card party next Monday afternoon in the borough hall. A meeting of the board of directors will be held Monday night.

Oranges Go to Waste For Lack of Roads

The Pan-American Union says that though Paraguay is noted for its wonderful orange crops, the oranges are allowed to go to waste by the thousands because of lack of transportation. In the republic there are only 274 miles of railroad and practically no highways which penetrate the regions where oranges grow. Oranges raised near the railroad and near the Paraguay River are shipped in larger quantities to Buenos Aires.

Body of River Hand Found in Wharfboat

The body of a Negro steamboat man known as "Knapp" was found submerged in the hold of the wharfboat in the Monongahela River at the foot of Wood street. He suffered from epilepsy and is believed to have fallen into the hold and drowned. The body was removed to the morgue.

E. Pittsburgh High To Present Play

C. F. Leiter, head of the English department of the East Pittsburgh High School, directed the production of "The Arrival of Kitty," this year's junior class play of the school, which will be given tonight in the school auditorium.

Fell on Sidewalk, Woman Asks $35,000

Injured in a fall on the sidewalk at Bartlett street and Murray avenue, Mrs. Margaret Steel has filed suit against B. Block for $35,000 damages. She claims that building construction work was underway at the time and that the sidewalk was in a dangerous condition. Attorney Walter L. Dipple, representing the woman, asks $25,000 for her and $10,000 for her husband, Frank Steel, who has joined her in the suit.

Steel Firm Merger Approval Expected

Formal ratification of the proposed merger of the Allegheny Steel Company and the West Penn Steel Company is expected at the meeting of stockholders of both companies May 3.

The combined properties are estimated unofficially to have a value of $7,277,000. The two plants adjoin each other in Harrison Township, near Brackenridge.

Girl Fails to Appear Against 'Boy Friend'

Marie Moore, 28, of 1237 Island avenue, failed to appear in Morals Court today to testify against C. A. Schaub, 39, of Pennsylvania avenue, who was arrested last night after she complained that they had argued during a "date." Magistrate A. D. Brandon instructed North Side police to produce the complainant tomorrow.

Bellevue Pupils to Appear at Crafton

Bellevue High School students will participate in an inter-school oratorical contest tonight in Crafton High auditorium under auspices of the Pennsylvania Inter-High School Debate and Musical League. For Bellevue, Jean MacQuarrie will give a reading, "Casting the Play;" William Brown will give an extemporaneous speech, and Eleanor Breitweiser will give an oration on "The Guillotine."

Injured by Shovel, Boy Sues for $30,000

Injured by a steam shovel, Wesley Oglesby has filed suit for $30,000 damages against Charles E. Ritts, contractor. The accident occurred November 9, 1928, while Ritts was making excavations for a building at 5315 Frankstown avenue. The skid of the shovel broke and fell on the Oglesby boy. He is joined in the suit by his father, Frank Oglesby.

BRIDGE PLANS TO BE OFFERED

Allegheny county's plans for the proposed West End-North Side bridge will be presented to United States engineers at a hearing in the Federal building today. Col. Jarvis J. Bain will represent the government, and County Commissioners Joseph G. Armstrong, E. V. Babcock and C. C. McGovern the county.

The bridge is to be built out of the $3,540,000 bond issue authorized at a special election last year. It is intended to be a link between the North Side and the South boroughs, to relieve traffic congestion at Manchester and Point bridges.

Post at Homewood Seeks New Members

The membership committee of the Homewood Post of the American Legion, headed by Joseph Roth, is striving to bring the membership up to the highest point it has ever reached. Reports indicate, according to Commander R. S. Hoerr, that the post stands a very good chance of winning one of the trophies offered by the state department of the Legion in the national membership drive. Former service men of the Homewood-Brushton district have been asked to get in touch with Mr. Roth at 701 Homewood avenue.

Spouse Soured Life, Man's Divorce Plea

"Judge, she made my life sour." With that plea, Robert K. Werner, 1920 Merriman way, suing his wife for divorce, wound up the story of his marital troubles before Judge Josiah Cohen. Werner is suing on grounds of cruel and barbarous treatment. Among other charges, he accused his wife of staying out late at night and refusing to tell him where she had been. The wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Werner, of 437 Chalfant street, Knoxville, is owner of a dry goods store.

Auto Hits Taxicab, 1 Hurt; Drivers Held

When an auto driven by Otto Hofer, 23, of 22 Winnebec street, Sharpsburg, collided with a taxicab driven by Victor Acheson, 25, of 7125 Upland street, at South Linden avenue and Reynolds street last night, Joseph Sbon, 19, of 85 Kittanning pike, a passenger in Hofer's car, suffered severe lacerations. Both drivers were arrested on reckless driving charges.

Struck by Truck; Injured, Asks $35,000

Struck by an auto truck as he was crossing Hunter street, Wilkinsburg, March 26, William Felt has filed suit against Henry Swan, alleged owner of the machine, for $35,000 damages. The action was brought in Common Pleas Court by the injured boy's father, Charles E. Felt.

FLIERS TO PASS ON MODELS

Members of the Aero Club of Pittsburgh yesterday were appointed on the committee which will direct the boys' model airplane contest in Pitt Stadium May 3 in connection with the aeronautic exhibit, which includes the 1929 national balloon race.

The committee is composed of Capt. H. Frank McCaffrey, chairman; George Dickson, vice chairman; Frank Dickson, Lieut. Pearce C. Poyntz, Col. Harry C. Fry, Jr., Lieut. William Austin, Lieut. Edward Thomson, Prof. A. H. Blaisdell, of Carnegie Institute of Technology, and Raymond M. Marlier.

There will be a scale model contest and a flying model contest, the latter divided into a junior class for boys between 14 and 18. Rules of the Airplane Model League of America will apply, and judges will include prominent visiting aviators. Applications for the contest are being received at the balloon race headquarters, Room 106, William Penn Hotel.

Child Chasing Ball Struck by Auto

Dashing into the street to retrieve his ball, William Hansel, 7, of 1509 East street, was struck by an auto driven, police said, by Edward Yokel, 26, of 2319 Gershon street. He suffered severe lacerations, which were treated at Allegheny General Hospital. Yokel was not arrested by police, who considered the accident unavoidable.

CAMPBELL SEES RADIO AS NECESSITY IN SCHOOLS

"I believe everyone will concede the educational value of the moving picture. The radio is on a parity with the moving picture as a great force for interesting, holding the attention, and imparting knowledge.

"At the impressionable age a picture is remembered throughout life. Likewise will a child remember the voice of a prominent instructor or something peculiarly connected with the subject being studied or taught.

"I believe it would be beneficial to have a radio in every classroom."

Guy E. Campbell, chairman of the Committee on Enrolled Bills in the National House of Representatives, indorses the radio in the school movement in these words.

The realization that radio in the schoolroom is fast becoming a necessity to modern education, is coming to the entire country. Inquiries regarding the Sun-Telegraph - Stanley - Warner Brothers' theaters campaign to place an 8-tube Atwater Kent radio in every Pittsburgh district schoolroom are pouring into the office.

The Sun-Telegraph and the Stanley-Warner Brothers' theaters have made possible the possession of these $138.50 sets by the schoolrooms. Every class or school which obtains 125 new 13-week subscriptions for carrier delivery of the Sun-Telegraph will be given the radio set without further obligation. They will be completely and carefully installed before being turned over to the schools.

Arrangements are being made for the broadcasting of regular and carefully arranged programs. Music and supplementary text work is available and the experience of a number of other large school systems which have enjoyed partial installation for some time is at hand as a guide.

Groups in many schools of the city and county are now at work on the campaign. Many calls have been made for the Sun-Telegraph speaker, who will explain the campaign and offer his aid in organizing work.

Order blanks may be obtained at any Stanley Theater or from school children. The United Laundries and Haller Bakeries are inclosing them in laundry and bakery packages for the convenience of the public.

JEWS ASK 'MOVING DAY' DELAY DUE TO HOLIDAY

Because "moving day" this year is a Jewish holiday, Louis Yale Borkon, editor of the Jewish Indicator, today appealed to landlords not to evict Jewish families whose leases expire April 30 but who may fail to vacate their homes.

In an open letter published in the Indicator, Borkon says:

"Beginning April 24 and ending May 2 at noon, the Jewish community celebrates the Passover holidays. By Hebrew calendar calculation, Passover comes one month later than it does in other years. No Jewish family which observes Passover will find it possible to move in or out of your premises on April 30, May 1 or May 2. They are prohibited from doing so by religious law and tradition, and to have them compelled to vacate these premises on those dates would constitute a violation of religious principles, and cause these people considerable hardship and misery."

BOSTON, April 19.

This city of Boston has a holiday today. It's Clarence De Mar Day. He celebrates Paul Revere Day by running the same course quicker on foot than Paul did on a horse.

I see where the Democratic campaign deficit department has called a meeting to be held at the Ritz in New York.

We never thought we would ever see the day that we would see Democrats meeting at a Ritz hotel. They are just living above their means, that's all's the matter with them.

Yours, WILL.

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

Spring Smiles

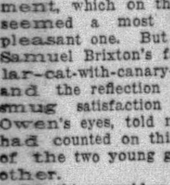
THIS is the time of year when hearts, like vegetables, are tenderest, and emotions, like the early flowers, are sweetest—but SO short-lived.

* * *

It has been quite a shock to the post-war "Younger Generation" to discover that you can't sow wild oats and reap mushrooms on toast.

* * *

A woman is with a love affair as she is with a check book; she never realizes that the kisses—or the checks—don't mean anything after the account has been overdrawn, or the romance has gone dead.



HELEN ROWLAND

Of course, the piazza swing is old-fashioned; but it doesn't run into a telegraph pole or a traffic cop, just at the psychological moment when he's telling you that you're the most wonderful girl in the world.

* * *

Life is like a play. No matter how dull it is, we sort of want to hang around, on the chance that it will liven up a bit in the next act.

* * *

A man's notion of an Ideal Woman is one who is saving her lips and her caresses for One Man—until he gets tired of playing around with a lot of other women.

* * *

Telling lies is a fault in a boy, an art in a lover, an accomplishment in a bachelor, and second nature in a married man.

* * *

Romance spread her wings and flew away never to return, on that day when men stopped saying, "How can I make her love me?" and began saying, "How can I make her?"

* * *

A man is many things. To his pals, he's a "good old scout;" to his stenographer he's a "dynamo" or a "slave-driver" or a "Big Dumbbell;" to his wife he's a "spoiled baby." But what does HE care, if he can be a hero to his caddy?

* * *

Love's Awakening

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge's Distrust of Sam and His Dapper Brother Deepens

I DREW in my breath sharply as Marion Morton told Carolyn Brixton that she would love to room with her at the school to which they both were going. There was no way, short of crass unpardonable rudeness, by which I could question the advisability of such an arrangement, which on the face of it, seemed a most natural and pleasant one. But the look on Samuel Brixton's face—a regular-cat-with-canary-inside leer, and the reflection of the same smug satisfaction in Charles Owen's eyes, told me that they had counted on this very liking of the two young girls for each other.

Nothing would so further their secret meddling in Lillian's affairs as such an intimacy, and so angrily resentful was I that for a few seconds I included gentle Helen Brixton in my mental arraignment of the people sharing in the scheme to throw Lillian's daughter into intimate companionship with Carolyn Brixton.

But a single look into Helen Brixton's face told me that I wronged her cruelly by such a suspicion. Her surprise and delight at the discovery that the two girls were to be schoolmates were as genuine as her pleased approval of their plan to room together. She turned to Lillian with a wistful appeal in her eyes.

"Dear, I hope you approve," she said. "I couldn't ask anything better for Carolyn. It's been such a worry, this question of roommates. I felt that I couldn't let her room with a girl of whose mother or training I knew nothing, no matter how carefully the pupils of the school are selected. And yet I have been selected, being a new pupil, she wouldn't have the chance to have a single room. This arrangement seems Providential to me, if——"

"And to me also," Lillian interrupted her cordially, and I realized that her love for her old friend and her joy in their reunion had taken the edge from her usually keen perceptions. She had no suspicion that Helen's husband and brother-in-law had deliberately chosen the Whitney School for Carolyn, solely because Marion was a student there. But the suspicion had become almost a certainty in my mind, though Lillian's unquestioning acceptance of the situation had shaken me a bit.

Something drew my eyes to the corner of the veranda where Katherine sat beside Mother Graham, both naturally a bit removed from the excited chatter concerning the school. The face of my mother-in-law—who knew nothing of Lillian's almost hysterical fear of Samuel Brixton—held an approving smile, and I remembered that both Carolyn and Ronald Brixton had shown unusual deference to her upon being introduced—the hall mark of their careful training. Katherine was smiling also, but knowing every line of her expressive face, I saw at once that her smile was a perfunctory one, and that unobtrusively she was watching the faces of Samuel Brixton and Charles Owen. I was not surprised when she shot a swift glance at me and flashed me a little signal for our code meaning in her own vernacular, "Not so good." I signaled my agreement, and resolved that I would talk to her at the first opportunity.

But this was not my only resolution. It was vitally necessary, I told myself, that Samuel Brixton be given no opportunity to talk to Lillian by herself until the next day. She was too shaken and overjoyed by her meeting with his wife to be her usual poised and resolute self. The keenness of her perceptions was blunted by emotion, and I knew that Charles Owen, at least, was shrewd enough to realize that fact and to advise his brother to act upon it.

I looked again at Charles Owen expecting to find him watching Lillian. Instead I found his eyes fixed upon my face searchingly, appraisingly. And when they met mine they did not flinch, but engaged my glance as one rapier might flash to meet another. Was it my fancy, or was there an unconscious challenge in that glance. Had Charles Owen discovered that I distrusted both him and Samuel Brixton, and meant to guard Lillian against their machinations?

Good Reflections -:- By Truda Dahl

GOOD reflections! Of course, I know exactly what you are thinking of when you read that. But it's not what I have in mind at all. The good reflections I am thinking about are those you can see in most any shop where Miss Debutante goes to indulge her clothes cravings.

Look in the mirror as Miss Debutante tries on the fascinating new French hat. Who is the loveliest? Miss Debutante or the shy-eyed little salesgirl who enviously looks at the hat and wishes she could have it for her very own self?

Never mind little lady! Your Bob will love you just as much in the plain little hat fashioned by your own fingers, as he would if it were a creation from the finest shop in the world. For he, too, sees the good reflections of your lovely little heart and face—and that's all that matters. For Love reflects the heart—and that's what brings happiness and is all that really matters.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Wedding Attendants

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Is there a difference in the title "maid of honor" and "bridesmaid"? I understand a maid of honor is a married girl and the latter a single girl.

SALLY and IRENE.

NO, this is not the distinction. The maid of honor is the chief attendant—this is indicated by the "of honor"—and the bridesmaids (there are usually several of them, and of an even number so that they may walk in couples), are the other attendants, the ones not of such importance as the maid of honor. If the chief attendant is an unmarried woman, she is called the maid of honor; and if she is married, she is called the matron of honor.

Formal Attire

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Is it proper to wear a white evening vest attending a formal fraternity or sorority dance at a hotel? And is it also proper to wear a frock coat and a white tie at such an affair?

STANLEY.

IF you wear evening clothes to the dance—and, for a formal dance, you should wear formal clothes, the tail-coat—you wear the formal white waistcoat and white tie that are appropriate with this attire. (The coat for this attire is the tail-coat, not the frock coat.)

If you wear the informal dinner jacket (the tuxedo), the black waistcoat is customarily worn, but sometimes, in this country especially, the white waistcoat is worn to make the dinner jacket take on a more "dressy" appearance.

Nowadays the tail-coat is more and more being worn for formal dances, the informal dinner jacket seeming not to do honor to the formality of this occasion.

White furs should be kept in blue tissue paper to prevent them becoming yellow. When your fur is wet do not dry it in front of a fire, but wipe off the moisture, shake the fur well and hang up to dry in an airy room.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Many Diseases Come of Neglected Colds

IT IS the neglect of simple ailments, rather than the direct effect of more serious ones, that fills the graveyards.

DR. COPELAND

They don't want to give in and admit sickness. They are too proud to "show the white feather." Or, worse yet, they cannot afford to be sick.

No matter what the motive, many a person goes about the daily task, when, if the truth were known, a bed and a doctor are badly needed. To struggle against disease is almost as natural as it is to be sick.

Some of our diseases are seasonal. They come in the winter or they come in the summer. There is one that comes with the snows of winter and with the heat of summer. "Neither rain, nor snow, nor heat, nor gloom of night" changes its course one bit. Young and old, regardless of race or clime, all the peoples of the earth suffer from colds.

Ask a friend how he is. Invariably he will say, "All right, except for a miserable cold."

Nasal catarrh, sinus disease, earache, mastoid disease, bronchitis, broncho-pneumonia, pleurisy, tuberculosis—here are at least eight ailments that may be traced to neglected colds. There are others.

Is it wise to neglect a cold? Of course, there is but one answer. It is not wise.

Sometimes it is better to appeal to the victim of the cold by reminding him of something else than his own danger. By going about his affairs, where contacts with other persons are inevitable, he is endangering his friends and associates. A hint of that fact will cause him to run home at once.

But it is not of the others I am speaking today. It is of the sufferer himself. He should "nurse" his cold and do what he can to overcome it, not because of the immediate annoyances of the symptoms, but because the disease is liable to extend to other tissues.

I dislike to recommend any sort of medical treatment in this column. My function is completed when I warn you against the dangers of disease and, particularly, when I tell you how to avoid sickness.

But this is what you should do if you are subject to colds. Talk with your doctor. Have him give you a thorough physical examination to find out why your resistance to this ailment is so low.

Then he will outline a diet and a manner of living. He will give details about bathing. He will explain the virtues of sunshine. He will tell you about inoculations and local applications. He will arm you with ammunition against this hateful enemy.

If you are in the middle of a cold, the doctor will give you appropriate treatment. That is his job.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Saturday, April 20

THIS is a day predestined to joy and happiness, pleasure and profit, progress and prosperity, under the gracious rule of Venus in conjunction with Sol, and Luna with Jupiter. There may be some petty anxieties or vexations, but these should be discounted by the overwhelming regency of the superior powers for good and growth. This in all directions, but especially manifesting in the purely personal affiliations and activities.

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a prosperous and happy year, with prospect of advancement, new business and, above all, many pleasant social, artistic, domestic or romantic adventures. Let no petty annoyances and perplexities mar this benignant condition.

A child born on this day may be blessed with a loving, capable and friendly nature, fortified by diversified talents making for its success and popularity. It should not permit small annoyances to upset the general happy trend of its life.

SOME WOMEN ALWAYS ATTRACT

You want to be beautiful. You want the tireless energy, fresh complexion and pep of youth. Then let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets keep your system free from the poisons caused by clogged bowels and torpid liver.

For 20 years, men and women suffering from stomach troubles, pimples, listlessness and headaches have taken Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, a successful substitute for calomel, a compound of vegetable ingredients, mixed with olive oil, known by their olive color. They act easily upon the bowels without griping. They cleanse the system and tone up the liver.

Keep youth and its many gifts. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly. How much better you will feel—and look. 15c, 30c, 60c. All druggists.

Clears Skin from Within

Indigestion the cause of many poor complexions

No woman can afford to tolerate a sallow, splotchy or muddy skin. Any effort to hide such a complexion under powder and rouge is a waste of time.

By aiding digestion and prompt elimination Triner's Bitter Wine virtually insures a skin of velvet texture, fine pores and the natural rose blush of perfect health.

Instead of pills and other violent purgatives or mere lubricants, try this delightful blend of California wine, cascara and valuable herbs. Starchy foods yield quickly. At your druggists—75c and $1.25. Remember Triner's Bitter Wine is both a digestive and a laxative.

OLDER PEOPLE HAVE PROBLEMS

World's Tonic, Mr. Haag Says, Solved His Problems.

"Older people who have worked hard all of their lives have problems younger folks never think about," said Mr. B. F. Haag, of Butler, Pa., who is well along in the sixties. He says: "How to keep our strength and spirits up after we pass the middle of our manhood is quite a problem. I had always enjoyed good health and was as able to do a good day's work as a younger man until last summer. I felt the heat so much more than I ever had before that I knew something was wrong. Most old folks, you know, like warm weather. Then when winter rolled around I actually suffered. There were times when it did not seem that I would ever get warm again. I would go to bed and get colder and colder, until in the middle of the night I would wake up actually chilled, although I had on a big pile of bed clothing. I noticed at the same time that my appetite was failing. In fact, nothing I ate seemed to taste good. My stomach was off, for the first time in my life, and I belched gas and had a bad taste in my mouth. I noticed that I was becoming very constipated, too. I took medicine for this. It gave me relief for a day or two, and then I felt worse. Finally I lost all ambition to work, and was content to sit around my son's fire last winter because I could not get warm enough to feel comfortable.

"My boy had read so much about so many people having catarrh in this climate so he brought home a bottle of World's Tonic, thinking it might help me. We all thought my troubles were the result of age, and could not be helped, but the boy said if any medicine would make dad feel a little better it was worth the price. Well, sir, the World's Tonic did a great deal more than that. It cleared up my stomach, set my bowels to working right, relieved a kidney and bladder trouble that worried me, and made me feel so good that I went back to my old job and can handle it as well as any younger man. I eat what I want, sleep like a baby, am free from pains and aches, and do a good day's work with pleasure. All ailing people certainly need World's Tonic." This valuable medicine can be obtained at all Dow Stores (formerly McCulloch's), or at any other first class drug store. (A-58)

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern

A COMFORTABLE PLEASING FROCK FOR A SMALL GIRL

Printed linen was selected in this instance, with organdie for cuffs and collar. This model is also good for cotton prints, for gingham or pongee, and likewise for crepe de chine. Pongee in a natural shade embroidered in red, and with collar and cuffs of red is suggested for the little dress. Asymmetric lines and plait fulness are featured in this style. The sleeve is gathered to a band over which the cuff is arranged.

The pattern for this neat little dress is cut in four sizes: 2, 4, 6 and 8 years. To make the dress for a 6-year size will require 2⅛ yards of material 32 inches wide or wider. For collar and cuffs of contrasting material ⅝ yard 32 inches wide is required cut crosswise.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department. The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

SECRETARY OF COMMERCE IN RADIO TALK TONIGHT

'MINSTREL DAYS, ON AIR; HAWAIIAN CONCERT TOO

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor

LOTS of good things on the radio tonight, including three new chain features over WJAS and the first of a series of Hawaiian concerts from WCAE at 10 o'clock.

"Trial By Jury" at 8 o'clock is feature No. 1 from WJAS.

Radio has serenaded the pretty girls, the cities, the mountains—and now the rivers, feature No. 2 at 8:30 p. m., through WJAS.

Doc West, self-styled philosopher, will hold the candle up to Aristotle, WJAS at 10:30, when he propounds and answers his own questions concerning important tanttant questions of the day.

Robert Lamont.

Very timely should be the message brought to the audience at 10:30 o'clock through WCAE when Robert P. Lamont, secretary of commerce, steps before the microphone. As successor to his new chief, Mr. Lamont perhaps will have many interesting things to say.

MINSTREL DAYS

Three old-time circus stars will be the guests of "Uncle Bob" Sherwood when KDKA goes on the air at 7:30 o'clock.

"The Bullfrog Song" will furnish comic background for the Review, KDKA at 9 o'clock. Edmund Ruffner, baritone, will sing the "Kashmiri Song."

Lew Dockstader had the greatest troupe of minstrels in America about 20 years ago. One of the few living members of this troupe, Geoffrey O'Hara, composer, will revive old minstrel songs and gags on the Challenger's program, 10 o'clock through KDKA. O'Hara composed "K-K-K-Katy" and other hits.

Competing with "Minstrel Dayr" for undivided attention at 10 p. m. will be the Luther Trio over WJAS and the Hawaiian String Quartet at WCAE. All three programs look good.

WJAS—Mary and Bob. "GERL I BEFRIENDED."
In the icy wilderness of the Montana Rockies, Mary and Bob meet a young doctor who gave up a successful city practice and made his home in this country far removed from the complexities of civilization. It seems that he found this the only means of escape from the unusual consequences of an act of charity. His story is "The Girl I Befriended."
A roaring fire in the Gallatin Inn welcomes Mary and Bob. The inn has been opened especially to accommodate a party of students from a nearby agricultural college. This affords the travelers an opportunity of seeing this country, so rich in Indian lore, very much as the early American explorers found it in the days of Lewis and Clark.
There will be an appropriate program of instrumental music and songs from the student group.
WCAE—Evening in Paris. "WHEN I WAS SEVENTEEN."

9:30 P. M.

KQV—Kentucky Orchestra.
WCAE—Schrader Brass Band. WOMAN'S RIGHTS.
Schradertown is tackling the burning problem of how far women's rights should be allowed to go in this modern day and generation. With Gus and Louie's garage as the arena of conflict the Widow Biddle as the conflictee, and Arthur Pryor's Schradertown Band hovering in the offing ready to make overtures—or to pick up the pieces—the next chapter of Schradertown's weekly musi-comedy will be heard tonight.
Has a woman any right, even though she be urged by love and affianced troth, to force her ideas of spring housecleaning upon a garage which has for 16 years known only the domination of man? Do her prerogatives extend to control of the cash box? And what is a garage partner to do when his pal falls a slave, not only to a woman's charms, but to her broom and her furnace?
These things worry Gus and Louie.

Geoffrey O'Hara, noted wartime minstrel and former member of Lew Dockstader's minstrel troupe, will take charge of the goings on in the NBC studios.
"Oh, Dem Golden Slippers," "Rocked In the Cradle of the Deep," "When the Robins Nest Again," and the song which will always be Mr. Dockstader's own, "There's a Dark Man Comin' With a Bundle"—the radio audience will hear all of these in O'Hara's revival.

10:30 P. M.

KQV—Steele's Orchestra.
WJAS—Doc West. "WISE" PHILOSOPHER.
Doc West, the homely philosopher, will make his radio debut by scattering words of wisdom and startling truths.
There is no limit to the subjects that the homely philosopher will touch upon in his weekly discourse. What was the truth back of Secretary Stimson's decision on Mrs. Gann's position? What is reasonable for the present fluctuations of the stock market? What influence has the reputation for being among the best men in the country had on such persons as James J. Walker or Grover Whalen? What profit have such well-known characters as Peaches Browning, Peggy Hopkins Joyce, Ruth Elder or Earl Carroll gained through the publicity that has attended their careers? These diverse questions are merely of the type and range of current events that Doc West may select for comment.

The BROADWAY MELODY by Jack LAIT

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Eddie Kerns, song plugger, has written the music for "The Broadway Melody," a big revue to be produced by the famous Zanfield. For two years Eddie has been engaged to "Hank" Mahoney and now he sees his way clear to marry her. She and her younger sister, Queene, are playing in vaudeville and Eddie summons them to New York and tells them he has managed to place them in the revue. They are overjoyed, but Eddie suddenly discovers that he's lost his heart to Queenie who has developed into a startling beauty in the two years since he saw her last. He keeps his secret from "Hank" and the girls turn down a long vaudeville contract for a chance to make good in the revue. Zannie, after seeing the "Mahoney Sisters" perform, decides that he could only use Queenie. She, however, appeals to him to also give her sister a chance in the show. He consents. "Hank" believes that she put it over. During a dress rehearsal Eddie shows the sisters the big ad in the newspaper announcing their coming to Broadway. When Hank kisses Eddie, Queenie cries. Zannie gives Queenie a place in the revue. She makes an impression and the two "angels" of the revue invite her out to dine after the show. Dore, one of the show girls, tells Queenie to watch her step with Worthington. Eddie questions Queenie about "Warry" and tells her to keep away from him. Ignoring Eddie's protest she goes out with Warriner. When "Hank" arrives home with Eddie she discovers Queenie in. The two "angels" are disappointed when Queenie wouldn't play their game. However, "Warry" sends the other half of the $1,000 bill to Queenie. Just as she is talking to him over the telephone, "Hank" returns and finds the torn $1,000 bill. She is worried about Queenie, who hides her sudden riches. "Warry" makes another attempt to get Queenie to go out with him. Meantime, Eddie comes in and tries to persuade Queenie to have nothing to do with "Warry." He is holding her in his arms when "Hank" comes in. She asks if they have been fighting and Queenie then leaves the room. "Hank" tells Eddie the plans for the birthday party. Queenie disappoints them by going to a party given in her honor by "Warry" at his apartment. On her return she shows "Hank" a diamond bracelet that "Warry" had given to her. The revue opens and wins the approval of her "first-nighters." Eddie is happy and he sends a note to Queenie asking her to meet him alone. Queenie is the "Big Hit" of the revue. She meets Eddie between the acts and tells him that she loves him. However, he makes a remark about "Warry" and she slaps his face.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXIII.

"BROADWAY MELODY rang down to its triumph. As Eddie Kerns came off the tenor seized his hand and wrung it.

"Great night, Eddie," he enthused. "Great night for us all—especially for you—great night."

Eddie nodded his acknowlegment. In his heart burned the first glow of success. But on his cheek burned the slap from Queenie's hand and in his soul burned a resentment against Francis Warriner.

Queenie's spot in the final lineup was among the ace principals. Hank was in the second line. The girls walked to their dressing room together. Against the door stood a large box embossed with the name of a Park avenue costumer. Hank looked at the tag. Of course, it was addressed to Queenie. She carried it in and snipped the string. Within lay a gorgeous gown of shimmering cloth-of-silver. On it was Warriner's card, inscribed:

"For my Queenie to wear tonight."

Hank tore the card to bits in temper. She threw the gown at Queenie.

"Don't take it so hard," answered Queenie. "It had to come."

"Death has to come, too . . . But nobody looks around for it . . . Queen, I feel blue tonight. Don' got out—with him."

"I have to. I promised. I can't play the baby an' I can't make a sap out o' him. He's invited friends. Besides, as I told you, it's high time I was easin' myself out o' this love-bird combination. You an' Eddie've got each other. That's enough. Now you two lemme be. An' I'll let you two be."

There was a knock on the door. Eddie came in.

Queenie turned her back on him and picked up the gown. With a sudden fury Hank seized it. Queenie pulled. Eddie interfered in time to save the costly garment from destruction.

"You start that stuff again, an' I'll move out o' this dressing room, sister or no sister," snarled Queenie.

Hank advanced on her.

"Who do you think you're talkin' to?" she demanded. "Another bright sayings of children out o' you pan, an' I'll lap you over my knees an' slap the daylights out o' you!"

"You an' who else?" bristled Queenie. "Your Eddie?"

Hank aimed a swing at Queenie, who dodged and grabbed for her hair. They engaged in a hand-to-hand struggle with Eddie tearing them apart. When he had separated the girls, Queenie, panting, stood in the center of the room, glowering all about her as she cried:

"That's the blowoff. Hereafter you live your life an' I'll run mine. That's that."

Queenie popped out her head.

"Who'll which?" she inquired.

"I'll break his neck—an' yours, too."

Queenie looked up quickly. The glance was rather a warning than a challenge. It meant "Shut up!" But Eddie's heart had overflowed and the flood had drowned his discretion.

"I'll make him suffer like he made me suffer—"

Queenie made a step toward him. He stopped. He hadn't realized what he was saying. Quivering with impotent rage, blazing jealousy, he had forgotten Hank, everything else.

Queenie ventured a look toward Hank. She was staring with amazement at Eddie. His words, his looks, his tone had sent something home with staggering suddenness. Queenie caught her sister's expression. For a moment she was tempted to comfort her. But she turned, instead, on Eddie, and with venom in every fiber she shrilled—

"Don't you ever say another word to me. I'm nothin' to you an' you're less to me."

"Lemme go," she screamed. "Take your hands off o' me, you ham. I hate you!"

Stunned by it all, Eddie let his hands go limp. Hank was watching the scene with numb bewilderment. Queenie dashed back behind the screen and was madly scurrying into her party clothes. Hank blinked her eyes and raised them to Eddie to convince herself it wasn't a nightmare. So—that was it? These two loved one another. And she had never even suspected any such catastrophe behind the mess that the few days had seemed to make of her life.

Queenie came forth, Eddie made a move to intercept her, but with a cat-like stride she beat him to the doorknob. She twisted it savagely, yanked open the door and flounced out. Eddie shook himself and met Hank's gaze. He shut his eyes against it when he had read it. He stumbled into a chair and let his head fall on his chest.

Hank crossed to the window, which faced the back street behind the theater, where the motors of the millionaires waited for the coming of the glorified. She saw a beautiful car, glistening in its newness, draw up at Queenie's feet. The clean-cut chauffeur hopped off and opened the door for her. Out of the black interior sprang Francis Warriner, a beaming smile on his good-looking face.

"Yours?" he chortled, slipping one arm in hers and waving the other at the car, as the chauffeur threw on the inside lights and revealed a luxurious body, upholstered in gray alligator hide. Queenie gasped with wonderment. Warriner helped her in as though she were Dresden china. The chauffeur shut the door, which clicked with that important sound that only grand cars can register. He took the wheel, a lever slid in gear and the machine was off and around the corner.

Hank closed the window. She stared a moment at Eddie's dejected, collapsed figure. Then a light of determination appeared, a plan seemed to be forming—and she walked to where he sat. A tenderness suffused her face. Then it faded under a black mien of resolve. A sneer of contempt was what Eddie saw as she put her hand on his shoulder and jerked him around.

"What kind of a cluck are you?" she snarled. "Haven't you got any guts at all?" He didn't understand. "You love her, don't you?" He hesitated. He started to shake his head up and down, then changed—"Don't lie to me. You're wild about her, you poor simp." He looked at her frantically. But he had stopped denying. "And she loves you, too—if that's any news to you."

She dropped her hold on him as though he were an alley cat and it had suddenly dawned on her that he was soiled. She rubbed her palms together to get the touch of him off. She paced the floor now and stopped again at his side.

"You ain't fit to love a girl—any girl, not to say my Queenie."

"Bah! You think you broke my heart? That's a laugh. I was kiddin' you along because you could help us in show business. You was kiddin' me along because you went hook, line an' sinker for Queenie. An' that poor kid had to go an' fall for you on the level. God, what a wow!"

Eddie came to his feet.

"You—you say you—you were kiddin' me?"

"No. I s'pose I cared in a big way for a hick song-plugger like you. All I cared about was Queenie—not even for myself. An' this is the answer. She gets stuck on you."

"She's stuck on that Warriner," he answered, sullenly.

"Oh, my Lord. So you've lost two sweeties tonight—an' you sit there an' suck your thumb. Say, if I loved you, I'd cut Queenie's throat before I'd let her get away with you. An' if you loved Queenie the way you think you do, you'd go out an' battle for her. If I loved anybody, I'd take 'em away from a dozen Warriners."

"You mean that?" he gasped. "You were just—stringin' me—all the time?"

She laughed right into his face. She banged her little fists on the zinc dressing shelf.

"Say—I'm so nuts about a house manager out on the Manley circuit that I can't see straight. It's been goin' on for months. I'm on long distance every night. He's big, an' fine an' handsome. If he ever caught me lookin' cock-eyed at another guy, he'd throw him through a window—an' he wouldn' even stop to open the window. He thinks I'm the cream on the berries. He thinks Queenie's a pain in the neck because she's always hangin' around when we wanna neck—not like you—you make believe you care for me so you can make moon eyes at her, an' you ain' got the nerve to tell me to take the air an' let you be with the girl you love . . . you let her walk out in a dress another man gave her an' drive off with him in a car—her own car—he gave it to her—"

She laughed loud and hysterically. He bristled up.

"And do you know where he's takin' her right this minute? To a flat—a nice, quiet little flat he leased for her an' had decorated for her—"

"That's a lie. It's all a lie!"

"Oh—so? Well, here's the address. They're throwin' a housewarmin' tonight, Romeo. Him an' the girl you love. An' here you are."

Eddie snatched the paper from her hand.

"I'll get her out o' there if I have to pull a murder," he barked, and out the door he bolted.

Hank heard the slam. She backed unsteadily to the chair where he had sat. Tears spurted from her eyes. Her arms hung down, boneless.

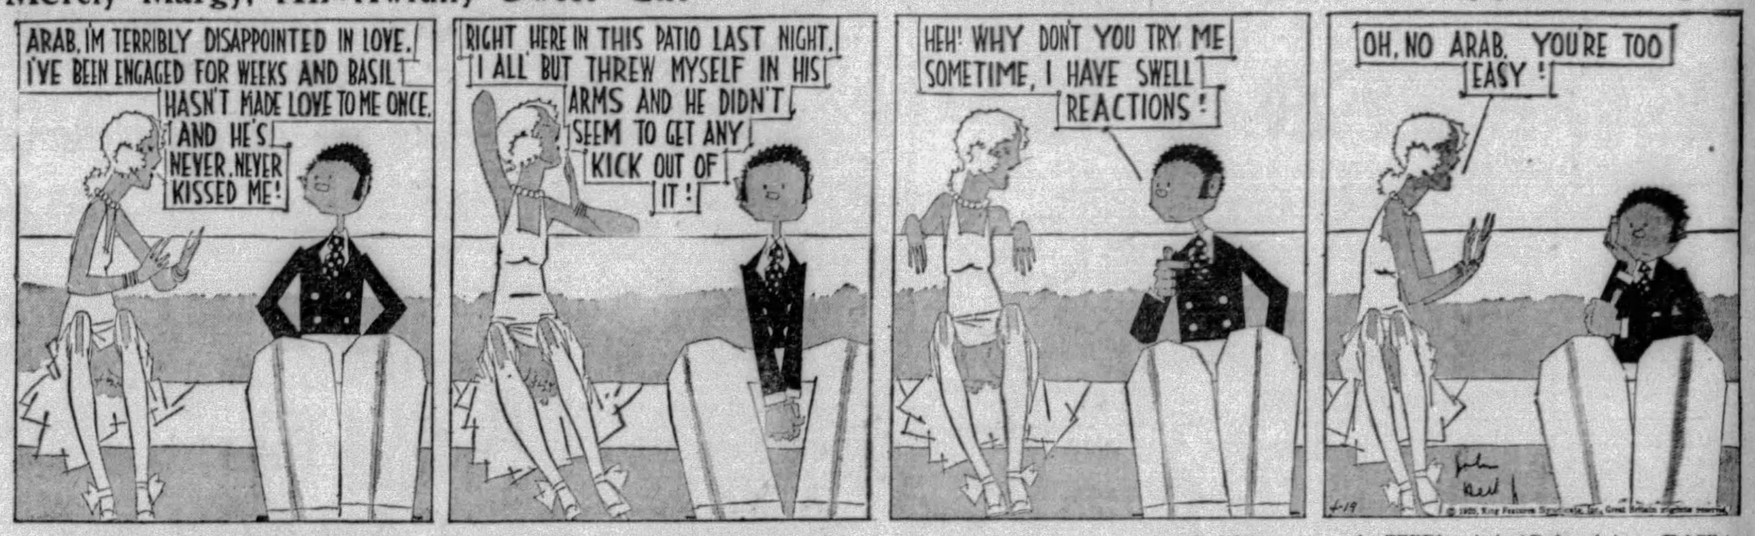
Merely Margy, An Awfully Sweet Girl :-: Story by Lloyd Mayer :-: By John Held, Jr.



"My dear, I'm ABsolutely SUNK at this point! I mean I'm PRACticably ready to ROLL over and BUTter myself with disMAY because why IS it life's so inVOLVED, sort of? I mean what you WANT you can't GET and what you DON'T want is ALways PUSHED right under your NOSE, do you know what I mean?

Isn't it POISonous? Well, ANYways, my dear, I was TALKing wildly to ARab about how peCULiarly BASil's been acting since we've been enGAGED and I conFIded in a burst of CANdor that he hadn't ONCE KISSED me even though the other NIGHT I practicably HURLED myself into his ARMS, my dear, whereupon ARab asked me why I didn't try HIM somtime, can you BEAR it, my dear? Honestly, it was TOO reVOLTing because just the THOUGHT of letting that foul pipsqueak NECK me was TOO obNOXious, my dear, but I mean isn't that ALways the WAY? I'm CRAving a little light LOVE and affECTION from BASil at this point and the only person volunTEERing it is ARab, who's so EASY to inTRIGUE that there's no exCITEment in it, do you know what I mean? False Values :-: By Bertha R. MacDonald :-: Daily Short Story

"MOLLY, for the love of heaven, what are you up to?" Bertrand Noble exclaimed, flying across the room to his wife, pulling her to her feet from her place before the piano, where she was diligently removing the dust from beneath it.

"I'm only doing what has to be done. Why plunge at me this way?" she answered.

"That's where you're all wrong. You don't have to do that."

"Who'll do it if I don't, I'd like to know?"

"What if it never gets done? What if there's dust a foot thick? If you're laid out cold tonight you're not going to rise up tomorrow and swipe a dust rag over the piano, are you?"

"Bert! Please don't be ridiculous. I must do the work when I have the strength. We've got to economize. We can't go hiring things done while we've got the house to pay for and you know I'm not always able to work."

"That's the trouble. You've got a false idea of economy, my dear. You're saving a lot of money, aren't you, when you get down and crawl around on your hands and knees, looking for atoms of dirt no one else ever sees, stir up one of those beastly headaches of yours and then spend $3 a visit for a doctor."

Molly Noble looked at her husband with the dumb accusation of a hurt animal, while tears welled up in her pretty blue eyes.

"I—I didn't think I'd live to see the day when you—you'd taunt me with the price you have to pay the doctor!" she faltered, beginning to sob.

"That's another thing you've got stacked up wrong," the husband went on sagaciously. "You seem to delight in turning my own words against me lately, when God knows your comfort and health are about all I think of, waking or sleeping, these days. Can't you see for yourself that you never get anywhere when you use up your strength as fast as you accumulate it?"

Mrs. Noble went on sobbing, pulling herself away from her husband's encircling arm and refused to be comforted. Proceeding to the kitchen, her better half in close attendance, she opened the oven door and disclosed a small roast surrounded by potatoes, beside it a pan of biscuits which were beginning to brown nicely and a flaky apple pie.

"Great scott!" friend husband railed. "You went and cooked a roast and biscuits and pie on a hot, enervating night like this? Woman alive! Won't you ever collect any reason?"

"I—I only did it for you, Bert. You always like my baking so well."

"Of course I like your baking, but I can live on hay for the sake of seeing your strength come back a little faster!"

Thus the argument proceeded, merely a repetition of many former such arguments, until tonight, her nerves on edge, Molly Noble ran to her room, locked herself in and gave way to her gloomy thoughts.

Molly had been a vigorous, active young woman, accustomed to all sorts of out-of-door activities and indoor housecleaning accomplishments, until an accident lowered her vitality and rendered her subject to recurring headaches which were indeed hard to deal with. Between them she seemed to be as well as ever and it was difficult for her to withstand the womanly urge to sweep and dust and bake and puddle with a little dab of washing and ironing.

She had been raised with a strong sense of economy and the idea that articles made at home or work done by those most interested in the outcome, excelled by far any product purchased in a store. It was just before her accident that they had made the first payment on their attractive bungalow and Molly's sense of economy, with a view of getting their home paid for, seemed to overshadow everything else, even her reason. She was forever fussing about the place only to find herself in bed next day with the doctor in attendance. No amount of argument, not even the inevitable outcome of an orgy of work, seemed able to point out to her the error of her way.

On this particular evening she sat for some time in her room going over the cold facts, but again failing to reason herself into the right attitude. Suddenly an odor as of something burning reached her nostrils through an open window. With a vague sense of foreboding she rushed to the kitchen to find it filled with smoke, which came unmistakably from the oven. Hastily turning off the gas she opened the oven door and discovered the dinner she had been to such an expenditure of strength to prepare, burned to a crisp.

When Bertrand Noble came in from the garden where he had been venting his wrath energetically upon the inoffensive hoe, he found his wife in a dead faint upon the kitchen floor. One glance at the open oven told the whole story.

He carried the misguided woman to her bed and summoned the doctor. When he came he examined his patient and shook his head gravely. When Molly regained consciousness and before she opened her eyes, her husband's voice floated hazily to her out of the shadows from which she had just emerged.

"Women are all alike, doctor," he emphasized. "They love to make martyrs of themselves for their families and their ideas of economy are a howling joke. They buy a piece of linen from a back-door pedlar to save 25 cents and the first time it is washed, find it's three-fourths cotton. They fight their way to a bargain counter in order to retrieve a couple of wash cloths—9 cents marked down from 10 and ruin a $15 hat in the operation. Here's my wife—spends her last rag of strength to cook me a fine dinner and then allows a case of nerves to burn up the whole business."

"Steady there, son," the old doctor returned. "Don't be too hard on the ladies, particularly on that wife of yours. If she doesn't take care of herself I'm afraid she'll never cook another dinner. What she needs is to get away where she won't be tempted, and even then—I hate to tell you, boy, but—even then her chances are small, mighty small!"

When Noble told his wife that the doctor had said she must go away for a while, he met with no opposition whatever. The question of expense or economy was not even raised between them. Molly allowed her husband to see her cozily established in a comfortable, airy room in a charming resort hotel on the seashore, and after promising to live religiously by the rules laid out for her health, with frightened, tearful eyes, bade him adieu.

A month of this lazy, carefree life put so much punch and vim into the faded little woman that a new Molly went home to preside over the precious bungalow.

"Bert, dear," she began, the moment her wraps were removed, "are you glad I didn't die?"

"Die!" beamed the happy husband. "Never thought you would. The doc's famous edict was issued that day when he knew you'd hear it. You weren't much worse off than usual, but you would have been soon if we hadn't stopped you and we knew scaring you was the only way we could get you to rest."

Molly sighed thoughtfully. "It was an awful expense, dear, but I've $200 in the bank that I saved from time to time out of the money you gave me to hire help. Will that pay part of it?"

"I would if I'd use it, but I won't. You'll keep it and use it for what it was originally intended. No more false values for my Molly. Get me?"

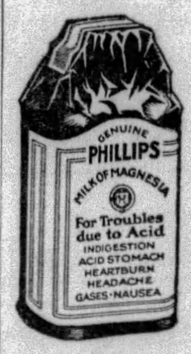
"Get out more in the open air," say health experts. Get a used car and you can travel all you wish. The best used car buys in Pittsburgh are listed in the Sun-Telegraph Classified Columns.



Indigestion

Immediate Relief!

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali, which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade-Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor, Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

Menu for Sunday's Dinner

By PRUDENCE PENNY

Cream of Celery Soup.
Roast Beef. Yorkshire Pudding.
Potato Balls. Baked Tomatoes.
Beef Basket Salad.
Orange Pudding.
Coffee.

I THINK that cream of celery soup is my favorite soup. When I see it mentioned on a restaurant menu, I don't care what follows, for the dinner is a success as far as I am concerned.

Cook one quart chopped or diced celery, onion and bayleaf in just enough water to cover, until celery is soft. Mash through a sieve. Make a white sauce of one quart of milk, two tablespoons flour and two tablespoons fat. Combine sauce and vegetables. Season with salt and pepper, reheat, beat with egg-beater and serve.

You probably have your own special way of preparing roast beef. The prime ribs are the most tender, I find, but they are the most expensive, too. The rump is good and less expensive.

* * *

THE beef should be carefully trimmed, weighed, rubbed with pepper, sale and flour and then skewered and tied into shape. The lean parts should be rubbed with drippings.

Now place the roast, fat side upward, in a pan on a rack and set in a hot oven to sear quickly and thus prevent an escape of the juices. When the meat has been lightly crusted, heat may be moderated and the roasting continued.

You'll need 12 minutes to each pound of beef, plus 15 minutes added to the total time. That's for a rare roast. If you like it well done, allow more time. Make a gravy from the drippings, using 1 tablespoon of flour and 1 cup of drippings.

Baked tomatoes make a pleasant change from the usual tomato salad. Peel 6 tomatoes and cut thin in slices one-fourth of an inch thick. Place a layer of tomatoes in a pudding dish, sprinkle over them a little salt and pepper. Rub 4 tablespoons butter into 1 cup of bread crumbs with 1 teaspoon sugar.

Spread mixture thickly upon tomatoes, using all of it, then add another layer of tomatoes. Add bits of butter, sprinkle with dry crumbs and bake 20 minutes.

* * *

THE beet basket salad is so pretty that you won't want to disarrange it by eating it, but your appetite will win out after all, I greatly fear. Cut the tops off of 6 large cooked beets. Scoop out the centers, making the hole as large as possible without breaking the beets. Chop up the tops and centers of beets. Mix with 1 cup finely chopped celery and ½ cup mayonnaise dressing. Fill the beets with the mixture and arrange on lettuce leaves.

The orange pudding is easy to make and it's delicious. Cream 1 cup butter and 2 cups sugar together. Add 6 eggs, well beaten, and 1 cup milk. Grate the rinds of 3 oranges and add that and the orange juice. Pour into a buttered fireproof glass dish, bake 40 minutes in a slow oven or until a light brown. Serve with orange sauce.

* * *

THE week-ending season is practically with us! With the trees showing an encouraging leaf every here and there, with the crocuses cropping up, surprisingly enough, almost over night, and with the birds trilling a greeting to us each morning—well, we've got to do something about it, that's all!

If you have never indulged in the rare and popular sport of week-end camping out, then it's high time you began. If you have an automobile, then you and the family can go miles away to some choice spot, on a Saturday afternoon. Perhaps beside a running stream, or a lake, or maybe by the mountainside.

* * *

AND, since a picnic becomes a dismal failure if there isn't plenty of good, nourishing, substantial food to curb one's prodigious appetite on such an expedition, by all means go heavily provisioned.

Prepare as much food as you can in the open, for that's fun, and everybody loves it.

It's one way for the housewife to get a much-needed rest, too—for after the camp is set up, the men of the family probably will take considerable joy in helping to cook dinner under the somewhat novel conditions.

* * *

AFTER a night in the cool tent, with the pure country air in your lungs, everybody will be ready for a hearty breakfast in the morning. That means that Griddle Cakes, Creamed Chipped Beef, Biscuits and Coffee would go to precisely the right spot!

Here's the way you'll go about making your Griddle Cakes:

* * *

GRIDDLE CAKES—Two and one-quarter cups pastry flour, ¼ cup corn meal, ¼ cup sugar, ¼ cup fat melted, 2 cups milk, 1 egg, 1 1-3 teaspoons salt, 11-3 tablespoons alum or 1 2-3 tablespoons phosphate or cream of tartar baking powder.

* * *

SIFT, then measure flour and meal. Resift measured flour and meal with baking powder, sugar, and salt into mixing bowl. Beat egg until light and foamy, and add the milk and fat. Stir liquid quickly into dry ingredients. No more than one-half minute should be required for stirring.

Only when additional baking powder is added, should the batter be stirred again. Pour or dip batter out carefully (without beating) onto hot pan which has been greased sufficiently to prevent sticking. The inexperienced should try a spoonful of batter to test the temperature. If the pan smokes much, it is too hot; if more than two minutes are required to brown the cake on one side, it is too cold. Using a knife and a fork, turn cakes carefully. Bake until brown.

Stack on a hot plate. If each succeeding cake does not seem to have the desired lightness, add a small amount of baking powder by dusting it over the surface of the batter. Stir in baking powder quickly as at first, never taking more than a half minute.

* * *

Beat butter in hot frying pan. Add beef and cook until edges curl. Remove beef and add flour to fat remaining in pan and blend until smooth. Add milk and cook for 5 minutes, then add beef and cook over hot water 5 minutes longer. Yield: Five servings.

* * *

CARAMEL WAFERS—Three-quarter cup shortening, 2 cups brown sugar, 2 eggs, 3 cups flour.

Menu for Sunday Dinner—By Prudence Penny

¾ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cream of tartar, ½ teaspoon soda. Cream the shortening. Work in sugar gradually. Beat in eggs and continue beating until mixture is fluffy. Sift dry ingredients and add to first mixture. Shape into two rolls about two inches in diameter. Place in ice-box over night. When ready to bake, cut in thin slices. Bake at 350 degrees for 10 minutes.

* * *

CHOCOLATE DROP COOKIES—One cup brown sugar, ½ cup melted shortening, 2 squares melted chocolate, 1 egg, ½ cup milk, 1½ cups flour, ¼ teaspoon soda, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon baking powder, ¼ cup chopped nut meats, ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Mix sugar with melted shortening. Add melted chocolate, slightly beaten egg and milk. Lastly, stir in dry ingredients, then nut meats and vanilla. Drop by spoonfuls onto well-greased baking dish and bake in moderate oven.

* * *

VEGETABLE LOAF—Heat a cup of peas and a cup of beans. While hot put through food chopper and add 1 cup cooked rice, 2 beaten eggs, salt and pepper, paprika, celery salt and 2 tablespoons melted fat. Shape into loaf, adding more cooked rice if necessary. Bake in moderate oven for 45 minutes. Pour 1½ cups hot white sauce around the loaf when baked.

* * *

BEANS—And here is another vegetable dish that the entire family will like, lima beans with cheese sauce. Add three-quarters cup cheese, cut fine, to a cup of milk and cook over boiling water until cheese is just melted. Add quarter teaspoon French mustard, one teaspoon Worcestershire sauce and three cups cooked lima beans and continue cooking until beans are thoroughly heated. Pour into hot dish and sprinkle with paprika.

* * *

CHEESE PIE—For the crust, mix together 1¼ glasses of flour, ¾ glass sugar, 1 teaspoon baking powder, a pinch of salt. Beat an egg, and add together with 2 tablespoons of butter which has been cooled. Add ½ teaspoon of vanilla and knead. If milk is necessary to make the dough soft, use a small quantity. Line the pie plate with this crust mixture. For the cheese mixture, strain all water from a pound of pot cheese, and cream well. Add 5 tablespoons sugar, mix well. Add a tablespoon of melted butter and 2 well-beaten eggs, then a pinch of salt. Add ¼ glass of cream. Stir till the mixture is smooth. Add 2 tablespoons flour and a teaspoon vanilla. Pour this batter into pie plate which has been lined with the dough and bake in a moderate oven until slightly browned.

* * *

PRUNE BREAD—Wash a cup of prunes, allow them to soak for several hours, drain, stone and chop. Mix one cup of flour and one and one-half cups of graham flour with a quarter cup of sugar, a teaspoon of salt and four teaspoons of baking powder; add a cup of milk and beat well. Add the prunes and a tablespoon of melted shortening. Put into a greased bread pan; allow to stand 20 to 25 minutes in a warm place. Then bake in a moderate oven one hour.

* * *

PINEAPPLE GELATINE PUDDING—Cut slices of pineapple into heart shapes. Chop the trimmings fine, and add enough liquid from the pineapple to make a cup in all. Soften a heaping tablespoon of gelatine in cold water and dissolve in the cup of liquid, heated for the purpose. Add ¾ cup of sugar, the juice of half a lemon, and color a deep pink. Cool in ice box until pudding begins to stiffen, then fold in one cup of cream beaten stiff. Turn in a shallow pan to make a sheet about an inch thick. When cold cut in hearts—use your cookie cutter—to fit on top of the pineapple hearts, top with whipped cream and nuts, and put a cherry on top, if you like. This, by the way, is an especially nice dessert for Valentine Day.

* * *

FRUIT PASTE—Put a cup of seedless raisins, a cup of stoned dates, a cup of figs, two cups of mixed nuts through the food chopper and mix with enough pulverized sugar to make a paste sufficiently firm to roll. Knead as bread. Roll a half-inch thick and cut in squares. Dust with sugar. Line a tin box with waxed paper and put a piece of the paper between each layer. This paste will keep for a long time.

* * *

CUP PUDDING—For each person allow one tablespoon of the following ingredients: Flour, butter, milk, currants and sugar. And allow one egg for each three persons. Put the flour in a mixing bowl with a pinch of salt, together with sugar and currants. Melt the butter, pour it in, add the milk and beaten egg. Mix very well together. Butter little individual cups or molds, and bake until nicely brown. Or, of you like, turn out on a saucer and pour a vanilla sauce around the pudding. It is good either hot or cold.

* * *

ROE SAUCE—Cook fresh roe in salted water, to which a teaspoon of vinegar has been added, about 20 minutes. Remove membrane and mash or dice. Melt ¼ cup butter, add 1 teaspoon grated onion and cook about 5 minutes. Add roe and sprinkle with 2 tablespoons flour, and when well blended add 1-3 cup cream. Cook gently about 5 minutes, add 2 egg yolks and season with salt, pepper and lemon juice.

* * *

RHUBARB TAPIOCA—Cook together in a double boiler for 15 minutes, ½ cup minute tapioca, ½ teaspoon salt and 1½ cups boiling water, stirring occasionally. Add 3 cups rhubarb cut in small pieces and 1¼ cups sugar. Cook until rhubarb is soft and tapioca is clear. Remove from heat, pour into serving glasses and chill. Serve with whipped cream.

* * *

BREAD AND BUTTER PUDDING—Cut a small stale loaf of bread in half-inch slices, removing the end crusts. Spread each slice with butter and arrange in buttered baking dish, buttered side down. To three slightly beaten eggs add one-half cup sugar, one-quarter teaspoon salt, and one quart milk. Strain and pour over the bread; let stand for 30 minutes. Bake one hour in a slow oven, covering the dish during the first half hour of baking. Serve with hard sauce.

* * *

Melt ½ cup shortening, add ½ cup cold water, and mix with ¾ teaspoon baking powder, 1¼ cups flour and ¼ teaspoon salt to a smooth dough. Turn on floured board. Cut in two pieces, roll thin to fit plate. Place one on pie tin, sprinkle with bread crumbs if fruit filling is juicy.

Now add the filling, brush the edge with cold water or the white of an egg. Cut slits in top crust and prick with fork. Lay over the filling, press edges together and trim. Bake in quick oven until brown and crisp.

* * *

TO make a chocolate pie, stir 4 egg yolks with one cup of sugar for 15 minutes. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla, ¼ pound sweet, grated chocolate and mix well. Then add a little milk and the whites of the eggs beaten stiff. Fill the pie dough and bake. Cover with whipped cream before serving.

For delicious cocoanut pie, beat three egg yolks, ½ cup sugar, and a speck of salt. Add the whites beaten until light, and stir in two cups of scalded milk. Bake in deep pieplate with an undercrust only. If you prefer, mix ½ tablespoon cornstarch with the sugar and use only two eggs.

Meetings will be held throughout the day. The Rev. Ralph Brainard Urmy will speak at the night service. During the past year the congregation remodeled the edifice.

France Again Bars Unvaccinated

LE HAVRE, France, April 19.—(AP.)—The deputy mayor of the city yesterday decreed that all persons landing from England must have certificates of vaccination within the last six months or submit to vaccination before landing. Despite the fact that the national ban has been suspended, he took action under authority of the law of 1885 giving such power to mayors of port cities.

The deputy mayor said that the reason for his decree was that the smallpox epidemic in England was "violent" and might result fatally to France if urgent measures were not taken.

Florida Asks Aid in Fruit Fly Fight

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., April 19.—(AP.)—While state troops guarded the highways against the transportation of infested fruit and entomologists continued their close inspection of citrus groves, the Florida Citrus Growers' Clearing House Association yesterday appealed to President Hoover for aid in eradicating the Mediterranean fruit fly.

Asserting that the pest, which thrives on 71 of 80 fruit and vegetable grown in Florida, constitutes a menace to all the Southern and Southwestern states, Judge Allen E. Walker, president of the clearing house, telegraphed to the President that additional Federal aid was needed.

EX-PIRATES PROMINENT IN MAJORS

ON paper it looks like a foolhardy defiance of the baseball fates to send a left-hand pitcher against the Chicago Cubs, who have only one southside hitter in their lineup, and in view of yesterday's disastrous results it is not surprising that the second-guessers have been training their ever-ready guns upon Manager Donie Bush. They would have concurred in Bush's judgment if the Bucs had got away with the game, but, as it is, though they were 468 miles away from the scene of the game, they are insisting today that he should have pitched Joe Dawson or Carmen Hill.

Charley Grimm

However, there are many who will accept the crushing defeat as merely one of baseball's adverse breaks, and who will commend Bush for the courage he showed in taking a chance with a fork-hander, in whom he thought he had a winner for the day, knowing that he would be criticized in the event of failure. A good pitcher is a good pitcher, whether he is right-handed or left-handed, and regardless of the kind of attack he is facing. Petty is not an ordinary left-hander, but a star like Pennock, and wasn't a bad bet. He may prove that point against the Cubs before the season is over. Yesterday he was merely unfortunate in encountering the Bruins while they were on a continuation of the hitting spree they started the day before. Probably they would have beaten right-handers just as easily.

AND before charging Bush with throwing away the game by starting a southpaw against a lineup that had eight right-hand hitters in it, don't overlook the fact that it was Chicago's only left-hand hitter, the one supposed to be least dangerous under the circumstances, who did the greatest damage.

The blow that really put the Pirates out of the game was Charley Grimm's home run with the bases full in the third inning. Grimm is the only southside swinger in the Bruin lineup, and Stephenson was walked purposely in order to bring him up.

That shows how little the most carefully laid dope is worth if one pitch happens to go wrong. No alibis can be offered for the loss of two straight games in which the Cubs made 24 runs and 28 hits, Pitts's three runs and nine hits, indicating that the Bucs are off in both pitching and hitting, but here's a sample of the way things are breaking for the Pirates: In two straight days Charley Grimm made two home runs. That's as many as he made during the entire season of 1927, and last year he made only five.

IT didn't take Babe Ruth long to resume his favorite pastime of knocking the ball out of the playing field. The Bambino made the earliest start possible in resuming operations for 1929 in the manufacture of home runs by poling out a four-baser in his first time at bat in the Yankees' opening game yesterday.

That home run stands out a little beyond the average Ruthian circuit clout, as it marks Babe's start on the lap that is expected to carry him this year to the goal of 500 homers, a mark never before approached by any player in major league history.

Babe Ruth

THERE is hardly any doubt that unless Ruth falls far below normal in his slugging or is kept out of the game for a long period by illness or injury he will reach the 500 mark during the present season. Yesterday's homer gave him a total of 471, so that he needs only 29 more to boost his figures to half a thousand. In only year during the last nine has the Bambino made less than 30 homers in a season, that failure having been recorded in 1925 when the best he could do was to turn in 25 round-trippers. Following is Ruth's complete major league home-run record: 1914, 0; 1915, 4; 1916, 3; 1917, 2; 1918, 11; 1919, 29; 1920, 54; 1921, 59; 1922, 35; 1923, 41; 1924, 46; 1925, 25; 1926, 47; 1927, 60; 1928, 54; 1929, 1. Total, 471. The highest number of homers ever made by one player in the National League stands at 234, amassed by Cy Williams, of the Phillies, in 17 years of play.

PERHAPS the loss of spring training had nothing to do with it, but Paul Waner began the season far out of his usual batting stride. In the first three games, Paul made only one hit in 11 times at bat, an average of only .091. On the other hand, brother Lloyd hit safely in all of the first three games, collecting four blows in 11 trips to the plate for an average of .364.

Barring Pie Traynor's strong hitting in the opener, and his success in getting one more safe in yesterday's affair, Lloyd Waner was the only Pirate not in a batting slump in the first three contests of the campaign. Sparky Adams went hitless in the three games and Charley Hargreave failed to connect in the two numbers in which he was behind the plate.

SPORT followers in general and horse-racing devotees in particular are sympathizing with Edward H. (Snapper) Garrison, famous jockey of four decades ago. A burglar broke into his home in Brooklyn the other night and robbed him of the turf trophies that had been his pride for many years.

Snapper Garrison

It was Garrison's deeds that gave to the sports world the widely used term of "Garrison Finish." He earned the nickname of "The Snapper" by his wild and reckless finishes on the track, and the frequency with which he won seemingly lost races by coming from behind with a great burst of speed in daring in the last few seconds gave birth to the term of "Garrison finish."

ACCORDING to descriptions given by such a veteran turf authority as W. C. Vreeland, Garrison, with cap reversed, whip raised on high and face distorted like that of a savage about to crash a tomahawk on an enemy's head, made his backers jump with excitement and fairly paralyzed his jockey rivals with fear as he swooped down upon them. That was the kind of surprise he gave his opponents when he won the American Derby on Boundless at Washington Park in Chicago in 1893. Previously he had crashed home first in the same way in the Suburban Handicap on Raceland in New York in 1889. His greatest victory was scored on Eurus, at Monmouth Park, when he jammed his mount between two other horses near the finish in order to keep him from swerving and won in the last stride.

FORMER Pirates were outstanding performers in the severe defeats handed to the Bucs by the Cubs Wednesday and yesterday. Hazen Cuyler, Charley Grimm and Fred Blake all played prominent parts in downing their old comrades. Several other ex-Pirates also broke into the box scores yesterday for the first time this season.

Emil Yde did a bit of relief pitching for the Tigers; Roy Spencer finished the game for Muddy Ruel behind the bat for the Senators; Johnny Miljus pitched a victory and made a pair of two-baggers for the Indians; Glenn Wright came up a pinch-hitter for the Robins and rallied to deliver; so did Max Carey and Johnny Gooch; Earl Smith caught for the Cardinals; Hal Rhyne appeared in the Red Sox lineup;

STABLE BOYS HEROES IN STAMPEDE

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., April 19.—(INS.)—Fifteen thoroughbred racers were cremated, and another, Adrianna G, was destroyed, when it broke a leg in collision with an automobile, in the spectacular fire which swept a public stable at the racetrack last night.

At 9 a. m. track officials had counted and identified 15 dead of the 28 mounts that were thrown into panic when flames spurted from the section occupied by the A. E. Applegate stables.

Frank Kopel, stable boy for H. P. Whitney, asleep in the Applegate compartment, escaped by leaping through the flames to the back of Dress Ship and escaping out doors. He returned with other stable men and rescued the remaining 13 horses from the burning stable. It was believed at first Kopel had perished.

Charles Wolf, attendant in the Denham section, adjoining that of the Applegate compartment, said he was sleeping.

"I was awakened by a terrific explosion and saw flames shooting across into my stable," he said. "Everything was in confusion. The horses were rearing and some broke loose from their halters and started a stampede around the track."

OIL STOVE EXPLODES

Wolf believes "an oil stove or something must have exploded in the Applegate quarters."

Adrianna G., maddened by the flames and smoke, dashed from the grounds out into Philadelphia road an was struck by an automobile. Its leg was broken and it was shot.

The Whitney stables suffered no losses. Firemen confined the flames to the structure used as a community stable for C. E. Applegate, Mrs. H. D. Cox, William W. Benham and J. J. Keath.

Fire companies from six towns were called.

DEAD HORSES LISTED

Parchesi, Arno and Hijo, owned by Mrs. H. C. Cox.

Shasta Klan, owned by A. E. Applegate.

Lass O'Gowrie, owned by James McNally.

Total damage was estimated at approximately $100,000, of which $30,000 was represented in horseflesh.

The flames made a clean sweep of McNally's fortunes. He was asleep in the stable with his only horse, Lass O'Gowrie, who was to run today in the third race, at $1,200 claiming canter. McNally had just borrowed $500 and had $60 more of his own, all to bet on his horse. The flames awoke him, overcame the horse and forced him out on the track penniless and unclad.

SCHOOL NINES CLASH TODAY

The scholastic baseball season in the Pittsburgh district will be opened today with City Senior and Junior League and W. P. I. A. L. games heading the inaugural program.

In a non-league fray, Shady Side Academy will be host to the Catholic High nine.

MOSE BUTCH

Oakland youth of 18, who reached the finals in the bantamweight class in the recent National A. A. U. senior boxing championships at Boston and will compete in the National junior competition in the new Chicago Stadium next week.

AS SUN-TELEGRAPH HUSTLER

Here is young Mose Butch in one of his favorite roles, that of newsboy for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. He will be on the job at Forbes Field throughout the baseball season. At the right is Joe Fenton, circulation supervisor in the Oakland district, who counts Mose as one of his proteges. Mose lives in Boquet street and has four brothers and two sisters and his father and mother are living. He has had 40 bouts, losing only a few of them, and is one of the best amateurs developed here in years. He is a southpaw and boxes under the direction of Jack Metz, Willow Club coach. Upon his return from Boston, Mose was tendered a testimonial dinner by his admirers in the St. Lorenzo Society.

HEIDELBERG, MAGYARS SET FOR BATTLE

By TOM BIRKS.

With the Cleveland Magyars announcing that its strongest lineup will oppose Heidelberg in the Western final of the national amateur cup in the Stadium tomorrow, local enthusiasm is reaching fever heat as Western Pennsylvania fans talk regarding the possibilities of the Buckeye invaders eliminating the Green and Gold team from the national race.

That the greatest crowd of the season at a soccer game in the district is assured, when the teams take the field, the Duquesne University gridiron squad with its famous coach, Elmer Layden, will be there rooting for Capt. Buff Donnelli, and since Cleveland soccer critics claim that the great Hoffman is going to watch America's best goalgetter, things ought to be interesting.

Then the Pitt squad intends to take in the game. Coach Jock Sutherland of the Panthers began his football life on the soccer field. Many years ago Jock played outside left with the Ambridge club. The famous Heidelberg booster aggregation will be formed again for this battle, and with the Magyars bringing down a large delegation, a fine rooting duel should be staged.

HAVE STRONG TEAM

Pittsburghers will see a great soccer club when the Cleveland team gets going. Sziga, the inside left, is a great offensive player, and the writer feels that he compares with any man in the country. Built like Buff Donnelli, Sziga plows through the opposition and does not stand on ceremony. That Heidelberg will have to change its backfield following that mess at Heidelberg last Sunday is assumed. Berky Jones will partner Villani, and Bill O'Donnell will probably be in the middle line.

Many Pittsburghers fear that for the first time Heidelberg will be beaten in Pittsburgh in a cup tie. The Clevelanders have a great offense, and its defense with Hoffman at fullback, will test Donnelli's scoring ability. Russell played halfback in the game last season, and was the stumbling block for the Green and Gold.

Fans coming down from the Buckeye State feel this is the Magyar year. The Forest City boys have been trying to win the national amateur cup for five years, each time the club had gone into the final rounds, but lost out. Hoffman has rebuilt the club this year, and should Heidelberg fail Pittsburgh for the first time, then it is a surety that Hoffman's great machine will defeat Newark in the game to be played in Cleveland.

WILL BE BATTLE

But it is going to be a battle of giants. This is the first time in

WILLIE DAVIES BOXES RODGERS TONIGHT

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

A couple of young fellows trying to get along in the world and hoping for something in the way of a "break," will do the main brawling in the Moose Temple ring tonight. They are Willie Davies, of Charleroi, and Jackie Rodgers, of the North Side.

Willie Davies

Within the last week, each has had occasion to believe the world is against him. Rodgers whipped Tommy Milton, of New York, to a frazzle in the Moose Temple last Friday night, but received only a draw in the decision, while Davies apparently had an edge over Midget Wolgast, of Philadelphia, in a widely-ballyhooed setto in the Jolly Bowl, at New Castle, last Monday night, only to have the decision go against him.

One of the two should be happy after tonight's affair. It is hardly likely that both will come off with the wrong end of whatever reward may be passed out for good and meritorious conduct in the ring. It will be their second meeting, incidentally. Davies won the first, at Johnstown, at a time when Rodgers was just beginning to attract notice. Jackie has come along a long way since then.

EIGHT-ROUND SEMI-FINAL

An eight-round semi-final between Johnny Smackey, of Canonsburg, and Johnny Michaels, of the North Side, or somewhere, heads the preliminary bill in the Moose ring. This pair fought two weeks ago in the same place, and, much to the surprise of the fans, Michaels smacked Smackey around plenty in all but the last round, but Smackey got the decision. A rematch was in order, and Smackey, a slow starter, held out for the eight-round route, making this the first semi-final of more than six rounds ever staged by Promoter Flynn.

Frank Monroe, of Fair Haven, and Chuck Zelnack, of Glassport, hard-socking light-heavies, are down for the second bout, and Billy Dacey, of the Hill, and Bob Concrete, of the East End, also big fellows, open the show.

"His footwork is like that of Carpentier. He plays the ropes like a Corbett. He punches like Dempsey and thinks as fast as Tunney." Perhaps you've never heard of this great fighter. He is K. O. Kelly, Negro welterweight, of Akron, according to a clipping thus describing him, sent by his manager, Joe Bascoe. It hardly seems possible that Kelly can be that good, but, then, you know, clippings don't lie.

Murderer's Row Of Cubs Has .387 Average

CHICAGO, April 19.—(AP.)—Joe McCarthy's "murderers' row," composed of Kiki Cuyler, Rogers Hornsby, Hack Wilson, Riggs Stephenson and Charley Grimm, has hung up a composite batting average of .387 in three games against Pittsburgh.

Wilson is leading with a .500 average.

PETTY'S WORK DISAPPOINTING TO BUCS

By Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, April 19.—Pirate pitchers have passed Rogers Hornsby seven times in the three games played to date. None of the passes were intentional, Riggs Stephenson drawing the only purposed pass of the series, just before Grimm found the range on the bleachers yesterday.

Jess Petty hasn't shown much in the past month, and his performance of yesterday was not such a big surprise to many observers. His pitching on the barnstorming trip that followed the stay at Paso Robles was just mediocre.

Petty says he likes to work against righthand batters. His idea seemed to hold good in the case where Riggs Stephenson was passed to bring Lefty Grimm to the plate as first base was open. A pass here was good baseball with any kind of a hitter coming to the barrier, as packed bases mean a force play at every station. As long as there were runners at third and second it didn't make much difference about putting another on the sacks. But Lefty spilled the beans with his second four-sacker of the season.

CUBS MAKE SIX

Six homers have been struck by the Cubs to date and five of 'em have gone into the short rightfield seats. With Hornsby being somewhat of a rightfield hitter it would not be surprising if a record number of four-sackers were unloaded in these seats this year.

Hornsby is not a one-field batter by any means. The kingpin swatter of the league developed a habit of swinging late when the Cardinals moved from their old park to the American League field in St.

PLADNER LOSES BY LOW BLOW

PARIS, April 19.—(AP.)—Frankie Genaro, of New York, won on a foul in the fifth round of his 15-round match with Spider Pladner, of France, claimant of the world's flyweight title, here last night. It was an unsatisfactory ending to an unsatisfactory bout, and Genaro got from it little revenge for his one-round knockout defeat at Pladner's hands March 2.

Spider Pladner.

The Frenchman was leading by a wide margin when he struck the New Yorker low with two punches. Genaro had taken the first round, but Pladner appeared to have the edge in all the others.

Although leading on points, Pladner appeared in poor condition. His successful effort to make the flyweight limit of 112 pounds had told on him. He looked drawn and pale and his punches lacked steam.

FINAL BATTLE IN CHICAGO POSTPONED

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.
Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, April 19.—(AP.)—The final battle of the four games scheduled between the Pittsburgh Pirates and Chicago Cubs here this afternoon was called off on account of rain. The game will be played off on June 24, an open date for both teams.

The Pirates will leave tonight for Cincinnati where they are scheduled to meet the Reds in a three-game series. Tuesday they arrive home to await the opener at Forbes Field Wednesday afternoon with the Cubs as the attraction. Next Tuesday is an open date for the Corsairs.

When the Pirates landed here they were informed quite forcibly by the papers that Marse Joe had four terrific clouters in Cuyler, Hornsby, Wilson and Stephenson, who were supposed to make up the Chicago wrecking crew. The local scribes, without malice of forethought, omitted the name of Charles (Lefty) Grimm, but the score sheet today shows Lefty out in front of his four compatriots in the rude art of socking the rocket.

The hammer-and-tongs attack unleashed by the Cubs yesterday resulted in another overwhelming defeat for the Pirates, this time the score being 11 to 1. And the former Pirate first-sacker uncorked the biggest clap of thunder when he drove out one of those cleanup homers. Lefty sank the ball into the right field seats in the third with three of his pals on the cushions and two out.

PETTY HIT HARD

Jess Petty, making his first start as a Buccaneer, was the victim of Grimm's belt and the resultant defeat. The Silver Fox jumped off like a real pitcher, but he was soon like putty in the hands of the home boys. Larry French, costly Portland rookie who flings with the left hand, also made his debut in this battle. French went to the rescue of Petty as Big Jess floundered in the fifth. The youngster prevailed until the finish despite terrible support. The Pirates committed four errors of the hand some others that do not reach the box score.

In view of the de luxe pitching of one Sheriff Blake from down West Virginny was, the Buccos didn't have much chance to win at any cost, but they would have made a better showing if their pitching and infield had not folded up like an old-fashioned satchel.

The Sheriff held the Buccos to four hits and in a general way performed like a star. It was a setup for Blake after Grimm's cleanup punch of the third round.

WILSON AIDS GRIMM

Another Pittsburgh district boy rose up to plague the Pirates in the person of Lewis (Hack) Wilson. Sturdy Hack slammed a homer into the center field seats in the fifth with Hornsby on the runways. This was the wallop that sent the Silver Fox scurrying to the safety at the club house.

A good time was had by about 13,000 Cub supporters who found the breezes somewhat warmer, although the day was not ideal for baseball by any means.

Sparky Adams played terrible ball in the short field and there was an absence to snap in the play of the whole club.

Manager Bush may be expected to take drastic means to change the picture unless his players give a beter account of themselves. One bad beating is not noticed, but no pilot likes to see a good club founder around the way the Pirates did yesterday.

CY ADVISES BOYS

PHILADELPHIA, April 19.—(AP.)—Cy Williams, veteran Phillies' outfielder, is long on base hits but mighty short on radio talks. Cy was scheduled for a 10-minute talk over WELK on "Advice to Boys with Big League Ambitions." His advice was "obey the Ten Commandments and hustle."

H. MAYBERRY VICTOR IN POOR BOUT

Howard Mayberry, Donora, and Marty Gold, Philadelphia Hebrew, went through 10 listless and uninteresting rounds last night at the Palisades, McKeesport, and at the termination of the bout, Mayberry, who won at least seven of the rounds, was acclaimed the winner. There was not a live moment during the entire fight, mainly because of Gold's unwilling attitude towards mixing it. During the 10 rounds, Mayberry did practically all of the leading and landed the cleane blows, and also excelled in the infighting.

BOUT LACKS THRILLS

The fight was one of the poorest of the season at the Tube City arena. Before it was half over, cries of "stop it" and "throw 'em out," rent the air and the fans were justified in voicing their disapproval.

During the early part of the fight, Mayberry seemed reluctant to come out of his shell, being content to cover and allow Gold's wild lefts and rights to land on his arm or back.

Gold got away to a nice start when he took the first two rounds by nice margins. He kept peppering Mayberry with his left and while it did not carry enough power to break an egg, he landed it nevertheless, countering nicely as the Donora fighter came in.

Mayberry took the lead with the start of the third round and from that time on, won as he pleased. Neither boy landed any damaging blows, while most of the fighting was done in the clinches. The weights were announced as Mayberry, 117; Gold, 115.

BEATTY BEATS GUIDO

The semi-final bout of the evening was the best bout on the card and it saw Allan Beatty, McKeesport Negro slugger, take the decision of both judges and the referee over Young Guido, classy Youngstown boxer. Several months ago, Beatty scored a two-round knockout victory over Guido and the Youngstown Italian was all set to avenge that defeat last night. However, he found Beatty a willing mixer and a hard puncher.

The McKeesport slugger did most of the leading and also landed the harder blows. Until the fourth round, the bout was even, but from then on, Beatty, by some hard punches to the head and stomach, took the edge. The fourth round was the best of the bout and both boys landed frequently with hard puiches throughout this session.

SALA WHIPS CARTER

Lee Sala, of Donora, weighing 160¼, won the decision over Billy Carter, Negro fighter of Connellsville, weighing 154, in the second bout. This was a real slugging match, with Sala landing practically all of the harder blows.

Joe Todd, of Charleroi, won the referee's decision over Jack McCarthy, of Pittsburgh, in the six-round opener, after the judges had disagreed as to the winner. Todd weighed 147, while McCarthy scaled 149.

RODGERS MEETS WILLIE DAVIES

an early lead in their bout at Motor Square Garden last week, will get a chance to redeem himself in one of the four-round preliminaries at the Garden next Monday night. He will meet Eddie Brannon, young Negro mixer, of the Hill. Paddy has boxed main bouts at the smaller clubs, and hails originally from Chicago. He belongs in a top or near top spot, but readily agreed to go on anywhere on the program to prove to the fans that they did not see him at his best against Hargraves. Phil Goldstein and Ray Newton meet in a return bout in the 10-round main event, and there will be another four-round bout and two six-rounders.

Steve Smith, the Bridgeport, Conn. featherweight, who boxes Andy Martin in the New Castle Jolly Bowl next Tuesday night, is a Hungarian with an iron jaw. Benny Bass has socked him in two bouts without making much of an impression on him, and Steve also has tasted the best punches of Harry Blitman and Honey Boy Finnegan.

Despite all of the counter claims to the services of Max Schmeling, it is a good bet that when he fights again in New York, it will be for the new Coliseum Club, with its 18,000 seating capacity. This club has a contract signed by Max Buelow, Schmeling's German manager, who is the only man recognized by the New York commission. The Madison Square Garden and Dempsey-Fugazy interests are running bad seconds in the bidding for the German ace.

Kid Chocolate's next appearance will be against Vic Burrone, in the St. Nicholas arena, New York, next Monday night.

MADISON SQUARE READY

Madison Square Garden, New York, will be available again for boxing next Friday night, following a long shutdown, because it has been housing the Ringling Brothers circus. Tony Canzoneri will meet a substitute for Bud Taylor, in the main event. The following Friday night, Al Singer and Ignacio Fernandez will box the main bout of a show for the benefit of the Bronx Hospital.

Russie LeRoy and Al Wolgast, a brother of the famous Ad, will box at Janesville, Wis., next Tuesday night.

Bruce Flowers and Bucky Boyle are matched for a 10-round bout in Philadelphia next Monday night. Maxie Rosenbloom is paired with Joe Anderson, an old rival, at Cincinnati, Wednesday night, and Johnny Grosso, New York heavyweight, meets Marty Gallagher, at Baltimore, April 29.

The Joe Dundee-Al Mello fight, in Boston, last Friday night, was a financial fizzle. It netted $25,000, and each of the principals received $10,000. It was a charity affair, but when all the expenses were paid, there was a deficit instead of a profit. Mello holds two victories over Dundee, and is to be rematched with him for a title fight.

GOLF AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

Answered By

LAURIE AYTON

Always a consistent place winner in the big tournaments—Famed for his accuracy and steadiness under fire.

I believe that the attempt to get distance out of traps and bunkers is an unwise thing for the average golfer to do. Play for position when trapped; play safe. Usually the one stroke which will be used in playing a safe shot out of a trap will save two or three others which must often be used when the average player attempts to get distance from a difficult lie. Of course, if the match depends on a difficult shot from the trap, take every chance to make that shot, but in the ordinary round of play remember the old golfing motto about shots from traps, "Better safe than sorry."

NET FAVORITES IN SEMI-FINALS

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., April 19.—(AP.)—Favorites came through to the semi-finals in the men's singles of the ninth annual Mason and Dixon tennis championship.

The four survivors are John Hennessey of Indianapolis, Wilmer Allison of Fort Worth, Texas, Frank Hunter, of New Rochelle, N. Y., and John Van Ryn of Orange, N. J. Hennessey and Allison will battle in one half of the semi-final today while Hunter engages Van Ryn.

British Jockey Club Amends Rules

NEW MARKET, England, April 19.—(AP.)—The Jockey Club has amended its rules so that nominations for horse races will not be voided by the death of the nominator. The change in the rules is effective May 9.

The alteration of the rules is due to a friendly action brought against the Jocky Club by Edgar Wallace, the action establishing that forfeits in such cases could be recovered.

In the past the rule has prevented many famous horses from starting in important races. The 1927 derby winner, Frank Curzon's Call Boy was prevented from competing in the St. Leger at Doncaster, because of the death of his owner.

It Seems There Were Two "Sailor Jacks"

Sailor Jack Wills, of the North Side, former Navy wrestling champion, reports that he has been considerably embarrassed by a case of mistaken identity whereby he has been connected with another "Sailor Jack," who recently was sent to jail here for robbery.

Wills is a tattoo artist and says his business has been injured by the mixup and he wishes to be set straight.

Waynesburg Plans Marathon Derby

WAYNESBURG, Pa., April 19.—Greene County may have a bunion derby, on Independence Day, if present plans for an Independence Day celebration by the James Farrell Post of the American Legion go through.

The Legion members plan to stage a cross-country marathon from Carmichaels to Waynesburg over the same route used by Pyle's runners on their lap from Uniontown to Waynesburg.

Tigers Name Ice, Swim Captains

PRINCETON, N. J., April 19.—(AP.)—Captains for Princeton's hockey and swimming teams for next season were selected yesterday.

Warren S. Adams, 21, of Newton, Mass., a junior, was named to lead the Tiger sextet. He has played an outstanding game at right defense on the varsity for the past two years.

Captaining the Nassau swimmers will be John H. Brooks, also a junior, of Scranton, Pa. During the past season Brooks won the intercollegiate diving championship. He also is manager of the varsity football team.

BECK NAMED MATCHMAKER FOR BOWL

Official announcement was made by the Meyers brothers, of Braddock, that Jules Beck, Motor Square Garden matchmaker, has been signed to act in the capacity of matchmaker for the new Meyers Bowl in North Braddock, which will be thrown open to the public May 20.

Beck will get to work immediately on his first show. He is angling for a windup bout between Benny Bass, of Philadelphia, former featherweight champion, and Andy Martin, of Boston, as his first main bout.

The McKeesport Boxing Club will stage two 10-round bouts and two six-rounders as its weekly show next Thursday night. Teddy Welch, of McKeesport, and Frankie Stellmack, of Cleveland, have been matched for one of the feature numbers.

MANY BOUTS TONIGHT

Bouts scheduled around the country tonight include: Izzy Schwartz vs. Pablo Dano, the Filipino, at San Francisco; Al Singer vs. Patsy Ruffalo and Tommy Grogan vs. Johnny Mellow, Detroit; Eddie Shea vs. Andy Martin, Eddie Anderson vs. Jake Zeramby, Harry Blitman vs. Hendy Jnco, Johnny Drew vs. Emory Cabana and Benny (Kid) Carter vs. Eddie Curley, 10 rounds each, Boston; Con O'Kelly vs. Jim Maloney, Joey LaGrey vs. Vince Dundee, and Tony Vaccarelli vs. Vincent Sireci, Coliseum, New York, and Tony Fuente vs. Tiny De Bolt, Erie.

K. O. (Phil) Kaplan, erstwhile welterweight and middleweight, makes his debut as a light-heavyweight against Jimmy Roberts, at the Olympia A. C., New York, tomorrow night.

California Hails Fields as Champ

SAN FRANCISCO, April 19.—(AP.)—Jackie Fields, one of the greatest welterweights ever developed on the Pacific Coast, strengthened his claim to the world welterweight title when the California Boxing Commission voted to recognize him as champion in this state.

After a short discussion yesterday, the commission ruled that Fields hereafter will displace Joe Dundee as the recognized titleholder. Records were produced to show that Ancil Hoffman, fight promoter, has made numerous offers to Dundee to defend his title here against Fields and that Dundee has repeatedly ignored the offer.

The action gives the Los Angeles boxer titular recognition in 28 states, as the National Boxing Association already has named him champion in the 27 states with commissions affiliated with its organization.

Kaplan, Wallace Signed for Bout

NEW YORK, April 19.—(INS.)—Tom McArdle, Madison Square Garden matchmaker, announces the signing of Billy Wallace, Cleveland lightweight, and Toms (Kid) Kaplan, of Meriden, Conn., former featherweight champion, as headliners for his May 10 show. He also has paired Otto Von Porat, Chicago heavyweight, and K. O. Christner, of Akron, as semi-finalists on the milk fund card at the Yankee Stadium, June 27.

15-Round Bouts Sought in Illinois

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 19.—(AP.)—Championship professional boxing matches in Illinois would be extended from 10 to 15 rounds under a bill being considered by the legislature.

The bill was introduced by Rep. Albert J. Macin, Chicago, who contends fans do not get their money's worth in a 10-round championship bout. Passage of the bill has been recommended by the committee.

YANKEES DRILL AT SANDWICH

LONDON, April 19.—(INS.)—The members of the American Ryder Cup golf team, who took their first workout of the year on British soil yesterday in a practice round on the St. George's links at Sandwich, are fast becoming accustomed to a wind-swept course. Most of them also played well with the wooden-shafted club required in England.

Joe Turnesa had the best score, a 72. Ed Dudley and Walter Hagen had 73s and Al Espinosa and Gene Sarazen had 74 each. Leo Diegel and Johnny Farrell were next with 75 apiece. Horton Smith, of Joplin, Mo., the six-foot "baby" of the team, took a 76. He has not become accustomed to hickory-shafted clubs.

WOMEN BOWLERS TO DINE

The Young Women's Bible Class Bowling League of the Sheridan Presbyterian Church will hold its annual banquet at the Hotel Henry tonight. A theater party will be held after the dinner.

BOWLERS FAIL TO SCORE HIGH

The bowlers in the American Duckpin Congress' second tournament, who rolled last night, failed to continue the high scoring of Wednesday, only fair marks being made.

In the team event, the Murphys, of Millvade, rolled a 2,046, and the Johnstown Smilers a 2,017. There were no scores above 901 in the doubles, the Lauder-Mathsick combination recording this total. Carothers and Pnigteller scored 884; Templin and Koehler, 848; Johns and Mardson, 834; Profozvich and Wolfram, 806; Jones and Williams, 804, and Kifer and Bloss, 811.

In the singles, Kifer had a 556 for top honors. Wolfram rolled 534; Pnigteller, 520; Koehler, 490; Johns, 453, and Mathsick, 464.

Aurman and Zabra scored a 775 in the women's doubles, and Zabra led in the singles with 366. Law recorded a 359; Aurman, a 310, and Keyser, a 292.

Lid-Lifter Crowds Smallest in Years

NEW YORK, April 19.—(INS.)—The attendance total of 169,500 persons for the eighth opening major league baseball games this season is the lowest in several years. Although 40,000 fans turned out for the delayed inaugural between the New York Yankees and the Boston Red Sox yesterday, only 5,000 saw the Boston Braves open against Brooklyn at the Hub, and the New York Giants and Phillies to only 6,000 at Philadelphia.

OUTFIELDER CLARK LOST TO BRAVES

BOSTON, April 19.—(INS.)—The Boston Braves have lost the services of Earl Clark, youthful center fielder, for at least three weeks. He crashed into the metal fence while chasing a fly in yesterday's inaugural with Brooklyn and suffered a concussion of the brain.

Fair Bowlers Second In Duckpin Tourney

The Fair bowling team, of the South Side, moved into second place in the five men event of the Market Square duckpin tournament yesterday when it rolled a total of 2444 pins, 54 less than that made by the Kibitzers, of the North Side, who are setting the pace at present.

Pete Furman, of the Liberty Nationals, took the lead in the singles with 591, getting 253 in his third games. Britts and Dubski rolled 1101 in the doubles. They turned in the best game of the tourney to date when they got 458.

Yorktown 5,000-1 Choice in Derby

NEW YORK, April 19.—(AP.)—If Yorktown wins the Kentucky Derby at Louisville on May 18, Tom Shaw, betting commissioner, will lose $500,000. In his future book on the Derby, Shaw quoted Yorktown at 5,000 to 1 against. A customer came in later to wager $100 at that price.

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 19.—The Greensburg Generals baseball club has signed Hun Burt, Pittsburgh boy, to play third base. Burt played with the Blairsville club part of the 1928 season and should greatly strengthen the locals in hitting.

MASSEY BEATS SUGGS

MACKS, YANKEES RENEW OLD FEUD TODAY

By LES CONKLIN.
International News Service.

NEW YORK, April 19.—New attendance records are expected to be set in the series between the world champion New York Yankees and the Philadelphia Athletics, their leading rival for the American League pennant, which starts here today and continues over the week-end. Ruth and Gehrig pulled their hit-and-walk play at the opener yesterday and the Mackmen, fresh from two wins over the Senators, also are packing a punch calculated to bring out the fans.

RUTH GETS NO. 1

Ruth, who had hit only one four-base clout all spring up to last Saturday, came through with his initial homer of the official season in his very first time at bat, and narrowly missed another later on. The blushing bridegroom's new batting stance is already paying dividends, as he carefully placed the homer into the left field stand.

Although Pipgras walked nine men, he and Heimach held the Red Sox to three hits and the Yanks were not pressed to win a 7-to-2 count.

A six-run rally in the fifth was the big noise of the Mackmen's 8-to-2 win over Washington. The Nats couldn't fathom Rube Walberg.

The St. Louis Browns aren't hitting a lick, but thanks to their pitchers, they lead all other clubs in victories with three. Ogden was the white-haired boy yesterday, holding the White Sox to six hits and winning 4-to-1. Ted Lyons yielded only five bingles, but Lu Blue's homer and double ruined him.

CUBS ADD ANOTHER

The heavy-hitting Cubs massacred the Pirates again, 11-to-1. Hack Wilson continued his terrific slugging with a home run and two other hits, and Grimm contributed his second homer of the season. Sheriff Blake held the Bucs to four hits, while Jess Petty, new Pirate southpaw had nothing.

The Giants also showed great batting power in outslugging the Phillies, 11 to 9. New York scored six runs and the Phils five in a wild ninth inning. Lefty O'Doul, Quaker outfielder, did his best in an effort to beat his former mates by socking two homers.

Brooklyn gave a masterly exhibition of how to throw away base hits and collect errors. The Robins made three home runs and outbatted the Braves, 19 to 12, but managed to finish on the short end of a 13 to 12 nightmare.

With Haines on the mound the Cardinals downed Cincinnati, 3 to 1, for their second win in three days.

John (Wild) Miljus, former Pittsburgh pitcher, walked eight men, but made good with Cleveland by taming the Tigers, 8 to 4. Don Luis Fonseca delivered four hits and stole three bases.

Bobby Pusch Star Of Beaver Squad

BEAVER, Pa., April 19.—Another member of the Pusch family is carrying the burden of Beaver athletic teams. Succeeding his brother, Fred, now a star at Grove City College, is young Bobby Pusch, 142 pounds of trim young athlete and record holder in the pole vault at 11 feet 1⅝ inches. Bobby is the lone letterman on the Beaver track squad this year and its captain. He was also captain of the basketball team last winter, which done better than Beaver teams have for years.

This spring Pusch is not confining his activity to the pole vault. He is branching out just as his brother did and taking in several other events.

Italian Champion Enters Auto Race

INDIANAPOLIS, April 19.—Gianfranco Comotti, famous Italian automobile racing star, today entered a car and will compete in the International 500-mile race to be held at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

He will pilot a Talbot, made in France, and rated as one of the most worthy competitors of European speed courses.

Comotti and his car are now en route to Indianapolis to join the foreign racing contingent which is headed by Louis Chiron, of France, European racing champion of 1928, who will drive a DeLage, the 1926 champion car of Europe.

Campbell Attains 215 Miles an Hour

VERNEUK PAN, Cape of Good Hope, April 19.—(AP.)—Capt. Malcolm Campbell, British racing driver, who is seeking to break the 231-mile-an-hour mark set by Maj. H. O. Segrave, touched 215 miles an hour in a trial run here today in his car, Blue Bird.

Fight Results

At McKeesport—Howard Mayberry defeated Marty Gold, 10 rounds; Allen Beatty defeated Young Guido, 8 rounds; Lee Sala defeated Billy Carter, 6 rounds; Joe Todd defeated Jack McCarthy, 6 rounds.

At Philadelphia—Lew Massey defeated Chick Suggs, 8 rounds; Dan McBride knocked out Frank Little, one round.

At Elam, Pa.—Al Trainor defeated Joe Smallwood, 8 rounds; Leo Claro defeated Johnny Cisarella, 8 rounds; Tommy Gleason defeated Red Grange, 8 rounds; Kid Cosdon defeated Jack Levison, 6 rounds; Joe Trippe knocked out Ken Adair, 3 rounds; Benny Miller defeated Kid MacLeod, 4 rounds.

NEW OFFICERS OF W. P. G. A. INSTALLED

By VERN SWARTSFAGER.

John (Jock) Graham, veteran South Hills and Oakmont Country Club golfer, was ushered into office as the chief executive of the Western Pennsylvania Golf Association at the Keystone A. C. last night, during the course of the peppiest annual meeting the organization has held for many a year. While several tournament dates were bid for and tentatively set, the schedule for competition will not be finally decided until the executive committee meets within the next few weeks.

Chester H. Lehman, of Westmoreland, retiring president, was not on hand for the affair, but sent a letter containing his report and well wishes, which was read very efficiently by Treasurer James W. Barber. J. Bernd Rose, of Allegheny, newly elected vice president, also was absent.

MANY SPEAKERS

Speeches were made by Graham, Edward E. McCoy, of the caddie-welfare committee; Chairman MacCluskey, of the service bureau; Greer McIlvain, of the state handicapping committee; Ken Witherow, representing the public links section, U. S. G. A.; Richard C. Long, of Stanton Heights; Thomas Jamison, of Hannastown; Clarence (Buddy) Overend and John W. Carr, of the Pittsburgh Field Club, and Dr. McKee, of South Hills, who presented Graham a beautiful basket of flowers in behalf of his fellow members.

The association voted to recognize the Western Pennsylvania Golfer, a new magazine, as its official organ. Its associate editors are John McMahon and the writer.

On motion of Thomas Jamison the W. P. G. A. voted to present George A. Ormiston, a veteran of the association and called "its very backbone," with a bonus of $300 for his great work.

TO AWARD SCHOLARSHIPS

A committee is to be appointed to take charge of the awarding of the five university scholarships, each of $2,400, which were donated the association for caddies.

It was decided to hold the three major tournaments in August and September. The date for the open was set for August 12, with the location yet to be decided upon. The amateur tourney will be held beginning Sept. 14 and continuing through September 16. The junior play will be held at Oakmont July 17, 18 and 19.

SENIOR MEET IN JUNE

The annual father and son event will be held at Oakmont June 24 or July 1. The team matches are scheduled for June 19 or September 11. Caddies will compete at Oakmont September 14, 15 and 16 and the caddie-master event is carded for some time in September.

One of the features of the meeting was the adding of a new tournament, a senior men's championship, to the anual program. The new competition was suggested by Tom Jamieson, former president of the W. P. G. A. The suggestion was enthusiastically received and the event was added to the list of annual fixtures.

The annual report of the Association revealed that there are 72 member clubs, with approximately 20,000 members enlisted in the W. P. G. A.

West Penn open, August 12 (scene to be selected later.)

West Penn amateur, September 14, 15, 16 (scene to be selected later).

Caddies, August 26, at Oakmont.

Carry-masters, in September (date and scene to be announced later).

Senior men's, June or July at Hannastown (date to be announced later).

Team matches, June 19 (scene to be announced later).

Father and son, June 24 or July 1 at Oakmont.

Allegheny invitation, June (date to be decided later).

Cambridge Springs, September 26, 27, 28.

Lefty O'Doul Steals Homer Spotlight

Lefty O'Doul stole the home run spotlight in the National League away from other sluggers when he slammed out a brace of circuit clouts against his former teammates, the Giants, as the Phils took a licking. Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, putting on their famous act as the Yanks got away to a belated start in the American League chase, gave baseball a mid-season tinge.

All in all there were an even dozen circuit clouts walloped in the two leagues, three in the American and nine in the National. There have been 14 hit in the National since the season opened Tuesday to eight in the American. The records:

Coffroth, Bowman In Racing War

TIA JUANA, Mexico., April 19.—(INS.)—With Sunny Jim Coffroth, president of the Tia Juana Jockey Club, lined up on one side and a new combine headed by Wirt G. Bowman on the other, a war for control of horse racing in Lower California loomed today.

That such a war is in the offing came with the announcement of the organization of the Agua Caliente Jockey Club. Bowman was named as president. Associated with him are Baron Long and Jimmy Crofton.

The Agua Caliente organization has outlined an ambitious racing program, even announcing a $100,000 handicap race which is to be called the Bowman Handicap.

Coffroth is reported to be at Mexicali where he is seeking to find out whether Gov. Rodriguez has given the Bowman organization his official approval.

OPEN ALLEYS TONIGHT

WAYNESBURG, Pa., April 19.—Bowling fans from all sections of Greene County plan to attend the opening of the Recreation Alleys here this evening, when Mrs. O. B. Louis. The short righteld stands of this park appeared to entire the Rajah and he began to step in and slice his shots with great effect. He hit something like 40 homers in one season, but later the stands were moved back a bit.

MAY MISS WRIGHT

As was feared before the season started, the lower bracket of the Pirate batting order is showing small punch. Sheely is almost a cinch to hit, but Bartell, Hargreaves and Hemsley are all doubtful. The latter ripped off a pretty single yesterday, but there was nothing at stake at the time and Sheriff Blake wasn't giving the ball both barrels. Hemsley, however, lookse like an improved hitter.

Sparky Adams' play at short in the third game was discouraging to the Pirates. Adams kicked one grounder, muffed a throw and failed to get hold of another that was a bit low. He is such a small target for the other infielders they had to be extra careful as they "cut" the ball to him. Perhaps Buckshot Wright will be missed in the infield, after all. It's a sure bet that his punch will be mourned in many a game.

Local Notre Dame Club to Banquet

The Notre Dame Club of Western Pennsylvania is completing plans to take part in the "Universal Notre Dame Night" celebration to be staged throughout the country next Monday.

A committe in charge of arrangements, headed by Attorney John Briley, announces that the local club will hold a dinner at the Pittsburgh Field Club. A program of speakers and entertainers is being formulated.

Ruth, Gehrig Annex Lead In Big Six

The busting twins of the world's champion Yankees, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, broke into the big six for the first time in their delayed opening game yesterday and promptly assumed places at the top.

The Babe cracked out his first homer of the year in his initial appearance at the plate. He had but one other appearance at the plate. Lou delayed his four-base hitting until the sixth inning, but added a single in three tries to head the Big Six.

Goose Goslin kept up his .500 pace through his second game to tie with Ruth, hitting safely twice in four attempts. Rogers Hornsby got one hit and two rons in a pair of official times at bat, holding the next place. Pahl Waner and Jim Bottomley failed to hit. The standing:

Gehrig, Yankees	3	2	2	1	.667
Ruth, Yankees	1	2	2	1	.500
Goslin, Senators	2	8	0	4	.500

Bretch Scores K. O. In Y. M. H. A. Show

Seven high-class bouts were staged at the second amateur boxing show of the season in the Young Men's and Women's Hebrew Association building last night, the feature event being the battle between George Bretch, of the Twenty-seventh Ward Athletic Club, and Eddie Yarosz, of Monaca, which ended in a knockout victory for the former in the second round. The summary:

Long's Sport Comment

UNLESS Fidel La Baraba, former flyweight fistic champion, changes his plans, he will have to pass up a lot of big money by declining profitable ring engagements.

Not only has Jess McMahon signed the ex-flyweight king to meet Kid Chocolate at the New York Coliseum May 21, but Jack Dempsey is after La Barba for a big show in Detroit, and Spider Pladner, the French sensation, who lost to Frankie Genaro last night on a foul, declared after beating Izzy Schwartz and Frankie Genaro that he wanted to meet Fidel as soon as he could make a trip to America. However, La Barba, who has just returned to Los Angeles from Australia, says he is going to re-enter Stanford University in the fall and will not do any further fighting after September.

Fidel La Barba

IF Fidel sticks to that decision he'll have to do a heap of battling in less than five months or toss aside more money than the majority of little fighters ever had a chance to pick up in a similar period. In Australia La Barba defeated Willie Smith twice, Billy McAllister and Billy Grimes, making $10,000 on his tour of the land of the kangaroo besides the six-month vacation and sight-seeing opportunities it afforded himself and Manager George Blake and their wives.

HUB MARATHON AT HALF-WAY POINT

HOPKINTON, Mass., April 19.—(AP.)—With a brisk westerly wind at their backs, 188 starters in the thirty-second annual Boston Athletic Association Marathon left here at noon today on the long grind to Boston.

Conditions were ideal for a fast race. The air was cool and brisk and the wind at the backs of the runners.

Jack Lamb, of the Dorchester (Mass.), Club, took the lead at the start, and at the first checking point, Framingham, approximately five miles out on the 26-mile course, was 100 yards ahead of the pack. The time was 31 minutes 56 seconds, approximately a half-minute behind the record.

LAMB RETAINS LEAD

Lamb held his lead to Natick, approximately nine and one-half miles from the start, and was clocked there in 53:24 2-5. Michelsen, one of the favorites, had moved up and was running at this point with Max Lamp and Gavrin. They were about 50 yards behind the leader.

A second group of four close behind this trio included William Taylor, of Sydney Mines, N. S., Johnny Miles, Hans Olday, of the Humboldt Y. M. C. A., Buffalo, and Willie Kyronen, of the Finish-American A. C., New York.

Lamb maintained his lead at Wellesley Hills, the half way point in the race, going through at 1:22. Gavrin was second, Taylor third, and Miles fourth.

MAINTAINS FAST PACE

At Wellesley, Lamb was still holding his lead. He was checked there at 1:11 only fifteen seconds under the record to that point.

Michelsen was one of a group of a half dozen yards behind. The group included Gavrin, Max Lamp, Taylor, Winfield C. Bailey, of the Athletic Club, and Martin Fitzpatrick, of Boston.

De Mar was three minutes behind Lamb. He was running with Koski at this point.

St. Bonaventure Honors Susce, McGraw

PHILADELPHIA, April 19.—In connection with the opening day ceremonies at Baker Bowl, home of the Philly Nationals, yesterday afternoon, John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, and George Susce, Philly catcher, were presented gifts by Athletic Director Fred V. Ostergren, of St. Bonaventure College.

The entire St. Bonaventure baseball squad were the guests of President Baker, of the Phillies, in a private box. The presentation of the gifts, a class ring to McGraw and a traveling bag to Susce, took place at the home plate just before the contest between New York and Philadelphia began.

Life-Saving Meet Won by Schenley

The Schenley High School team won the sixth annual city and first annual national life-saving championship meet under the auspices of the American Red Cross, in conjunction with the Pittsburgh high schools, in the Fifth Avenue High School pool yesterday afternoon.

Langley was second with 20 points, four behind the leader. The summary:

Retrieving object—Won by Gedris, Langley; second, Franke, Schenley; third, Betzler, South Hills.

Tired swimmers carry relay (two to a team)—Won by Blum and Hershorn, Schenley; second, Higgens and Booth, Langley; third, Schoener and Czsinerseck, South Hills.

Head carry, rear approach—Won by Blum, Schenley; second, Czsinerseck, South Hills; third, Higgens, Langley.

Lifebuoy surf rescue race (three to a team)—Won by Shear, Swanck and Franke, Schenley; second, Klein, South Hills; third, Brown, Reno and Gedris, Langley.

Special 220-yard free style championship—Won by Norton, Perry; second, Franke, Schenley; third, Carik, South Hills.

VAL PICINICH TRADED TO DODGERS

CINCINNATI, April 19.—(AP.)—The long holdout of Val Picinich, Cincinnati Red catcher was ended yesterday when he was traded to the Brooklyn Club for Catcher Johnny Gooch and Pitcher Rube Ehrhardt.

The deal was made in a long-distance telephone conference between officials. Gooch and Ehrhardt are expected to report to Manager Jack Hendricks here not later than Sunday.

Ehrhardt worked in 28 games last year, but was credited with winning only one and losing three. Gooch batted .282 and Picinich .303 in 1928. Gooch formerly caught for the Pirates and Picinich was with the Athletics, the Senators and the Red Sox before coming to Cincinnati.

Cubs, Bucs Invited To Keystone Show

Word has been received from Buffalo that the seven-man team which will represent that city in the inter-city amateur boxing show at the Keystone Athletic Club next Wednesday evening will be very strong and that the visiting aggregation is hopeful of making a clean sweep of the bouts.

Coach Roy Stadel, of the visiting contingent, reports that a wealth of material is trying out for the team and that some spirited competition is being waged for the privilege of making the trip.

The date of the meet also is the official opening day of the local baseball season and the Keystone Athletic Club has extended invitations to members of both the Pirates and the Cubs to attend the show. Manager Joe McCarthy, of the Cubs, is a Buffalo resident and it is expected that he will be on hand to urge on his home town talent.

Kennel Club Show Opens in Washington

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 19.—The first annual show of the Washington County Kennel Club opened here last night with more than 450 dogs benched. The show is the largest ever held in Western Pennsylvania with the exception of those in Pittsburgh.

The show will close tonight. The showing of police dogs is exceptionally large with more than 100 entries, making it a five-point show for dogs of this breed. Every department is filled to capacity.

Waynesburg to Hold Pupil Test Tonight

WAYNESBURG, Pa., April 19.—The Greene County Glee Club, piano and debating contests will be held here tonight in the auditorium of the Waynesburg High School Building.

In the piano contests representatives of Rogersville, Jefferson, Mapletown, Mt. Morris and Waynesburg High schools will compete. But two high schools, Waynesburg and Mapletown, will be represented in the glee club contest, while Waynesburg and Aleppo High School debating teams will contest for the debating championship of the county. Winners will later represent the county in divisional contests of the Pennsylvania Scholastic Literary and Musical League.

Long Hunt for 'Vet' Ends Near Home

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 19.—(AP.)—A search which began in Charleston shortly after the close of the World War and extended throughout the country, ended yesterday within a few miles of its starting point.

Boyd B. Stutler, now state adjutant of the American Legion, made the search. Its objective was the return to S. C. Tompkins, who served with the One Hundred and Eleventh Field Artillery, Twenty-ninth Division, of a map recording his travels in France.

Stutler found the map just before leaving France. He began his search when he returned to Charleston. Letters written to members of Tompkins' division and the veterans' organizations failed to bring a response. Monday, Stutler received a telephone call from Dana, only a few miles from Charleston. The man who made the call was Tompkins. He said a letter written by Stutler to the American Legion headquarters had just been delivered to his Dana home.

Farmer, Told His Life Nears End, Kills Self

BERWICK, Pa., April 19.—(AP.)—Two suicides occurred in this vicinity yesterday. David Allegar, 68, a Jonestown farmer, shot himself in the head with his rifle after a physician had told him he did not have long to live.

Grove City Names May Day Leaders

GROVE CITY, Pa., April 19.—Miss Kathleen Johns, of Ellwood City, has been chosen queen of May for Grove City College's annual May Day fete. She is president of the Sigma Kappa Sorority and has been one of the most active students. Miss Gertrude Harshaw and Anna Louise Montgomery, of Grove City; Miss Lelia Gates, of Nemacolin, and Miss Elinor Slater, of Stoneboro, are the ladies-in-waiting. Miss Virginia Doolittle, of Corry, is marshall of the day; Miss Evelyn Harshaw, of Grove City, coronation officer; Miss Enola Gustafson, of Pittsburgh, crown bearer, and Miss Peggy Benford, of Ellwood City, scepter-bearer.

'Coin' Harvey Divorced, to Wed Again

BENTONVILLE, Ark., April 19.—(A.P.)—After a separation of nearly 30 years, W. H. (Coin) Harvey, author and pyramid builder, yesterday divorced Mrs. Anna H. Harvey, of Huntington, W. Va., to wed his secretary, Mrs. May Leake.

As soon as the decree was signed by Chancellor Lee Seamster, who heard the case in chambers, Harvey obtained a license to wed Mrs. Leake. Harvey is 77 and his bride-to-be is 61. The wedding will take place probably next Sunday at Montene, where Harvey is building a unique pyramid which he says will house a record of modern civilization for further generations.

He became internationally known about 1895 when he wrote a book "Coin's Financial School." He was among William Jennings Bryan's leading supporters in his free silver fight.

Grafton Presbytery Chooses Officers

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., April 19.—Mrs. Gertrude Mayer, of Terra Alta, was elected president of the Grafton Presbytery of the North Presbyterian Church at the concluding session here yesterday of its twenty-fifth annual convention. Other officers chosen included Mrs. J. I. French, Morgantown, vice president; Mrs. Foreman Cassaday, Terra Alta, corresponding secretary; Mrs. H. L. Randolph, Fairmont, recording secretary, and Mrs. W. T. Black, Fairmont, treasurer.

Mt. Pleasant School Dedication May 7

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 19.—Dedication exercises for the enlarged and remodeled Hurst High School in Mt. Pleasant Township will be held in the new auditorium building, May 7. Speakers will include Dr. Fadra Holmes Wilson, of California State Normal, and Robert C. Shaw, of Harrisburg, deuputy state superintendent of schools.

Man Divorces Wife Convicted of Bigamy

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 19.—Bradley Williams, of 138 Vine street, Canonsburg, was granted a divorce here today from Mary Emma Williams, now serving a term in the penitentiary at Moundsville for bigamy. She was convicted of marrying John Lutz, of Wellsburg, W. Va.

NEURITIS FINDS DEADLY ENEMY IN NEW KONJOLA

Hospital Worker Relates Splendid Experience With Master Medicine of 32 Ingredients.

If there are those who may have the unhappy belief that there is no escape from the dread clutches of neuritis, they may take heart in the knowledge that Konjola, the new medicine, is triumphing over this torturing malady in thousands of cases.

MR. D. W. MANNING

Neuritis is a stubborn affliction, but Konjola is renowned for its success in stubborn cases. How Konjola achieves its remarkable results, with speed and thoroughness, is being explained daily by the Konjola Man, who is at the Dow Drug Company, (formerly McCulloch's) Penn avenue and Sixth street, this city. There he is answering the questions of those who have heard and read of this amazing medicine, and who would like to know what it means to them in their quest for health. The Konjola Man does not deal in promises, claims nor honeyed phrases, but points out actual, proved, known, verified cases wherein Konjola has conquered where all else has failed. Konjola stands, not on high-sounding words, but on a foundation of deeds, of facts, of amazing recoveries. Take, for instance, the fine experience that Mr. D. W. Manning, hospital worker at the Mayview City and Home Hospital, this city, had with this master medicine. To the Konjola Man he said a few days ago:

"I had just about given up trying to find anything to rid me of the tortures of neuritis. It was, in my case, no doubt, the result of accumulated poisons in my system. Before I realized it this dread disease had a hold on me and an awful hold. Pains throughout my body were at times almost unbearable. I often felt that I could not stand them another minute. But I had to stand them, for not a medicine I tried did me the least bit of good. For ten years I constantly searched for the right medicine, but not finding it, I lost hope of relief and was losing in stamina steadily.

"Konjola came to my attention through the printed indorsements, and these seemed so sincere that I finally made up my mind to take a chance with Konjola. The new medicine worked like magic. My neuritis pains became less and less severe. Remarkable as it may seem, this new medicine gave me amazing relief with the first bottle. Imagine my happiness and surprise at being relieved of neuritis after ten years of intense suffering. There can never be another medicine like Konjola—it is the peer of them all. My body is free of pains and I know now what it means to have glorious health. I can readily understand why Konjola is known as the medicine with more than a million friends. It has certainly made a lifelong friend in me."

Konjola is made up of 32 scientifically blended ingredients, 22 of which are the juices of roots and herbs. They work directly on the ailing organs, attacking the disease at its very source. That is why Konjola conquers where all else fails.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Company, (formerly McCulloch's) Penn avenue and Sixth street, this city, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this master medicine.

Stocks Move Up | Wall Street Quotations

STOCKS MOVE UP AFTER DECLINE

NEW YORK, April 19.—(AP.)—Responding to easier credit conditions and favorable trade news, the stock market moved upward today after an early period of heaviness resulting from liquidation inspired by the small decrease in brokers' loans and the breaking up of the reparations conference.

While a few soft spots cropped out here and there, the market generally rallied under the leadership of the public utility and merchandising issues. At least 15 individual stocks moved into new high ground for the year.

Call money renewed at 7½ per cent, as against 8 yesterday, and appeared to be in plentiful supply at that figure. A further easing also was noted in the time money market, some of the longer dates being available as low as 8¼, as against 8½ earlier in the week and 9 per cent a week ago.

STORE SHARES POPULAR

High current earnings and rumors of new stock split-ups and mergers stimulated the demand for the merchandising shares. Woolworth, which recently announced a 2½-for-1 split-up of the stock, ran up more than 6 points to a new high record at 225⅝. Phillips Jones and Julius Kayser also moved into new high ground.

A sudden demand for the New York traction shares, which was not explainable by anything in the day's news, featured the early afternoon dealings. Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit, which had sunk earlier in the session to a new low for the year at 64, rallied to 66½, and Third Avenue, Interboro Rapid Transit and Manhattan Modified Guaranteed sold 2 or more points above yesterday's final quotations.

Expectations that the Advance Rumely issues would benefit from the farm relief program of Congress and the entrance of new financial interests into that company brought fresh buying into both the common and preferred stocks which reached new high ground.

International Telephone ran up 8 points, Stanley Company of America 6¾ and Commercial Solvents, Crosley Radio, Radio Corporation common, Collins and Aikman, Atlas Powder, Warren Brothers, and American Railway Express sold 4 to 6 points higher.

OILS IN DEMAND

Indian Refining issues ran into some selling, but the other oils were under steady accumulation, with the Pan-American issues and Independent Oil and Gas moving into new high ground.

New Haven Railroad common was in brisk demand on publication of a favorable analysis of the company by a large New England investment house, climbing nearly 3 points to within a fraction of the year's high.

Considerable profit taking came into the market in the final dealings, after a forward spurt in some of the investment issues, which carried American Telephone to 225½ and Commercial Solvents to 311, both record prices. Chrysler and Columbian Carbon were in good demand. A drop of 2 points in American Can swelled the late realizing, which cut into many gains to the extent of 1 to 3 points. The closing was firm. Total sales approximated 3,200,000.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, April 19. — Breakdown of the reparations conference, together with indications that any price advances from farm legislation would be distant, led to sharp setbacks today for wheat. General selling out of speculative holdings of wheat took place at times, and May delivery established a new low price record for the season. Subsequent rallies failed to hold well, and export sales of wheat today from the United States were small.

Wheat closed unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to 1 cent lower, corn varying from ¼ cent decline to ¾ cent advance, oats ⅛ cent off to ⅜ cent up, and provisions unchanged to 7 cents down.

In addition to other causes assigned for severe down curves in wheat prices today was news of the collapse of the war debt parley. It was pointed out that Liverpool wheat quotations were lower than had been looked for, and this circumstance, together with heavy rains, promoting a bearish domestic crop prospect, appeared to be too much of a combination for speculative holders of wheat who had expected to profit on bulges due to farm legislation.

Meanwhile, advices were at hand that Argentina shippers were continuing to forward large quantities of unsold wheat to Europe, and that supplies abroad were becoming burdensome. On the other hand, various authorities were quoted as saying that seeding operations in the American Northwest and in Canada were meeting with interference because temperatures were low and the ground did not thaw enough to permit work in the fields.

Loans Decrease $2,000,000.

Loans to brokers by New York Federal Reserve member banks totaled $5,425,000,000 on April 17, against $5,427,000,000 April 10, a decrease of $2,000,000 for the week, the Federal Reserve Board announced. The high record to date is $5,798,000,000 on March 20, 1929. The low for 1929 was $5,312,799,000, made January 9. Member bank borrowings from the New York Reserve Bank totaled $179,000,000 April 17, against $158,000,000 April 10 and $91,000,000 April 18, 1928.

The detailed loan statement follows:

Bethlehem Capital Plans.

New York banking circles hear that Bethlehem Steel Company is soon to move toward retirement of all or part of its funded debt, amounting to $84,295,025. The redemption program, it is understood here, will be accomplished at least partially through issuance of new common stock. United States Steel Corporation is canceling its own funded debt of $271,385,000 in this way. Details of Bethlehem's reported plans have not been decided and the retirement, if it is effected, may not come for several months. Bethlehem common has recently been very active on the stock exchange, reaching new peace-time levels yesterday, and its advance has been attributed by Wall street to the proposed recapitalization.

Directors meet next Thursday afternoon to act on the dividend and to announce the results of the first quarter of this year. It is probable that the net income will be equal to more than $4 a share on the common stock, as the company earned nearly $2.40 a share in January and February, and established a new high record in its output for March.

Mitchell Urges Tax Change.

Declaring the present credit situation threatens to undermine prosperity of the United States unless a corrective means is promptly found, Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of National City Bank and director of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, urged immediate action by Congress to remove the income tax on capital gain from sale of securities. Such action, Mr. Mitchell said, would break the impasse created by credit inflation by inducing liquidation on the part of hundreds of investors and speculators who have profits in stocks but who are unwilling to take them because of the large payments they would have to make to the government in the form of a tax. The tax law, he said, constitutes one of the prime causes of present difficulty, having created artificialty in the security market, in the credit structure and in interest rates.

Automobile Stocks.

Conflicting opinions concerning the motor industry have been heard for some time. Several of these issues have shown evidence of lack of support when selling developed on a large scale. This condition was generally attributed to the belief that competition this year will be so acute as to curtail profits materially. Another theory which was put forward by the bears was that in these days of closed models and good roads, buying will not show the usual spring boom, for winter buying has been large. Those who do not agree with the pessimistic views expressed by the shorts maintain that this year will not be one of overproduction, but that the consuming power of the country is growing. They also point to the export trend of cars as encouraging for motor shareholders, and believe a resumption of the advance in the stock market later on will result in larger sales through dealers.

Glass Situation Unchanged.

The National Glass Budget says: "Conditions surrounding the flat glass industry disclose little variation from last week. Manufacturers of plate glass say that if any change has taken place in that industry it is that orders are not quite as plentiful as at the beginning of the month. Nevertheless, all of the factories are working at or near capacity and the output is consumed just about as made. There were no new developments concerning the rolled or wired glass branches during the week. While production of window glass exceeds demand at present, manufacturers are quoting October discounts and the outlook is encouraging."

New Haven Income Expanding.

Among the low priced rails New Haven has been one of the prominent issues. The reason for the strength is found in the fact that during the first two months of this year net operating income of the road was approximately 45 per cent ahead of the same period last year. Indications now are that New Haven will earn in the neighborhood of $9 a share which is more than double the present annual dividend requirement of $4 a share. There are many in the street who feel that stockholders are in line for higher returns before the end of the year. Excellent control is said to have been obtained by the present management over operating expenses.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Raw sugar was quiet early today and in absence of business prices were unchanged at 3.64c for spot Cuban, duty paid.

Futures opened 2 points lower to 1 point higher with November the only month showing any advance. The easier tone was due to liquidation and selling by houses with trade connections, promoted by the liberal offerings in the spot market. Shorts covered on the decline and in the late forenoon there was a partial rally with the list at midday net unchanged to 1 point lower. Near months were relatively easy, with the sellers of these replacing by purchases of later months.

Refined prices were unchanged at 4.90c for fine granulated with business light and of a hand-to-mouth character.

Business Health Is Sound, These Basic Facts Show.

By B. C. FORBES

RECENT developments reveal how sound is the health of American business.

What are some of the most significant factors?

PERHAPS most fundamental of all is the improvement in agricultural conditions. Eugene Meyer, Jr., head of the Federal Farm Loan Board, tells me that demand for farms, long dormant, is reviving encouragingly. Capable farmers have begun to buy out less capable neighbors. Farm debts have substantially decreased. Instead of rural bank failures, progress is being made in straightening out institutions which encountered trouble.

"Land is the cheapest thing in the United States today," emphatically declares Mr. Meyer. "If an investment in farm land were as easily handled as an investment in stocks or bonds, you would see shrewd investors buying farms in preference to anything else, but, unfortunately, land isn't an investment you can tuck away in a safe. To yield attractive returns, it has to be intelligently cultivated. And it isn't the easiest thing in the world to hire intelligent farm managers or to find successful tenants. Naturally, the best farm brains seek to own their own farms."

So far nothing has occurred to discourage the hope and expectation that the current agricultural year will turn out satisfactorily, even should Congress fail to provide any great amount of practical helpfulness. President Hoover's statement to Congress is exactly along the lines contemplated. It suggests no magical cure-all but, of necessity, outlines only rather commonplace action on the part of governmental agencies.

ANOTHER basically reassuring phase of our business health is the extraordinary stability of the general price level. Notwithstanding America's abnormal holding of gold, and notwithstanding all the excited speculation and rise in stocks, commodities have moved along on an absolutely even keel. The price level today is almost exactly where it was one year ago and two years ago, and there is still a welcome absence of anything savoring of inflation either of price or inventories. Copper did have a sensational run-up, but the price boom quickly began to subside sharply.

OUR foreign trade is remarkably satisfactory. Each month this year has brought a marked increase in exports. Total exports for the first quarter reached $1,421,000,000, a gain of $214,000,000 over a year ago. Imports last quarter were $1,125,000,000, against $1,073,000,000 in the first quarter of last year. Our export balance for the three months thus was $296,000,000.

The gold movement has also been in our favor. Imports exceeded exports in the first quarter by almost $100,000,000, and the trend has continued in the same direction this month.

EMPLOYMENT figures show improvement. Remarkably little has been heard of unemployment this winter—although, of course, there has been some unemployment here and there. The outlook is that the call for workers will broaden with the advent of better weather. The wage trend is mildly upward, so that the purchasing power of America's weekly pay envelope never was more satisfactory.

WHILE the money market and the stock market cannot be classified as normal, it can at least be said that conditions have become better rather than worse. The speculative mania has considerably subsided. Stock quotations have also sobered down somewhat. Speculative borrowing has decreased moderately and Wall Street call money rates, although still abnormally high, have not lately returned to the 20 per cent peak touched at the end of the month. It cannot be overlooked, that time money still commands as high as 9 per cent, an ominous rate—especially when regard is had to the fact that the average return on popular stocks is only half as much. On the whole, however, the money market and the stock market are less disturbing than they were.

OUR major industries, with the exception of building, are unusually active, and most companies are reporting increased profits both for last year and for the first quarter of this year. Dividend increases are gratifyingly common.

IT WILL be well to keep these facts firmly in mind should, perchance, anything untoward happen, either in Wall Street or in Washington.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, April 19.—(AP.)—The curb market faltered today before the unsatisfactory brokerage loan statement published last night, showing a reduction of but $2,000,000. The threatened failure of the reparations conference also caused some hesitancy.

A long list of issues sold off a point or less in the early trading, particularly the utilities, but business turned dull on the decline, and some support came into the market toward midday, the utilities generally more than making up their losses. United Gas Improvement converted a small loss into a 4-point gain, and American Superpower issues and Electric Bond and Share sold moderately higher. Electric Investors, however, was still heavy in the early afternoon.

Industrials generally fluctuated in insignificant manner. Ford of Canada B moved up 2 points, then turned heavy. Crocker Wheeler dropped 5 points during the morning, while Deere gained 2. International Telephone was well supported, moving up 2 points, and Fox Theaters A, which has been under pressure of late, moved up about a point. Aluminum Company again gained new high ground.

Aviation stocks were dull and moved in a narrow range. Radio stocks were irregular, Arcturus Tube easing, while Zenith was firm. Oils were generally steady to firm, Humble and Gulf selling a little higher. In the mines, Newmont and Phelps Dodge were firm.

In the bonds, Harpen Mining 6s, a German issue, was heavy in reflection of the reparation impasse, dropping a half point. Independent Oil 6s jumped nearly 3 points to a new high, reflecting the strength of the stock on the "big board."

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales colum of bond list):

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, April 19.—Early advances in cotton today on steadier Liverpool cables and some uncertainty as to weather developments over the week-end were followed by reactions under a renewal of near month liquidation which appeared to be combined with some local and southern selling. The mid-afternoon market was quiet at net declines of about 3 to 7 points.

Private cables said there had been covering, trade calling and some rebuying in the Liverpool market, but added that cloth sales in Manchester were below production and that more looms were becoming idle.

The early advance met a renewal of liquidation and prices eased off later in the morning, with the active months selling back to or slightly below yesterday's closing quotations on most positions. At midday the market was about net unchanged to 3 points lower. General business was quiet. Trade interests were credited with buying near months against sales of later deliveries.

Ore Consumption Up.

Lake Superior ore consumed by furnaces during March amounted to 5,465,015, an increase of 646,204 tons over February and an increase of 656,940 tons over March, 1928. Ore on hand at furnaces April 1, 1929, aggregated 15,782,068 tons, and at Lake Erie docks 4,223,348 tons, a combined total of 20,005,416 tons, compared with 24,248,754 a year previous. Of the total furnaces represented 93 were in blast on last day of March, an increase of 4 over February, according to Lake Superior Iron Ore Association.

SCREW AND BOLT RUSHES HIGHER IN LOCAL LIST

A sudden revival of buying interest in Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt forced that stock up sharply on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today and overshadowed all other developments in the local market.

Demand for the stock continued throughout the greater part of the session and was based on reports that an announcement favorable to stockholders will be forthcoming shortly. A "tip" has been in circulation for several days that a run-up was in prospect and a price tag of several points above the recent resting level is mentioned in connection with the move.

Further strength in Armstrong Cork lifted that issue to another new high record in the early dealings. Scarcity of the stock has caused a steadily mounting market quotation on the shares for some time and today's figure compares with a low of around 62 at the beginning of the current month. The Street has been searching for possible special reasons for the advance, but aside from the improved earnings there has been nothing official upon which to base opinions regarding the rise. The company has been successful in patent litigation it had been fighting for some time and this victory will mean additional income in the way of future royalties as well as that obtained as a result of retroactive features of the court ruling. Ultimately there will be favorable dividend action, but no intimations as to what changes will be made have come as yet from official sources.

The fuel stocks moved over a narrow range, with only fractional changes noted in the principal trading issues. Arkansas common was late coming into the market, but the preferred was handled in the early session at yesterday's closing price. Petroleum Exploration, which sold yesterday at a decline of 3 points from its previous price, was traded again today at the same figure. Lone Star Gas was nominally unchanged.

Miscellaneous industrials marked time awaiting a definite change in conditions on the New York exchange. There was considerable irregularity on the "big board" at the opening, due chiefly to the apparent break-down of the reparations parley and to the relatively insignificant drop in brokers' loans as shown in the weekly report of the New York Federal Reserve Bank.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Stocks in Good Demand.

Buying activities went ahead briskly in various representative industrial stocks today. Bullish sentiment was helped by the comfortable position of the demand loan market, where funds were plentiful at the renewal charge of 5½ per cent, with offerings outside at 7 per cent. Stimulus was also supplied by the impressive behavior of a number of high-grade investment issues, American Telephone standing out prominently in this class, rising to the highest price of its history. Buying was based on prospects of attractive rights in connection with the offering of $225,000,000 convertible debentures. International Telephone also was in active demand. The outstanding strength in Woolworth, which mounted to the best levels of the year, undoubtedly was a reflection of the approaching split-up of the present shares on a 2½-for-1 basis following the annual meeting next month.

Loans Disappointing.

That the small decrease reported in brokers' loans proved disappointing to the rank and file was generally admitted. Dissatisfaction on that score was looked upon as the chief reason for the flurry of selling in the early trading, though it was recognized that the breaking up of the reparations council was probably something of a factor. The $2,000,000 drop reported contrasted with expectations that the contraction would reach at least $50,000,000. The sharp drop in loans by New York banks for their own account was interpreted as indicating that those institutions still are adhering to the disposition of the Reserve Board.

Chrysler Earnings Rise.

Chrysler Motors held the bulk of interest in the automobile group, extending its recovery under the impetus of a brisk run of buying for both accounts in response to favorable news which made its appearance during the day. The buying movement here was stimulated early by figures on March shipments showing these had run far above the total reported for February. Early in the afternoon demand increased in response to the publication of its earnings for the first quarter. Consolidated net income of the company, including those of the Dodge Brothers unit, was shown at $8,838,173, against $6,684,017 in the same quarter last year. Short covering was rather urgent following the publication of the report which indicated net for the period was equal to about $2 a share on the present stock.

Reserve Board Meetings.

A month ago, perhaps, the series of reserve meetings held today, might have gotten on the nerves of speculators and found reflection in some selling of securities. In this instance, however, the meetings first of the advisory council, then of the Federal Reserve Board, and finally the joint session of both carried little influence so far as the stock market was concerned. It was generally assumed in Wall street that the reserve authorities, for the moment at least, were not particularly concerned with the matter of speculation and domestic credit, but rather had as their chief topic of discussion the winding up of the reparations conference.

Mallinson Dividends Seen.

According to officials of H. R. Mallinson & Co., dividends will be inaugurated on common stock towards close of year if earnings continue at present levels. While no rate was mentioned it would seem $2 annual basis could conservatively be considered by the directors. President indications point to full year's net profit exceeding $1,000,000 after all charges, or approximately $4 a share on the common against $19,835 or $3.58 a share in 1928.

Silver Production Increased.

United States March silver output was 4,820,000 fine ounces, against 4,776,000 ounces in February and a 1928 monthly average of 4,679,000 ounces, according to the American Bureau of Metal statistics. Canadian output in March was 1,569,000 fine ounces, against 1,124,000 in February. Peru output was 1,736,000 ounces in March, against 1,639,000 in February.

American Water Works.

March electrical output of American Water Works and Electric Company was 160,191,387 KWH, against 149,358,698 KWH in March, 1928, and for the first quarter totaled 471,740,298 KWH, an increase of 9 per cent over the 1928 period.

Rock Island New Construction.

The Rock Island Railroad will spend about $7,000,000 in construction of new lines in Texas, work on which will start as soon as the permission is received from the Interstate Commerce Commission, according to James E. Gorman, president.

Pittsburgh Steel Earns $4.54.

The Pittsburgh Steel Company reports for the quarter ended March 31, 1929, net profit of $1,333,661, after depreciation, Federal taxes and other charges, equivalent after dividend requirements on the 7 per cent preferred stock to $4.54 a share earned on the 253,500 shares of common stock. This compares with $539,448 or $2.58 a share in the quarter ended December 31, 1928. The fiscal year of the company ends June 30, 1929, and for the nine months ended March 31, 1929, net profit was $3,076,932 or $9.96 a share on the common stock. There are 106,000 shares of 7 per cent preferred stock outstanding on which the annual dividend requirements are $735,000. Entire dividend requirements on the preferred stock for a year were earned almost 4.2 times during the nine months.

Copper Market Firm.

Sales of copper in the domestic copper market were reported in fair sized volume today at 18 cents a pound delivered Connecticut Valley basis. In the export division morning sales were understood to be in excellent amount, being estimated at close to 2,000,000 pounds at 18.30 cents a pound c. i. f. Hamburg.

American Light and Power.

American Light and Power Company reports for the year ended December 31, 1928, net income of $2,957,308, equal, after preferred dividends, to $2.61 a share on 806,400 shares of common stock, compared with $2,049,076, or $2.21 a share on 600,000 common shares in 1927.

Bank Rate Unchanged.

The New York Federal Reserve Bank directors made no change in the rediscount rate, which remains at 5 per cent. The bank announced a net decrease of $13,461,000 in earmarked gold held for foreign account during the past week. Gold imports at port of New York for the week totaled $118,000, chiefly from Latin-America. There were no exports.

A total of $54,287,000 in earmarked gold held by the Bank of New York for foreign account has been released in the last three weeks. Wall Street believes the transactions represent further deals by which Germany sends gold to Paris while the Bank of France turns over to German account part of its earmarked gold here. The transactions, equivalent to shipping gold from Germany to New York, result from the depression in the mark and its relation to the dollar.

Federal Reserve system ratio on April 17 was 73.3 per cent, against 73.8 a week ago and 72.0 a year ago. The New York bank's ratio was 80.4 per cent, against 81.9 last week and 79.4 last year.

Reserve Bill Holdings Up.

The consolidated statement of the condition of Federal Reserve banks on April 17 shows an increase for the week of $30,800,000 in holdings of discounted bills and decreases of $16,300,000 in bills bought in the open market and $4,700,000 in government securities. Government deposits increased $40,700,000 and cash reserves $5,400,000, while Federal Reserve note circulation declined $4,500,000 and member bank reserve deposits remained practically unchanged. Total bills and securities were $17,400,000 above the amount held on April 10.

Chicago Rate Same.

The Chicago Federal Reserve Bank made no announcement regarding a change in the rediscount rate from 5 per cent.

The street accepted the absence of any announcement after today's midday meeting there as indicating no change had been made. In view of the further marked improvement in the Chicago bank's position, however, no action in that direction had been looked for. Hardly a month ago the Chicago bank's ratio was among the lowest in the system. But at the moment it is the highest, standing at 81.5 per cent against the recent low of 60.8 per cent. This indicates the thoroughness of recent liquidation of speculative loans there and the consequent improvement in the banking position.

ALLEGHENY TRUST COMPANY

...Announces...

THE OPENING OF ITS

New BUILDING

413-415 FEDERAL STREET

SATURDAY - APRIL 20th

ALLEGHENY TRUST COMPANY is going home—going to a new home on the site of the old bank building which marked the establishment and the consistent 28 years of progress of the bank.

When the doors of the Allegheny Trust Company are opened for business in the new building at 413-415 Federal Street, N. S., patrons of the bank will view one of the finest and best equipped bank buildings in the Greater Pittsburgh district. It is an imposing structure of Ionic design. The entire facade is composed of Conway Pink Granite and exquisitely wrought bronze. The interior is of bronze and marble.

The Allegheny Trust Company was established in 1901 with the merging of the old Third National Bank of Allegheny and the Nations Bank for Savings. The enlarged space and modern facilities which the new building affords assure in a wider scope the friendly, efficient service that has characterized the growth of the bank.

2 Large Gas Wells Drilled at Clarion

OIL CITY, Pa., April 19.—(AP.)—Two exceptionally large gas wells have just been completed in the Reed Kuhn-Irwin Bonnett gas field near Clarion. One, drilled by the Berney Bond Gas Company, is making 2,000,000 feet daily. The other is the property of the Peoples Gas Company.

Reparations Crisis Sends Mark Down

BERLIN, April 19.—The mark experienced its greatest slump since it was established in November, 1923, following news of the reparations crisis in Paris, declining to 4.22 to the dollar. At that point the Reichsbank intervened with large sales of foreign currency, steadying marks at 4.217. It was understood that the Reichsbank also intervened on foreign bourses.

INK PRODUCTION BECOMES BIG BUSINESS

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE production of ink has entered the realm of big business through two recent consolidations. The organization of the General Printing Ink Corporation, just announced, and the International Printing Ink Corporation a year ago by the same banking house have placed a large part of the ink industry in the hands of two strong companies.

Nothing can be more fundamental than ink. Progress and civilization cannot be conceived without ink. In good times and bad times we must use ink. The pages of history are continually being recorded with ink. The X Y Z Company may continually battle with its rival for its markets, but it must battle with ink. It is a fact that in periods of depression many companies attempt to maintain their volume of sales by increased advertising programs demanding greater amounts of this basic product.

Ink without question is essential, with myriads of uses, limited only by the fields of human endeavor and constantly expanding as they grow and progress.

INK is basic in character, but it is more than that. Textiles and coal are basic in character also but they are deep in depression. Ink is not only basic in character, but it is without competition. Cotton and wool compete with rayon. Gas, electricity, oil and wood also compete with coal. But can you name a substitute for ink?

The production of ink has to concern itself more with quality and service than with productive problems. Ink is a prescriptive proposition. Each printing shop must be diagnosed. After satisfactory quality and service has been obtained, little competition need be expected from outside sources.

INK is unique among modern industries. Its labor costs amount to only 8 per cent of the total. There are no unions. There is no such thing as the necessity of keeping a finger on the pulse of the cooountry's changing demands. There are no such things as large charges for depreciation or for the replacing of costly machinery, dies and tools. The demand is always present. Direct contact between factory and ultimate consumer is made and the problem resolves itself into the diagnosis for a proper mix.

Dillon, Read and Company have just brought about the consolidation of five well-established ink manufacturers who cover virtually every phase of the business. The new organization is known as the General Ink Corporation. The underlying companies are the George H. Morrill Company, the Fuchs and Lang Company, the Sigmund, Ullman Company, the Eagle Printing Ink Company and the American Printing Ink Company. A year ago the same house was instrumental in the formation of the International Printing Ink Corporation by a similar merger.

THE fact that industries which are trailing in the wake of the industrial procession may owe their condition more to themselves than to general conditions is indicated by the announcement yesterday that stabilization is to be brought to the production of merchant pig iron through the acquisition of control of most of the independently owned blast furnaces in this district by the Davison Coke and Iron Company.

For five years the pig iron industry has been in an unprofitable state. Consolidations have been considered from time to time. Although these might have lessened competition, they would have made no material reduction in costs. It was not until one grooup of men with the proper experience realized that the merchant pig iron furnaces must be able to take advantage of cheap by-product coke as well as the steel mills that signs were shown that the industry is being placed on a sound basis. Now, with strong hands in control, and lower costs in sight, the pig iron industry promises to be more satisfactory for both producer and consumer. Widely fluctuating prices will be eliminated and the new organization will be able to show a satisfactory profit at present prices.

ASK COAL CASE BE REOPENED

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(INS.)—The Eastern Ohio Coal Operators' Association and 35 coal operators today filed a petition asking the Interstate Commerce Commission to reopen the lake cargo coal rate case and enter an order carrying into effect the ruling of February 21, 1928, in which the commission attempted to prevent a reduction in the rates from the southern coal districts to the lake ports.

The commission's order was enjoined by the United States District Court for the Southern District of Virginia, but the injunction was recently dissolved as the result of the refusal of the United States Supreme Court to review the case on the ground that it had become "moot" because the commission had later allowed the railroads to file compromise rates.

OBITUARY

The Rev. George Basil, C. P.

The Rev. George Basil, C. P., 77, oldest member of the Passionist order in America, died yesterday in St. Paul's Monastery, South Side. He was born in Trippestat, Germany, but came to this country and was ordained at West Hoboken, N. J., in 1877. For 12 years he was master of novices in St. Paul's Monastery here. Then he became rector at Holy Cross, Cincinnati. From 1917 to 1929 he was attached to St. Gabriel's, Boston, returning to Pittsburgh only a few months ago. He celebrated his golden jubilee in the priesthood in 1927.

C. H. Stafford

Charles H. Stafford died at his home, 327 McKinley avenue, Avalon, yesterday. He was for many years a merchant in the North Side Market. He was a member of the First Presbyterian Church, North Side, and president of the church board of trustees and a member of the Avalon Borough Council. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Margaret Radcliffe Stafford; a sister, Mrs. Wiltze Cooley, and a brother, Albert Davis, of Columbiana, O. Funeral services will be held tonight at his home and he will be buried tomorrow in Uniondale Cemetery.

Mrs. Barbara Heinz

Mrs. Barbara Heinz, 70, died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fred Apfelbach, of 6643 Lyric street, East End. Mrs. Heinz had lived all her life in Sharpsburg, where she was a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church. She leaves five sons, John A., Peter G., Edward S., Florence J. and Joseph F. Heinz; her daughter, Mrs. Apfelbach, and 20 grandchildren. The funeral services will be held at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow in St. Mary's Church, with burial in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Louis Harvey

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., April 19.—Louis Harvey, 53, veteran of the Spanish-American War and for many years an engineman for the Pennsylvania Railroad, died at his home in College Hill. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Alice Parker Harvey; two sons, Louis A. and George W. Harvey; a daughter, Mrs. E. W. Busse, of Riverview; three brothers, Edward Harvey and Albert J. Harvey, of Aliquippa, and Walter Harvey, of Baltimore, Md., and a sister, Mrs. George R. Winters, of Duquesne Heights, Pittsburgh.

James Forrester

James Forrester, 49, former president of the Pittsburgh Paint, Oil and Varnish Club, died last night in the Knickerbocker Hotel, New York. Since May 1, 1928, he had resided in Philadelphia, where he was Eastern representative of the E. E. Zimmerman Company of Pittsburgh. He leaves his mother, who resides in Laporte, Ind.; two brothers and a sister.

Mrs. Jane Lewis.

EBENSBURG, Pa., April 19.—Mrs. Jane Lewis, 93, widow of Thomas D. Lewis, one of the oldest residents of Cambria county, died yesterday. She was born on a farm near here and had resided in this district all her life. She was a member of the Congregational Church. She leaves four daughters, seven grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

BUGS BAER Says

A SESSION OF FAIRY GODFATHERS

THE House opened up its annual farm relief tournament this week.

There were no farmers there. They were busy planting a new bumper crop of low-priced wheat.

"Bugs" Baer

Nothing is set on the farm relief program. Except that there will be the usual commission.

The salary of each commissioner will be 12,000 round dollars per annum.

There will be five members on the board. None of whom will be a farmer.

The big problem of agriculture is how to get the wheat to the Chicago grain elevators and the farmers to Tex Guinan's night club.

The opening of the House marked the special session of the Seventy-first Congress of the United States of America, including the suburbs, but excluding the Leviathan, which is wet.

Over $500,000,000 will be set aside on a sharp tangent for the benefit of the plow chauffeurs.

It will be known as the revolving fund.

We do not blame the berry jugglers for being worried about the future. Flour is precarious, barley is fluctuating, and oats are wild.

Even a bootlegger cannot tell what corn is going to do to the farmer or his customers.

Five hundred million dollars makes a neat, luxuriant haystack. But, if the farmer wants to be certain of relief he will trade his farm for a job on the commission.

We hope that one the first of next month they will be capering a Charleston around the May-pole hand-in-pocket with Andy Mellon.

Newton proved that the action of gravity would compel an apple to leave its sauce.

But nobody knows just what effect a revolving fund will have on a dollar. Will it fling the nutritious coin far and wide or will it clutch it to its axis with the miserly romance of centrifugal force?

FRISBY CONFERENCE BREAKS UP IN ROW

WASHINGTON — Congressman Frisby's national conference of chiropodists, which has been meeting here behind closed doors since Tuesday, came to an abrupt halt last night.

Although Frisby could not be reached, it was learned from disgruntled chiropodists that he had summoned them, at their own expense, to listen to a paper read by Mrs. Frisby concerning her trouble with corns.

Many delegates are leaving as rapidly as they can obtain train accomodations. Others are remaining to take the motorcycle side car trip through the capital.

To Your Friends in Other Cities

Few Shine Brilliantly As Our Legislature Dies

The 1929 session of our General Assembly has passed into —what shall we say? History? Memory? Oblivion? Or just into the past?

Anyway, it has gone the way of all human things, leaving a record, all too human, of much error and some praiseworthy accomplishment. Since we are all human, and prone to err and to be foolish, even with the best of intentions, we can forgive and shall forgive many things our legislators did or failed to do, but we cannot overlook those things that were motivated by sinister elements.

M. A. MUSMANNO

We believe that several members of our Allegheny County delegation made themselves especially conspicuous in actions showing that they were responsive to the wishes of their constituents. Those who got behind the Musmanno police bill and the 13 members, constituting a majority from the county, who voted against the four-cent gasoline tax, are especially deserving of credit.

Like a world baseball series, the 1929 session brought forth its outstanding character previously unknown. M. A. Musmanno, member of the House of Representatives, looms as a big figure in the affairs of the state and county as a result of his energetic service in behalf of the rights of the people. A new member, he rose to the top by trying to be useful from the beginning, instead of accepting the dictum that political little boys, as well as others, should sit back and do the listening. So he made himself both seen and heard, not obnoxiously, except, perhaps, to the bosses, but insistently, even to the point of calling on the Governor to urge the signing of the ... and iron police regulation measure that he sponsored and ... ght for, with victory, in ... hich, of course, he had assistance, as the reward.

FRANK J. HARRIS

With the record he has made, Representative Musmanno should go far in a political career, does he choose to follow it.

Frank J. Harris, one of our Senatorial delegation in the law-making body, also has a record of achievement. Senator Harris accomplished the principal thing he set out to do—give the people of the state the voting machine. In this he carried out a project set in motion by his brother, the late John P. Harris, whom he succeeded in office, the process representing a crusade for the amendment of the constitution, first, then the enabling legislation, just adopted, all requiring a period of several years, in which one Senator Harris or the other carried on. People who demand honest elections owe much to the Senators Harris.

SAMUEL S. LEWIS

In the state at large Samuel S. Lewis, state treasurer, also appears as a conspicuous champion of the people in a matter pertaining to legislation, namely, the four-cent gas tax. Mr. Lewis said the tax is unnecessary. More, he produced figures from his own office to prove that it is unnecessary. He delivered speeches stating that it is unnecessary. His militancy was a challenge to the steam-roller operators. It was so effective that the Senate wavered momentarily and said it would have Mr. Lewis, as well as the proponents of the four-cent tax, before it and find out what was what, in the face of such disagreement between the claims of the Highway Department and the figures of Mr. Lewis. That was just a passing spasm, however, and we will have the four-cent gas tax unless Gov. Fisher makes use of his veto power. Yes, Mr. Lewis becomes a big figure.

And so the 1929 Legislature moves into the limbo of the past.

Metro Group Backs Charter

Will Work for Its Adoption.

The Metropolitan Plan Commission will be commended by the public for its announcement that it will get behind the simplified Metropolitan charter and work for its adoption at the special election June 25, assuming that the charter will be signed by Gov. Fisher.

This is in line with the suggestion made some time ago by the Sun-Telegraph. It gives the charter campaign the force of a group that is familiar with the work that is necessary to put it before the people properly, an experience gained in a long ... ly of the district's needs and service in behalf of the Metrotan amendment.

This backing is certain to strengthen the confidence of the public in the charter.

Deserts Breed Sandstorms

Drawn by Nelson Harding

Nelson Harding's cartoon refers to what is called "Prohibition" in the United States.

Before prohibition came in, the country was making a fight for temperance. Drunkenness had diminished steadily since the days of Thomas Jefferson, who ADVOCATED LIGHT WINES AND BEER as remedies for whisky, which, as he said, killed half the people and ruined their families.

Prohibition, which was advertised to bring real temperance, has put the nation on a bootleg whisky and drug traffic basis.

No prohibitionist can deny that the crime wave, based on bootlegging and DIRECTLY DUE TO PROHIBITION is the most serious problem this nation has had to deal with since the war.

The sooner this nation goes back to temperance based on self control and wise, common sense legislation, the better.

Tales That Are Told

Playing for Safety

HE had the soul of a real dandy, but was afflicted with one of those faces the appearance and color of which clash with all but the most subdued fashions and shades. His hair, too, was of that violent red that overwhelms the brightest specimens of ties.

One afternoon he called at the house of a girl, and while waiting for her to appear was entertained in the drawing-room by her 8-year-old brother.

"Well," said the young man, smiling, "and what do you think of me, Horace?"

"Aren't you going to say?"

A Bad Egg

TRAVELERS in Australia were breakfasting at an inn in the backwoods, and there was exactly one egg apiece.

One old traveler reached for an egg, cracked it, held it to his nose, and, uttering an exclamation of disgust, put it back on the plate and calmly took another, leaving someone else to go without.

After most of the tourists had left to resume their journey, one member of the party returned to the inn to find the man who had discarded the egg eating it with enjoyment.

"You don't mean to say you're eating that bad egg?" he exclaimed.

"There's nothing the matter with it," was the cool reply. "Only nobody else seemed to fancy it. So you see I got two!"

Echo Answers

THE tourists climbed to the top of the famous Echoing Mountain. There they saw an old man sitting on a rock, a long telescope in his hands. Every few minutes he would let out a series of loud whoops.

The puzzled tourists looked and listened for some time. Then one of them asked, "Why do you keep looking through your telescope and then yelling as if you were hurt?"

The old man answered impatiently: "If you talk to me you'll distract my attention and I'll lose my job. I'm the echo for this 'ere 'ill!"

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

THE richest man in town had a daughter, but it happened that she was awful dumb. She couldn't get through high school because she thought two times two was too much and a verb was something to do with kissing. But she was pretty and cute, besides being the daughter of this rich guy, so everybody tried to give her a boost.

The postmaster finally decided to help out his friend and give her a job selling postage stamps out in the lobby. Well, the sale of stamps shot up the first day like the stock exchange when the Federal Reserve Board is taking a nap. But that night she resigned.

"What's the matter?" says the postmaster. "Ain't I nice to you? Ain't the work easy and genteel? Ain't the boys nice when they come to buy stamps?"

"Oh yes," she says. "Everything is perfectly lovely, only it's too much mental strain selling stamps. I can't never remember the prices."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

THEY took Bill to the hospital last night. Complete nervous breakdown. Bankrupt, too—his friends had to put up the price. Same old reason—booze.

Strange that a bright, decent fellow like Bill should deliberately wreck his life with booze. And all the laws in the country don't seem able to stop him.

Recently the U. S. Senate approved a resolution for an expenditure of $24,000,000 for one year for prohibition enforcement, this resolution being subsequently thrown out by the House.

Twenty-four millions of dollars to enforce prohibition—that's a pittance in comparison with what we have already spent, and the law isn't yet enforced.

WE'VE SPENT TEN FUTILE YEARS IN TRYING TO KEEP BOOZE FROM BILL—

BUT HOW ABOUT KEEPING BILL FROM BOOZE?

HOW ABOUT MAKING BILL HIS OWN LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICER?

There's an angle we haven't tried. Yet it hits at the very heart of the situation.

Americans have a peculiar psychology—a psychology which is molded by their environment and traditions. They grow cantankerous under pressure. You can PERSUADE them to do things, if you'll sell them the idea—but you can seldom force them to do anything.

CAN WE SELL THE IDEA OF TEMPERANCE TO AMERICA?

If so, how?

How is any idea or any commodity sold to America?

How was the idea of Halitosis sold to America?

Did you or I know anything about Halitosis when we were youngsters, partners? Were we awake to the awful danger that we might be four times a bridesmaid-but-never-a-bride unless we used antiseptics? I'll say we weren't. But show me the Hottentot who doesn't know it now.

From Cape Town to Kamchatka the horrors of Halitosis have been spread by dramatic word and picture that would carry conviction to the most reluctant. If you harbor Halitosis nowadays, you do it at your own peril.

Advertising—that's how the idea of Clean Breath was sold to America. That's how every worth while idea has been sold to America. By constant hammering through the public press, by making it a popular issue, a part of the accepted social code.

Ask Mr. Ford how to sell an idea to America. Ask the gentlemen who popularized Eastman's Kodak.

THEY KNEW HOW. I'LL WAGER THEY'D KNOW HOW TO PUT TEMPERANCE ACROSS. QUEEN MARIE'S AUTOGRAPHED WARNING AS TO THE EFFECTS OF DOLLAR GIN ON GIRLISH WAISTLINES WOULD DO MORE TO ELIMINATE FLAPPER DRINKING THAN A CONGRESSIONAL APPROPRIATION OF BILLIONS.

ADVERTISE TEMPERANCE. STOP MAKING IT A MORAL ISSUE. PUT IT UP TO THE AMERICAN PEOPLE AS A MATTER OF PERSONAL HYGIENE. PERSONAL ECONOMICS — PERSONAL PRIDE.

Sell the idea of temperance to the country as we sold the idea of the war, as we sold Liberty Bonds—by advertising—

Make Congressional appropriations for a form of education which will really mold public opinion rather than for enforcement which doesn't enforce.

MAKE TIPPLING AS BAD FORM AS HALITOSIS OR PIMPLES OR A VACATION TRIP WITHOUT A CAMERA—THROUGH THE SAME MEDIUM. THEN YOU'LL BE USING A METHOD WHICH THE AMERICAN PEOPLE UNDERSTAND, RESPECT AND WILL ACCEPT.

BITS OF SCIENCE

By Garrett P. Serviss

"Will you please explain the following:

"1. Why do skates glide on ice and not on other smooth surfaces such as glass or polished metals?

"2. Would a hollow metal ball with a specific gravity slightly heavier than water, sink to any depth in the ocean, or would it reach a point where the volume of air inside would prevent it from sinking deeper?

"3. After a submarine has submerged is it possible to adjust the volume of air inside the shell so that the ship would remain at rest without further adjustment?—C. A. MARTIN, Maywood, Ill.

1—Skates slide on ice not so much because the ice is smooth as because there is little adhesion between the two surfaces. The skate cuts into the ice and creates beneath its runner a sunken pathway filled with crumbled particles of ice, over which the runner glides, and between which and the smooth steel there is no attraction. Between the glass and the steel there is adhesion because the very state of smoothness serves to press the two surfaces into intimate contact, so that they "stick."

2. Inasmuch as there is a slight increase of density in water with increase of pressure, i. e. with increase of depth, it is possible to adjust the weight of a hollow ball to the weight of an equal bulk of water under a given degree of pressure, so that the two will be in equilibrium at a certain depth. But the increase of the density of water is so small that, ordinarily, a body whose specific gravity is sufficient to cause it to sink at the surface continues to sink until it reaches the bottom. This is true of ships sinking at seas. As soon as the water fills their interior spaces their specific gravity exceeds any that the water can attain even at depths of several miles, and they keep on sinking.

3. What has just been said shows that it is theoretically possible to adjust the weight of a submarine so that it may remain in equilibrium at a given depth, and specific gravity of the water in which it is immersed being known. The ratio between the space occupied by air and the "water ballast" determines the specific gravity of the boat as a whole. When it is submerged it is possible to increase or decrease the weight of the boat by letting more water into the tanks, or by "blowing" water out of them, but I believe that the adjustment cannot in practice be held with sufficient delicacy to keep the boat resting at a fixed level without the aid of its propellers. The practice is to ballast with water so that the boat is slightly lighter than the water is displaces, and then to keep it submerged by means of its horizontal rudders so tilted that the motion of the boat counteracts the tendency to rise. But these are technical details familiar only to the makers of submarines.

Bible Passages

God's Mercy

(Psalm 106; 1-12)

PRAISE ye the Lord. O give thanks unto the Lord; for he is good; for his mercy endureth forever.

Blessed are they that keep judgment, and he that doeth righteousness at all times.

Remember me, O Lord, with the favour that thou bearest unto thy people: O visit me with thy salvation;

That I may see the good of thy chosen, that I may rejoice in the gladness of thy nation, that I may glory with thine inheritance.

We have sinned with our fathers, we have committed iniquity, we have done wickedly.

Our fathers understood not thy wonders in Egypt; they remembered not the multitude of thy mercies; but provoked him at the sea, even at the Red sea.

He rebuked the Red sea also, and it was dried up: so he led them through the depths, as through the wilderness.

And he saved them from the hand of him that hated them, and redeemed them from the hand of the enemy.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Compact

LET us be true and leave each weak deceit
Outside the shining circle of our love,
Lest, like the snake in Eden's blest retreat,
It mar the paradise wherein we rove.
Love can forgive; with patience it can bear
The thoughtless deed, the cruel word or look;
It can be nourished on most meager fare,

Love can forget; its hopes so brave today
Can flourish where but yesterday hope died.
And falsity alone can steal away
The strength that casts all other bars aside.
Let us keep faith, for when that white flame dies
Love's self along with it in ashes lies!

Isn't It So?

Watchful Waiters

By Herbert Kaufman

LORD LEVERHULME, when still Sam Lever, the soap-maker, told the writer how he patched a big hole in his change pocket by observing the strange antics of a boatman in the river outside his factory at Port Sunlight.

Day after day the man would row about, skimming scum from the water, polluted by tankage from the plant.

Investigation disclosed that the poacher was collecting glycerine, which was being annually thrown away in thousand-ton quantities.

Those who continue blind to such leakages drop out of the procession. The correctors of inefficiency alone keep marching on.

In witness whereof, consider Lundy Foote, the Irish tobacco magnate, whose spanking pair and clanking harness never failed to gather crowds as he rolled through Dublin streets in a flashy brougham emblazoned with the slogan, "See what snuff done."

For several weeks after the catastrophe he moved about the ruins, broken in spirit and hope, until an increasing number of folk probing in the ashes fixed his attention.

Women and men were poking through the charred rubbish, replevining ruined stock and uttering whoops of joy when they located tins of scorched snuff.

Rousing himself from lethargy, he opened a container and took a sniff, only to find that the fiery ordeal had immeasurably improved the flavor of the stuff.

Driving the interlopers away, Foote rescued the remainder of his goods and, resuming business in a makeshift shack, proceeded to vaunt the superior quality of his "toasted" tobacco and was soon riding to affluence with a coachman and footman on the box.

There are always enough timbers in the worst wreck to raft back to success.

The Warner brothers had one shoulder on the mat and not even a week's payroll in the till when talking pictures tossed a lifeline and drew them to safety—and leadership.

They didn't quit because the odds were a hundred to one against them—any chance to survive is as good as another.

Frank Munsey was winnowing through arguments for another month's printing credit, when half-tone illustrations hove like a rescuing sail on the horizon of publishing and changed his magazine from a wallowing derelict to a cup winner.

Bankruptcy and failure trace back to neglected opportunity and half-played innings.

Your Belmonts and Whitneys and Billingses maintain stables and breed thoroughbreds because the game reflects their own spirit. It constantly confirms experience's conviction that a watchful waiter never looks for a favorable opening in vain—and the longest shot, if carefully maneuvered, can win through at the last minute.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, April 19.—Thoughts while strolling: Cafe sign: "Reducing soup." Two venerable sandwich men stop, pass a joke, cackle and drift on. Helen Menken's pallor. Straw blondes juggling flap cakes in sidewalk windows. The enormous flower shops on East Fifty-seventh street. Isabel Leighton, the playwright.

Efram Zimbalist and wife, Alma Gluck. And they'll likely be in Chicago when this is printed, so readers can twit me. Whatever became of that pudding sauce called dip? The blades with lacquered hair who hang out on Park avenue corners. Bill Steinke, the Uncle Bill of the radio. Once a cartoonist.

Robert H. Davis, a Brownsville, Neb., boy, who made good in the city. Dainty cruller and milk shops. Claire Luce's husband. Those exclusive shops that seem to agonize when a Child's opens next door. Sign of summer—a street harpist. Prussian-looking riding masters cantering to the park.

Dave's Blue Room—another rendezvous for "celebrities." Wonder why they used to cover bridges? Asthmatic Poms waddling along. Snooty piles of luggage in front of smart hotels. Irvin Cobb back from abroad with one of those wodeling shaped hats. Wouldn't it be terrible if the doughnut went modern?

The perky flappers in tams who feature a boutonniere of chrystal cherries. Julia Hoyt—so glacial she cools you off with a mere glance. Now that Mr. Whalen has carved a way to the box offices—try to get a seat. And use only one side of the paper for your answer.

Wish I could have a few gingersnaps out of a cool, brown crock! Haberdasher proprietors with big diamonds who stand in doorways. The ineffable sadness of midnight to dawn hunts in cold, gray daylight. Folk from Duluth, Topeka and Joliet who look no different from the average New Yorker. Just better mannered.

How's this for a simile? As welcome as cold chicken in the ice box after a testimonial dinner? No? All right, all right! The fashionable saddler's shop in West Forty-seventh street. The frame house with a whitewashed brick walk. And tufts of moss. Those drawing room English clerks in Dunhill's. It's on we Britons to carry on. Cheerio!

Hollywood's invasion of Broadway's legitimate stage, following the terrible fright by The Film That Talks Like a Man, created the clatter of a shower of feathers. Many screen stars have ha-ha'd the idea of $500 or $1,000 weekly wage in the legit when they were receiving their five-and-10 out yonder.

And no one could blame them. Art's art, but money is money, and get off my foot! But when the reels began to murmur out loud, screen artists realized with a jolt not only the need of stage experience, but giving their voices a chance.

So they came—the great and not so great. But not one clicked in the Great Big Way. The truth is the canyon has been clogged for several years with "names"—and when names glorified by scandal were exploited, the value of a name became scarcely more than a muted finger snap.

* * *

When Jack and Estelle Dempsey were landed for a prize fight play extravagant predictions were made for a long run and cleanup on tour. Dempsey is very popular. Miss Taylor has fine screen talent. But in a few weeks, the show gave up the ghost. Dorothy Gish seemed another sure fire legit bet with her husband, James Rennie, a stage idol, but flopped.

There was Miss Peggy Joyce, the most publicized gal in the world. Even had she no talent, curiosity would bring them, so it was believed. Strangely enough, doubting critics were surprised at her stage ability, but the show folded in short order.

"Peaches" Browning, a tabloid teaser, was engaged for a leading spot in a melodrama that was doing $7,000 a week in hope of ballooning the box office intake. At the end of her first week the receipts were off one thousand lovely berries.

* * *

Owen Moore and Alice Joyce did fairly well in a dramatice piece on the coast and were headed for Broadway, but the producer, fearing the fate of others, abandoned the idea. Bert Lytell did best of all, but that was only so-so. Charles Ray had a disastrous turn. Jack Pickford, reported looking for a stage job, went back over the long trail without it. And did the boys and girls squawk? O, listen to the banned!

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

HOW about it old man, do you insist that your wife have the meals on time and that she be at home when you are there?

Is this a fair arrangement?

At times the accusing fact comes to you that you are not doing right.

You think it is her duty, her job, to be on time not only with your meals but ready to spend the evening with you at home at any time you decide to stay at home.

That she might have other plans you won't even consider.

How would you like it if, after dinner, your wife should announce to you that she was going out, and then to do so without further explanation?

But you have done this scores of times.

Has your wife as many rights as you demand?

Isn't she entitled to as many privileges as you insist upon?
